Fair opens for 2 moms, 3 children, 45,000 others

PB Staff Writer

Cathy Frame was exhausted.

She had spent nearly four hours Friday dragging her two children, aged 4 and 1, around the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds in Pomona.

It was opening day of the 48th edition of the fair, Mrs. Frame of Eagle Rock was just one of many mothers trying hard to entertain their children — and remain sane at the same time.

It wasn't easy. Forty-five thousand persons had shown up for the opening day which was filled with activity. Officials estimate 100,000 will be on hand today.

Mrs. Frame's four-year-old daughter, Missy, had been asking for a ride on the ferris wheel since she arrived. "It was the first thing she saw," sighed her mother.

"Older people are more afraid of ferris wheels than younger ones," she explained. "I'm not too crazy about that wheel."

Of course, Missy wouldn't take the ride by herself. She wanted her mother to join her. "Maybe we'll do it before we leave," Mrs. Frame promised, with a look of fear in her eyes.

A reporter was told not to mention the ferris wheel too loudly, or Missy might recall her day-long plea.

But she was afraid he might wake up. "He'd better sleep for a while, because he skipped his morning nap."

The Frames and Thomans were just two families enjoying the fair's first day, complete with a giant afternoon parade, numerous exhibits, contests, demonstrations and the free rodeo in the grandstand.

The crowd seemed light in mid-afternoon, but picked up by evening, with the return of the rodeo after a year's absence.

With the temperature at a comfortable 75 degrees during the day, tempers were not as short as they might have been, said one Pomona police officer.

"Usually it's hot during the fair," Officer Walt Barkley noted. "But it's cool weather, and the people have been fantastic. And that's unusual."

Barkley said he had not heard of any incidents of vandalism or other activities yet. "But remember, it's just opening day."

For today's program, two parades at 1 and 2 p.m. will feature the South Gate Youth Band and Anaheim Warriors, and the Wilson High band of Hacienda Heights.

Fair Queen Beth Redinius and her court will be presented in the Grandstand at 3 p.m. and Chinese Dragons and Lion Dancers will perform at 6:30 in the clock tower area.

The horse racing program continues at 1 p.m. in the Grandstand and the free rodeo is scheduled for 8 p.m. Continuous free entertainment is offered in the Amphitheatre, Mexican Village, and Plaza Of the States.

Today is Special Recognition Day for Pomona's Centennial, City of Ontario and Ontario Motor Speedway.

Ford acts to keep U.S. secrets from House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forcing a possible constitutional confrontation, President Ford cut off House Intelligence Committee access to U.S. secrets Friday because of its disclosure of four classified words. He asked the committee to return all secret documents in its possession.

A committee source said the four words show that U.S. intelligence agencies knew that Egyptian communications security was tightened just before the 1973 Middle East war.

Asked if the words "and greater communication security" was the phrase that U.S. intelligence authorities did not want made public, the source said, "I can't tell you you're wrong. You won't be embarrassed by saying that."

The disputed words are in five sentences the committee released Thursday from U.S. intelligence reports showing that right up to the day the 1973 Arab-Israeli war broke out, U.S. intelligence agencies indicated there would be no war.

In one, the Defense Intelligence Agency said the day the war broke out Oct. 6, 1973, there were no indications that Egypt intended to or was prepared to fight Israel.

The DIA summary said, "Mobilization of some personnel, increased readiness of isolated units, and greater communication security are all assessed as parts of the (military) exercise routine."

DALLAS (AP) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller said Friday one of the big troubles with America is a heritage that leads it to go overboard in helping the needy.

"One of the problems in this country is that we have this Judeo-Christian heritage of wanting to help those in need," Rockefeller said.

"And this, when added to some political instincts, sometimes causes people to promise more than they can deliver.

"And I think this nation has overpromised, under-delivered, overspent, and now we are in financial trouble," Rockefeller said.

"To the degree that I was a party to it," the vice president added, "all I can say is that one learns, the hard way, and that now we see what has happened and that the federal government has a deficit of $60 billion, maybe $70 billion coming up.

"This can't go on," he said.

Rockefeller made the statement twice, first in a speech to the National Federation of Republican Women and later in a television interview taped for four Dallas stations.

It came in a busy day of political activity in which Rockefeller kept saying he was not a candidate for the GOP vice-presidential nomination next year but refused to say he would drop off the ticket voluntarily.

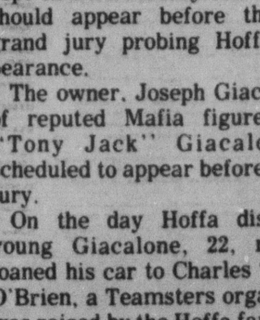
Rockefeller's theme was the same that he and President Ford have followed in a recent flurry of activity which the GOP agrees is political but which the White House insists is not campaigning for 1976.

The vice president said the Ford Administration wants to solve the unemployment crisis, provide financial security for worried Americans, but block Democratic remedies which could crush free society.

"The President knows the American people rightfully want job opportunities, not welfare," Rockefeller said to applause from the Republican women.

Rockefeller said if the present rate of government spending on domestic social programs continues the federal government will eat up 55 per cent of the gross national product in the next 25 years.

"Clearly, this country cannot survive as a free society with over half its gross national product absorbed by the government," he said.



Late night and morning low clouds and local fog with hazy sunshine in the afternoon today and Sunday. Slightly warmer days. Lows of 52 to 58 this weekend; highs between 80 and 86. Sunset today, 7:01 p.m. Sunrise Sunday, 6:33 a.m.; sunset Sunday, 6:59 p.m.

Car linked to Hoffa to stay in custody

DETROIT (AP) — A car belonging to the son of a reputed Mafia figure which the FBI believes may have been used in an abduction of former Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa will remain in the custody of the government, a judge ruled Friday.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas P. Thornton said the car where trained dogs detected Hoffa's scent in the back seat and trunk should be kept in FBI custody and the owner should appear before the federal grand jury probing Hoffa's disappearance.

On the day Hoffa disappeared, young Giacalone, 22, reportedly loaned his car to Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, a Teamsters organizer who was raised by the Hoffa family and is regarded by Hoffa's son, James P., as a prime suspect in his father's disappearance.

O'Brien told the FBI he used the car July 30 to deliver a salmon to the home of a Teamsters official, Robert Holmes.

The Holmes residence is a five-to 10-minute drive from the Machus Red Fox Restaurant in Bloomfield Township where Hoffa was last seen standing outside appearing as though he was waiting for someone.

The ex-Teamsters boss told his family before he went to the restaurant he was on his way to meet with the elder Giacalone, but the reputed mob figure denied any such meeting was supposed to take place.

Last week, U.S. District Court Judge Robert DeMascio ordered that the car, seized Aug. 9, be returned to Giacalone because an FBI affidavit used to obtain a search and seizure warrant failed to show probable cause that the auto was involved in the Hoffa disappearance.

The U.S. Attorney's office issued a grand jury subpoena for the car Monday and Thornton said in his decision that the subpoena does not have to meet the "probable cause" test.

President delivers talk despite incident, two threats of bombs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A man with a .45-caliber pistol was spotted by a policeman on a catwalk in Kiel Auditorium an hour before President Ford was to speak there. The man escaped despite an extensive police search and the President delivered his speech on time and without incident.

Ford was either en route to a television station some 10 blocks away or already at the station. Police had conflicting reports.

The police command post earlier had said the gunman was spotted in a nearby street and a search of the parking garage was launched. However, a spokesman said the search was due to a separate report of a man on the roof of the parking garage.

Police found an elderly parking lot attendant who said he had seen no one else.

There also were two bomb threats, each telephoned by a woman, and the bomb squad removed a box, about the size of a shoe box, from the auditorium, police said. Officers said it contained no explosives.

The potential threats to the President's safety came only a week after a young woman in Sacramento, Calif., pointed a .45-caliber automatic at Ford.

The incident apparently caused Ford to wear a protective vest Thursday when he campaigned through New Hampshire. The President would not confirm he was wearing such a garment.

Calcaterra said he saw the armed man about 30 feet from the end of the catwalk. He described the man as about six feet tall, weighing 170 pounds and wearing a black wig, white shirt and dark pants.

"I yelled 'Hey, what are you doing there?'" the officer said and the man turned and fled through a door. Calcaterra said he ran after the man, but lost him in the labyrinth of passageways in the auditorium and adjoining structures.

Ford left his car when it arrived at Kiel and went directly inside without pausing to shake hands or speak with the crowd. The entrance had been cleared of all spectators and newsmen.

The crowd in the auditorium was not told about either the gunman or the bomb threats.

Kiel Auditorium switchboard operator Anne Mossbacher said she received the first threat at 1:50 p.m. from a woman who said she had planted a bomb in the building that would explode in 10 minutes.

A SWEET VIEW OF THE PARADE

1,300 women stage prayerful antibusing protest in Boston

By The Associated Press

Hundreds of women staged antibusing marches in Boston on Friday — contrasting with a quiet school integration scene in Louisville, Ky. — as the first full week of busing in both areas ended.

Mothers' organizations in South Boston, Charlestown, Hyde Park and the North End staged prayer marches, reciting the Rosary and praying before statues at churches and on front lawns along their routes.

Patrick Brady, a Boston police department spokesman, estimated that 1,300 to 1,400 women pushed baby carriages or carried infants in peaceful protests.

President Ford, in an interview in St. Louis, urged Bostonians to obey the law but repeated his opposition to busing.

Meanwhile, most remaining restrictions on antibusing protests in Louisville-Jefferson County were lifted and 100 of the 400 state police called in to help stem disturbances last weekend were sent home.

Large demonstrations were allowed, but there still were restrictions on gatherings along busing routes. The Kentucky National Guard remained on duty and school buses still still carried armed escorts.

About 700 South Boston women, led by City Councilor Louise Day Hicks holding silver Rosary beads, recited prayers and carried American and Irish flags as they marched to a Roman Catholic church near South Boston High School.

"We have pleaded our case on every level of the government and the courts," said Mrs. Hicks, a staunch busing opponent. "Now we have gone to a much higher court."

In Hyde Park, about 300 women wearing armbands with "U.S. Mothers" printed on them walked to another church. A dozen men with armbands reading "U.S. Marshals" were stationed near Hyde Park High School.

About 250 to 300 protesters in Charlestown marched to St. John's Church singing hymns and chanting the Lord's Prayer.

American flags were carried by many of the 75 to 100 North End women who blocked traffic for about 10 minutes while praying for peace.

Nixon's legal expense near $500,000 mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon's legal expenses have neared the half million dollar mark in his fight for possession of his presidential papers and tapes.

Rabbi Baruch Korff, Nixon's chief fund raiser, gave a $23,000 check to one of the former President's lawyers Friday and said that brought the total payments to $250,000.

"I had hoped at one time that the total bill wouldn't exceed $500,000," Korff said. But, he added, he feels sure the court fights still ahead will cause the figure to go higher.

The firm of Miller Cassidy, Larroca and Lewin, which represents Nixon in the complex constitutional challenge, billed the former president $64,841.25 for the months of July and August. The firm's statement showed there was a balance of $238,448.30 after the $23,000 payment.

Korff is head of the Nixon Justice Fund. He returned to the volunteer post at Nixon's request, after announcing a few months ago he was resigning.

'More than just milking cows'

House committee probes all sides of dairy issue

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

There is much more to running a dairy than just milking cows. Dairymen must also watch the price of grain and hay, importing of dairy products, and the cost of transporting grain to the West Coast.

These were some of the problems discussed Friday when a House of Representatives dairy subcommittee held a public hearing at the Ontario City Hall.

The committee continues the hearing today in Fresno where more testimony will be received from those associated with the dairy industry.

Receiving testimony Friday were Rep. James Jeffords, R-Vt., Rep. Jim Lloyd, D-35th Dist., and Rep. George Brown, D-36th Dist. The members reported they were going to various dairy communities to get a better perspective of the dairy industry and its problems.

Information received will be used when specific legislation is being proposed, they added.

Consumer interest was represented at the session by Arline Matthews, chairman of American Consumers Together and founder of a recent meat boycott.

She criticized both the dairy and poultry industries for "dumping" products to keep up the prices. "When they dump and destroy food, we do not have an excess supply. We have hungry people. It should not only be immoral but also illegal to dump products when people are hungry," she said.

Mrs. Matthews also attacked the minimum pricing law for dairy products by recalling that a market manager couldn't sell butter at a reduced price without facing a fine for each pound purchased.

"It appears we have price fixing in this particular industry. We have made this legal."

Jay Goold, executive vice president of the California Milk Producers, focused on the milk producers problems when he testified that many dairymen are now struggling for survival.

As one reason for this, he noted that within the past few days, dairymen have received notices from grain companies that the price of grain is increasing again this week by $10 to $15 a ton.

He also reported that California is a grain deficit state and depends on imports from other areas to meet livestock demands. "Being a deficit state, we find ourselves with a transportation rate problem.

"We believe many of the old standby methods of freight rate setting must be reviewed and that California livestock and dairy producers must receive more equitable treatment under the freight rate setting mechanism."

Goold also urged that "outdated" estate tax laws be revised to ease the transfer of the business enterprise within the family.

"We see maintenance of family dairying as the most important single factor which will help contribute to the viability of the industry," he added.

Roy Camblin, San Bernardino County's agriculture commissioner, said the county's dairy industry leads the nation in gross milk production with 1974 income reaching $151 million.

The average size dairy here has 400 milk cows and $485,000 valuation,he said.

Camblin said his office urged that the dairy industry be nurtured and encouraged as food and open space are increasing important factors in California and the United States.

He also noted this broad tax-base industry with its small demand for services is an important fiscal factor for all the citizens. "Suburbs do not pay their way. Industry must be counted upon to make up the deficits."

John D. Aalberts, president of the Pacific Dairymen, Inc., reported dairy farmers have been hit hard during the past several years by inflation that has plagued all segments of the economy. And he reported government actions have made dairy farmers' efforts to cope with this inflation difficult or impossible.

He cited the importing of dairy products as one major problem area. Aalberts said his association did not share the view of relying on foreign production of basic manufactured dairy products as this would create uncertain fluid milk supplies caused by depressed prices for the necessary reserve milk.

"It would no doubt spell economic doom to many dairy farmers and in the long run, higher prices to the consumers for manufactured dairy products.

"The need to convert this necessary reserve milk into manufactured dairy products is causing our dairy farmer members deep concern about future trade talks and the possibility of a trade-off of a major segment of the American market for dairy products in exchange for some hoped-for advantage for other American commodities."

Aalberts also urged that any new farm legislation contain features of House Resolution 4296 which calls for a minimum dairy price support of 80 per cent of parity, together with the quarterly adjustment of the price support level to reflect the rapid changes in the cost of production faced by dairy farmers.

The plight of a local dairyman was told by Mike Dolan, owner of the Driftwood Dairy. He recalled consolidating four dairies into one to provide a more efficient operation.

But then he was later hit by increased grain prices, which required him to borrow money.

"In May of 1974, we felt we would survive. Then in January, the grain increased $25,000 a month, price of beef dipped $20,000 a month, and the bank increased its rate of interest."

Dolan said he later leased out his milk production operation but has remained in the distribution business. He still owns the dairy and purchases milk from that operation.

He also reported the cost of shipping grain by rail from the East to Ontario is higher than if transported to coastal ports for overseas shipment.

Cal Poly man regains post in court suit

Bert Hammond, former director of Cal Poly's Urban Affairs Center, has won a court suit against the university and has been re-instated as a faculty member with full professor status.

The suit, settled in Pomona Superior Court this past week, ended part of the controversy surrounding Hammond's termination as UAC director and the question of his tenure and professor status.

In a response filed by the state attorney general's office on behalf of President Robert Kramer of Cal Poly, the university admitted Hammond is an academic employe, had full professor status effective Sept. 14, 1970, and was entitled to tenure status as a full professor for more than three years.

Hammond, a Claremont resident, has been assigned to a position in the counseling department. He said his attorneys would continue legal action against the university for reassignment to a teaching position preferably in the behavioral sciences department.

Controversy over the Urban Affairs Center and its director surfaced in early 1975 when the Affirmative Action Ad Hoc Committee presented a report to the college supporting retention of both. The committee, a group of students and community representatives organized in August 1974 to investigate harassment of minority faculty and administrators, presented information and documents as evidence that Hammond had fulfilled the conditions and qualifications of his job.

When college administrators re-affirmed the elimination of the UAC and the firing of its director, students and citizens in the valley organized to overturn the decision through community pressure.

Although the ad hoc committee pointed out that Hammond was hired in a job description and salary rank of full professor and should therefore be re-assigned to a teaching position, university representatives remained adamant.

After numerous continuances, the matter has been settled legally and Hammond is now on campus as an employe.

"I accepted the counseling position with the understanding that I will take legal action seeking a teaching position," said Hammond. "I will not change my status. I am a full professor at the university. That's what I applied for and that's what I expect to get."

Hammond pointed out that he had not raised the issue of prejudice in the original suit. However, in the continued legal action, "I am raising it because now it is obvious. I want to continue my academic research and teaching. Black and white students should be exposed to me as a full professor, not merely as someone whose office you walk into and say I have a problem."

SLAIN AT PRISON — The body of Tennessee State Prison inmate, identified as Anthony Satterfield, 25, is carried from the cell block where he was found with his throat slashed. Satterfield, who was serving a 20-year sentence for armed robbery, was found at noon Friday. Ten inmates were apparently shot by guards and 26 other persons were hurt during a riot at the prison located in Nashville. The riot was sparked by the substitution of bologna for pork chops on the prison menu.

Murder trial recess called

Prosecution and defense attorneys recessed for the weekend Friday in the midst of their jury selection for the murder trial of Samuel Lorie Guardalibene, 60, of Upland, accused of taking part in the slaying of a 27-year-old Ontario man in September 1974.

Guardalibene, arrested by Ontario police last January, is accused of killing 27-year-old Joseph Allen Gomez of Ontario whose body was found off of Patton Road in Riverside County in early January.

Gomez's body lay in a shallow grave for nearly three months until another man, subsequently convicted of second degree murder in the case, led officers to the scene. Gomez had been shot in the head in late September. Police believe that he was killed in the Ontario city dump site and his body then moved over the county line by the suspects.

In the case, police originally arrested Guardalibene, Thomas Bradley Telford Sr., Ronald Lawrence Marshall, and two women. Only the three men were held for trial with one of the women, Mary Ramirez Pacheco, 26, becoming a prosecution witness.

Telford was convicted of second degree murder by a West Valley Superior Court jury in June. In the Telford trial, police introduced statements by Telford admitting he had pulled the trigger of a .22 rifle that killed Gomez. But, in the trial, Telford told officers that he was forced to kill Gomez by Guardalibene.

Chappaquiddick police records vanish again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The original police records on the Chappaquiddick incident involving Sen. Edward M. Kennedy reportedly have vanished for the second time from the Edgartown, Mass., police department files.

Two former chiefs of the police force on Martha's Vineyard say the documents were returned to the department last April, and one of them says they were still there when he left in June.

The disappearance of the documents was reported by Carl Gottlieb, a Hollywood script writer, in a recently-published book about the filming of the shark epic movie, "Jaws," at Martha's Vineyard in the summer of 1974.

Gottlieb said he was told by Jesse Oliver III, then the Edgartown police chief, that the papers had unaccountably vanished from the files.

Reportedly included were the original police report and a copy of Kennedy's first formal statement about the July 18, 1969 mishap in which a car, which Kennedy says he was driving, plunged off a bridge and killed a 28-year-old woman passenger, Mary Jo Kopechne.

In Essex Junction, Vt., Police Chief Dominick J. Arena said he had taken some of the records when he quit as head of the Edgartown police department in 1973. Arena said he wanted them to help him answer questions from newsmen and others about Chappaquiddick.

He admitted being "red-faced" upon discovering that he had taken documents without leaving copies behind. But last April, Arena says, he made copies for himself and sent all the originals back.

Oliver backed Arena's claim, saying he had received the papers in April and restored them to the police department files. They were still there when he was suspended from the chief's post in June in an unrelated dispute with city officials, Oliver said in a telephone interview.

Aso to what might have caused the records to vanish a second time or why present department officials can't find them, Oliver said, "I have no idea. That's their problem."

Picketing firemen halt trucks

BERKELEY (AP) — Picketing firemen turned back Teamster trucks from city entrances Friday in hopes of forcing a break in their 17-day-old strike.

"We're tring to shut down the city by halting deliveries of supplies of all kinds," said Lt. Jack Rinne, president of Fire Fighters Association Local 1247. "Maybe if we get the businessmen mad enough, they'll put pressure on the city to bargain with us in good faith."

City manager John Taylor said his office was receiving calls from local businesses upset by trucks not coming through. He said observers from his office noted that firemen at some access roads to Berkeley had little effect on Teamster drivers, while pickets at other spots aggressively flagged down the trucks and convinced them to turn around.

Taylor said a special city council meeting had been called for 1 p.m. Saturday to discuss the escalation of the strike by the Berkeley Fire Fighters Association Local 1127.

"I think they're trying to shut down the city, but I don't think they could be terribly effective," Taylor said.

2 sought in slaying of woman

SAN BERNARDINO (AP) — Deputies said they were searching campgrounds today for a young couple that disappeared after the strangulation of a 79-year-old Devore widow who had given them shelter.

Fred Wilson, 22, of San Bernardino, and Larrie Carter, 19, address unknown, were named Thursday in a murder warrant in the death of Anna Gertrude Mills last Aug. 27.

Mrs. Mills was found with rope burns on her neck inside her car on a lonely stretch of road near her home. She owned a 47-acre ranch in the Devore area and had frequently given shelter to transients, deputies said.

The couple, who met the woman while hitchhiking, had lived with Mrs. Mills about a week before they reported her missing. Wilson and Miss Carter disappeared before the body was found two days after the report, a spokesman said.

An undetermined amount of cash and a .410 gauge shotgun was reported missing. The shotgun has been recovered, deputies said, but they said forged checks have since been cashed against the Mills account.

Robbery complaint against two sought

Claremont police today planned to seek a local robbery complaint against two young valley men being held in Oceanside in connection with an attempt to shoot an Oceanside police sergeant.

The two are Richard Thomas Budd, 18, 9367 Pradera Ave., Montclair, and 20-year-old Danny Senn, a former Claremont resident now living at the Pradera Avenue address. Also being held in connection with the Oceanside incident was Senn's brother, Robin Senn, 22.

Claremont police named Budd and Danny Senn as suspects in the robbery early Sunday of the Straw Hat Pizza Parlor at 1065 W. Foothill Blvd.

In connection with that case, Claremont Detective Gus Kitterle has asked the public's aid in locating a heavy, Army overcoat and a pair of sunglasses believed to have been tossed from the car used by the robbers as they drove west in Foothill Boulevard after the holdup. A police search for the items failed to find them.

In Oceanside, Lt. Robert Key said Budd fired a blast from a shotgun at Sgt. Gregory Fried after Fried stopped to investigate at a car wash early Tuesday. The blast missed Fried and hit a steel stanchion. Budd gave up when Fried fired back, Key said. The Senns, who had driven away, were stopped nearby by other officers.

Lounge, site for retarded on Upland council agenda Monday

Four public hearings which could attract opposition from residents are scheduled at the meeting of the Upland City Council Monday at 7 p.m. in the Upland City Hall.

Madelyn Hayes has requested a conditional use permit to establish a guest home for the mentally retarded in a C4 zone (highway commercial) at 965 N. Second Ave., Upland, which is south of Foothill Boulevard on the west side of Second Avenue.

Also to be heard is a request by Crowell-Leventhal for a permit to establish a restaurant and cocktail lounge in a C-4 zone located at the northeast corner of Mountain Avenue and Arrow Highway. The establishment would be called the Magnolia Peach Restaurant.

Lesney Development Co.'s request for a zone change on 10 acres of land at the southeast corner of 14th Street and Mountain Avenue will also be heard at the council meeting. The developer wants the zoning changed from A1 (crops) to R1-C (single family homes).

Among other business to be considered at the council meeting is a request by Hopkins Development Co. for creation of a median break and left turn lane on Mountain Avenue north of 16th Street to permit access by northbound traffic to Mountain Plaza Shopping Center to be located at the northwest corner of Mountain Avenue and 16th Street.

Two tentative tract maps will also be considered.

Crowell/Leventhal's proposed development of 62 lots on the east side of Mountain Avenue between 18th and 19th Streets in a residential zone has been approved by the Planning Commission.

Also approved by the commission and submitted to the council for its consideration is a tentative tract for 62 lots on the eastside of Wilson Avenue north of Shannon Street to be developed by Mark III Homes.

BANNER PRESENTED

Pomona tot strangled by chair strap

The victim, John E. Casas, 1545 E. Kingsley Ave., failed to respond to resuscitation efforts at the hospital and was pronounced dead shortly before 11:30.

Pomona police reported that the child had been left unattended in the high chair, strapped in around his waist. He was found a few minutes later by his mother, Mrs. Steven R. Casas, slumped unconscious in the chair with the strap caught beneath his chin. San Bernardino County Pathologist Dr. Ronald Rivers' autopsy revealed that the victim died of asphyxia as the result of being strangled by the strap, Deputy Coroner Harvey Castro said Friday.

O-M district seeking 5-10 choral directors

The Ontario-Montclair School District is looking for five to 10 choral directors to work in the elementary schools.

District Music Consultant Carl Schafer said the qualifications for the directors are ability to sight read on piano, sight sing and to accompany on the piano. He said that the choral assistants would be hired from people in the community. College music students, private music teachers, and church choir directors are suitable candidates.

The choral assistants will not be hired on a salary or hourly basis, but will be "contracted to perform a service," Schafer said. The teachers will conduct the elementary students in a minimum of 12 rehearsals and one performance. They will not be confined to one school but may serve several of the district's 22 elementary schools.

Schafer said that the choral assistants are hired because "we don't have enough music teachers to cover the whole district. We have only 13 full-time music teachers, and that is not enough for over 15,000 students. These choral assistants will help us reach most of our elementary students before they enter junior high, where they receive more intensive training."

Trial over nurse-killing will start

The defendant is Gregory Thomas, 2125 Heather Way, who also is charged with rape and burglary in the slaying of Miss Tessie Fern Williams in her small home at 645½ N. Huntington Blvd.

The trial, in the court of recently-assigned Pomona Superior Court Judge Robert M. Takasugi, is expected to last between two and three weeks. The prosecutor is Deputy Dist. Atty. Robert F. Kuhnert. Pomona attorney Joe Borgess Jr. represents Thomas.

Kuhnert said that he will seek the death penalty against Thomas and has alleged the so-called "special circumstances" now required in a capital case.

Thomas was sentenced to one year in the county jail last June on a burglary conviction not related to the murder case.

New restaurant opens in Pomona

The Acapulco, a new Mexican food restaurant, will celebrate its grand opening in Pomona today.

Nick Montoya, director of operations, announced that the restaurant, located at 510 E. Foothill Blvd., will operate seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. and until midnight on Fridays and Saturdays.

Ray Marshall, owner and executive chef of Acapulco, said a portion of the restaurant's proceeds on Sunday will be donated to the Ontario-Pomona Association for Retarded Persons in Montclair.

Marshall was recently honored by the Los Angeles Restaurant Writers' Association as "Chef of the Year, 1975." The same organization named the restaurant's crab meat enchilada as "Specialty Dish of the Year" in 1974.

The Pomona restaurant is the fifth in the Acapulco chain. Others are located in Arcadia, Pasadena, Redondo Beach and Sun Valley.

The menu features a wide variety of beef, cheese, chicken, pork and chorizo dishes, and a number of specialty dishes including carnitas, machaca, ceviche, chile verde and pork, chicken and steak picado.

Seven different sauces, each explained on the menu, may be selected, said Lou Torres, manager of the new restaurant.

The new restaurant is located in the building formerly housing the Heritage House Restaurant, although more than $100,000 in remodeling has been completed for the opening of the Acapulco.

L.V. man sentenced to prison for kidnap-rape

A La Verne man has been sentenced to state prison as the result of his conviction in Pomona Superior Court last June on charges of kidnaping and raping a Northern California coed.

John Harold Nelson, 36, 1139 E. Gladstone Ave., was sentenced by Pomona Superior Court Commissioner Jess Whitehill. Nelson faces a prison term of from three to 50 years.

Nelson, a truck driver, was ruled guilty by a jury which pondered the verdict less than one day. The trial lasted five days.

The victim, who attends Cal State Stanislaus at Turlock, testified that Nelson picked her up near Manteca Sept. 1 of last year along Highway 99 after her car had a flat. She said he imprisoned her in his truck all the way to Glendora and raped her before letting her out near Glendora Community Hospital.

Nelson recently underwent a 90-period of pre-sentencing psychiatric and physical examination at the California Institution for Men at Chino. The recommendation to Commissioner Whitehill was that Nelson be sent to prison, authorities said.

He'll knock on doors

Congress hopeful will skip donations, publicity

Nelson Gentry plans to carry his campaign for the U.S. House of Representatives to the people — literally.

Between now and the June primary, the Montclair city councilman — who will run as a Republican — plans to knock on 20,000 doors within the 35th Congressional District.

He also plans to pay his entire campaign expenses, accepting no donations. And he will not publicize his candidacy in newspapers, billboards or radio.

Gentry said his campaign staff will consist of himself and his wife, Lawana. And his campaign office will be located in his Montclair law office.

He will begin his person-to-person campaign Saturday when he calls on residents in Montclair. The candidate expects to contact 150 families on weekends and from 75 to 100 on weekdays.

Gentry will hand out a brief biography of himself and then ask residents how government can be improved. "I am just going to the people and answer questions and learn how I can make this job better if I win the election."

His campaign issues will include providing a tax incentive to mothers with children under 5 for not working, thus removing them from the job market; suggesting a 32-hour work week for some professions, which could provide 15 per cent more jobs and thus have an effect on welfare; and alerting victims of crimes that parents of juvenile offenders are liable up to $4,000 for damages.

On the latter issue, Gentry said if more victims know about the law, parents may become more concerned with what their children are doing.

Gentry received his law degree from the University of Oklahoma in 1969. He is a member of the Pomona First Baptist Church, Oklahoma and California bar associations, Kiwanis Club, Teamsters Union and U.S. Army Reserves. He and his wife have a son, Matthew, 4.

Ricky Bell ignites USC's 35-7 win

AROUND TURN The horses in the sixth race go around the first turn on the opening day of the 14-day meet at the Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona. Knight's Cross won the sixth race.

Rushing mark falls

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ricky Bell, converted from fullback to tailback, smashed the Southern Cal single game rushing record Friday night, totaling 256 yards and leading the Trojans to an easy 35-7 victory over Duke in the college football season opener for both teams.

The explosive Bell, a 215-pound junior, had 141 yards by halftime and both Southern Cal scores as the Trojans assumed a 13-0 lead. Bell scored on runs of eight and six yards.

Bell added two more touchdowns in the second half as he surpassed the single game record of 251 yards set back in 1956 by C. R. Roberts in a 44-20 victory over Texas, four years before John McKay became head coach at the school.

The 6-foot-2 Bell, who was a linebacker as a freshman and a fullback behind Dave Farmer last year, ignited the Trojans immediately after halftime.

He gained three yards on a sweep to start the series, Farmer added 20 up the middle and then Bell tacked on 21 more after taking a pitch from quarterback Vince Evans.

Five plays later Bell capped the 61-yard drive with a one-yard smash and Glenn Walker's extra point kick made the score 20-0.

The Blue Devils were befuddled by USC's young but quick defense and midway through the first quarter replaced starting quarterback Hal Spears with Bob Corbett, who moved the club.

Corbett's pitchout to tailback Art Gore late in the third quarter led to Gore's 6-yard touchdown run and Duke's only tally.

Bell had 170 yards after three quarters and with the Trojans leading just 20-7 he went back into the game and picked up 51 more yards, the last one coming on a dive at the goal line for his fourth touchdown.

Nearing the record Bell returned to the lineup for one series after Mosi Tatupu had boosted the Trojans lead to 35-7 with a 16-yard run.

He gained 13 yards on a sweep, 10 more up the middle, six more offf left tackle and six more up the middle and left the field to a standing ovation of the 56,727 fans in Memorial Coliseum.

Bell excited the crowd on the Trojans's first series when he ran for seven and 11 yards on USC's first two plays. After Dave Farmer gained three Bell tacked on another four.

Duke's defense' aided by two penalties against Southern Cal, held the Trojans in check on USC's first two series but the Trojans' young defense likewise held the Blue Devils deep in their own territory.

Midway through the first period Glen Walker's 45-yard punt kept the visitors pinned inside their 10 but three plays later punter and defensive back Bob Grupp retaliated with a 46-yard punt to pull Duke out of the hole.

Starting at their own 49 yard line the Trojans began their first march to a score and Bell's smashes plus a 15-yard personal foul against Duke brought USC it's first points of the 1975 season.

Bell ran eight yards for the touchdown.

Duke was unable to complete a pass or gain a first down with senior quarterback Hal Spears and elected at that point to go with Bob Corbett.

The senior signal caller immediately ignited Duke with two completions, both to split end Troy Slade. Duke reached the USC 38 before reserve tailback Larry Martinez fumbled a Corbett pitchout and likebacker Dave Lewis recovered for Southern Cal.

Eleven plays later Bell scored his second touchdown behind a crunching block by fullback Mosi Tatupu.

The Trojans dominated the rest of the half and Grupp's interception of a Vince Evans pass with 15 second to play prevented USC from adding to its margin.

Bell would up his first half at tailback with 141 yards rushing on 21 carries and USC had 220 yards in total offense to 98 for Duke.

Braves talk to Lasorda

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Atlanta Braves of the National League asked the Los Angeles Dodgers for permission Friday to talk with third base coach Tom Lasorda in connection with the Atlanta managing job.

Three-year-old Albert H.B. gave jockey Bobby Howard and trainer Ted West their second victories in Pomona's opening day Foothill Stakes Friday with a record-setting triumph over favored Austin Mittler in 1.10 1/5 for six-furlongs.

Howard, defending champ at the Fair meet, rode Buck Price to a stakes record 1.10 2/5 in the first division of the Foothill last year, while West saddled Tragic Isle to win the event in 1972.

The Foothill was the gray son of Mito's fourth victory in 14 starts this season, and he now boasts a string of seven straight in which he has finished either first or second.

A crowd of 10,962, largest for an opening day at Pomona since 1970, watched Albert H.B., Austin Mittler and Sunny Valley Smoke through the stretch the first time toward the first turn.

Sunny Valley dropped back and the two favorites passed the lead back and forth until Albert H.B. finally began to take firm command around the final turn. His winning margin was three lengths, and as the second choice in the wagering he returned $5.20 for the victory.

Austin Mittler, ridden by Rudy Rosales, held off the late bid of Mr. Bold Batter to be second, with longshot Launch fourth in the field of eight sophomore colt and geldings.

Albert H.B., a Kentucky-bred, has now earned $34,575 for owner Wynn Williams in his first season of competition. The Foothill score was worth $6,600 from a gross purse of $11,100.

In other action on the opening day program, apprentice rider Sam Semkin won with his first Pomona mount, Me No Savvy in the eighth race.

An all-time record opening day mutuel handle of $1,145,010 also was produced by the large crowd, surpassing the mark set last year.

Sutton loses again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dusty Baker slugged his 17th home run of the season and rapped a run-scoring single to back the four-hit pitching of Phil Niekro and lead the Atlanta Braves past the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 Friday night.

Baker's homer staked the Braves to a 1-0 lead in the second inning. They made it 2-0 with an unearned run in the third, the result of an error by Dodgers first baseman Steve Garvey and Baker's RBI single.

Niekro, 15-12, lost his shutout in the seventh on Dave Lopes' sacrifice fly. An error by Darrell Evans led to the run.

Niekro struck out three and walked two in pitching his 13th complete game.

Don Sutton, 16-13, took the loss, failing for the seventh time to record his 17th victory. He suffered a slightly sprained ankle and left the game after pitching six innings. He turned the ankle while running out a double in the third inning.

After Baker's second-inning homer, Vic Correll singled with two out but was stranded when Larvell Blanks flied out.

In the third inning, leftfielder Lee Lacy's strong throw to the plate to nail Marty Perez cut down what would have been the Braves' third run.

In the fifth, Evans walked after two were out and Dave May singled to right, Evans taking third. But the runners were left there when Sutton got Baker to pop up.

Garvey committed his second error of the game in the sixth inning when he fumbled Mike Lum's grounder. But Garvey got Lum at second when Correll failed to sacrifice. Blanks flied out and then Niekro forced Correll to get out of the inning.

The closest the Dodgers came to scoring early in the game was in the third when Sutton doubled to right. Dave Lopes walked and when he was forced at second by Lacy, Sutton took third. But Niekro got out of it when Willie Crawford flied out.

Royals sweep two over Halos

KANSAS CITY (AP) — John Mayberry's two-run double highlighted a five-run third inning, leading the Kansas City Royals to a 7-2 victory and a sweep of their twi-night doubleheader with the California Angels Friday.

Al Cowens' run-scoring single capped a three-run first inning and Kansas City went on to a 10-2 victory in the opener.

In the nightcap, California's Don Kirkwood, 5-5, retired the first seven batters he faced and held a 2-0 lead before running into trouble in the third inning.

In the first game, the first-inning assault on Bill Singer, 714, was enough for rookie righthander Dennis Leonard, who improved his record to 13-6.

Leonard blanked the Angels on five singles through the first six innings and lost his shutout in the seventh on Bruce Bochte's two-run single.

The Royals added a run in the third on Bob Stinson's sacrifice fly, one in the fourth on Rojas' run-scoring single and two in the seventh in a rally highlighted by Amos Otis' RBI double.

In the eighth, they scored three times—one on a double by Otis and two on Stinson's single.

Brett collected six hits in the twin bill, drove in three runs and scored four.

The Royals have now beaten the Angels 12 times in succession.

After the Royals scored their five runs in the third inning of the second game, California never seriously threatened.

Mickey Rivers reached first base on an error by Tony Solaita with nobody out in the sixth but Bochte grounded into a double play.

Again in the ninth, Rivers was safe when Frank White fumbled his ground ball for an error with nobody out. Again, Bochte hit into a double play.

California plays at Kansas City again tonight with Ed Figueroa, 13-12, pitching for the Angels and Doug Bird, 9-5, for the Royals.

Kilmer stars; Chiefs win 9-7

BALTIMORE (AP) — Veteran Billy Kilmer threw touchdown passes of 84 and two yards, and the Washington Redskins scored 17 second-quarter points to trounce the fumble-prone Baltimore Colts 24-10 in a National Football League exhibition contest Friday night.

After a 48-yard field goal by Mark Moseley tied the score 3-3 early in the second period, the Redskins gained possession after the Colts failed to make good on their drive. On the first play, Kilmer connected with a wide-open Frank Grant on the Washington 47 and he romped to an easy touchdown, completing the 84-yard play.

On Washington's next possession, Kilmer completed a wobbly pass as Baltimore blitzed. Grant made the reception before tumbling out of bounds on the Colts' two. Kilmer, who completed 10 of 17 passes for 184 yards in the first half, then tossed a TD pass to the right corner of the endzone.

The Colts, who completed their exhibition season at 2-4, fumbled twice inside the Washington 25, stalled another time at the six and punted after being driven back from the 25.

Washington, 4-3 in preseason play, had not allowed Baltimore a touchdown in four consecutive exhibition games until the Colts scored on the final play of the game.

BUFFALO (AP) — Jan Stenerud's three field goals carried the Kansas City Chiefs to a 9-7 victory over the Buffalo Bills Friday night in the National Football League team's final preseason same.

A pass interception by the Chiefs' free safety, Mike Sensibaugh, on Gary Marangi with less than two minutes remaining stifled the Bills' last-ditch drive to overtake Kansas City.

Stenerud put the Chiefs in front, 6-0, with 29and 40-yard field goals in the second period and then offset Buffalo's touchdown and extra point with a 32-yard three-pointer at 3:30 into the fourth period.

Buffalo's touchdown came on a 1-yard dive by O.J. Simpson at 13:40 of the second period. John Leypoldt gave the Bills a 7-6 halftime lead with a conversion.

The victory put Kansas City at 3-3 in exhibition play, while the Bills also finished at 3-3.

The Chiefs virtually dominated the second half. Following the third-period kickoff, they ran 10 plays and did not surrender the ball to Buffalo until 8:24 remained. Buffalo got off to nine-play sequence in a five-minute stand, then the Chiefs took over again.

Alston is rehired for his 23rd year

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers announced Friday they had rehired Manager Walt Alston to lead the club again in 1976— on his 23rd consecutive one-year contract.

The 63-year-old Alston is the senior man among major league managers and only two men, Connie Mack and John McGraw, have managed one club for a longer period of time.

The announcement on the quiet-mannered Alston came from Dodger President Peter O'Malley as the club's hierarchy went through meetings to plan for next season with the team 17½ games behind National League West champion Cincinnati after winning the league the year before.

Alston took over the Dodgers in Brooklyn in 1954 and the team won the first of four World Series under him the following year.

He has managed the Dodgers to seven National League pennants.

The Dodgers also said that the entire coaching staff of Red Adams, Monty Basgall, Jim Gilliam and Tom Lasorda had all been asked back for 1976.

There was no statement from Dodger management or Alston on the rehiring, which came as no surprise.

Alston celebrated his 40th anniversary in professional baseball on June 19 of this year, marking the date in 1935 when he signed to play with Greenwood, Miss. in the East Dixie League.

His first managing job was Trenton in the Interstate League, in the Dodger organization, in 1944 and he moved to the big club 10 years later.

Surgery for Nolan Ryan

ANAHEIM (AP) — Fireballing Nolan Ryan, co-holder of the major league no-hit record with four, will undergo surgery Sept. 23 for removal of bone chips in his pitching arm, the California Angels announced Friday.

An Angel spokesman said the surgery would be performed in Houston, Tex., by Dr. Joseph King. He said doctors expect complete recovery and that Ryan will return to the team next season.

Ryan, handicapped by a series of injuries this year, pitched his last game Aug. 24.

Later the Angels announced an examination revealed the chips in the elbow and surgery was being considered.

He finished the season with a 14-12 record and a 3.45 earned run average. He struck out 186 and walked 132 in 198 innings.

WFL lowers minimum

NEW YORK (AP) — The World Football League, in an unannounced action taken a month ago, lowered its minimum salary for players from $500 to $250 per game.

And the league has put into force a rule which prohibits any club from signing a player to a fixed salary contract without specific approval of WFL headquarters.

The minimum salary change, decided upon by the WFL on Aug. 14, affects only those players signed after that date. A player signed after Aug. 14 is generally entitled to one per cent of the team's revenues from any single game and will be guaranteed at least $250 if the one per cent does not amount to that much.

Sources confirmed that any player who signed a renegotiated contract after Aug. 14 could have been forced to accept the $250 minimum contract. The Shreveport team has renegotiated a number of contracts in the past week or two in an effort to reduce expenses and thus allow the team to continue in business.

Players who signed a contract before Aug. 14 and who have not renegotiated it since, still are subject to the $500 minimum salary which the league announced earlier this year.

However, those players are not guaranteed a minimum of $500 every game. What most contracts say is that the player will receive one per cent of the team's revenues against an average of $500 per game.

Thus, the player is guaranteed to receive $9,000 over the 18-game season. If he were to get, say, $850 one week because of a certain size crowd, he would have to accept, say, $150 the following week if that was equal to one per cent of a low gate.

Also, the $500 minimum salary applied only to the 32 players on a team's regular roster. Each team is permitted to have six additional players on a taxi squad-type arrangement and may use those players on such things as special kicking teams. Those six players are only guaranteed $250 per game.

Ticket sales at some games have not been sufficient for one per cent to equal either the $500 or $250 minimums.

It is not known how many players have signed league contracts since the Aug. 14 change was made. A league official said he was sure the figure was low.

Fitzsimons takes lead

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Pat Fitzsimons, who emerged from anonymity with an upset in the Los Angeles Open earlier this year, scrambled past the game's great stars with a two-under-par 69 and took the second-round lead Friday in the $200,000 World Open Golf Tournament.

Fitzsimons, only 24 and in his third season on the tour, had a two-round total of 136, the best of his life and six shots under the grudging par on the 7,007 yards of sand hills and pine woods that make up the famed No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club.

"My putting has saved me," the red-haired Fitzsimons said. "I really haven't been hitting the ball all that well."

Jack Nicklaus had a different view of it, however.

"On this golf course, under the conditions we've had, that's a very, very good score," he said.

Fitzsimons held a one-stroke advantage over veteran Rod Funseth and rookie Howard Twitty, tied at 137.

Funseth scored an eagle three on the 16th hole for the second day in a row and shot a 70 while Twitty had a 68.

Tom Weiskopf and Ed Sneed were at 138, two shots back. Weiskopf once held the lead alone on the warm, breezy day, but caught bunkers on three of his last four holes, bogeyed them all and had to settle for a 71. Sneed shot 70.

Lee Elder, the first round leader, slipped from a 65 to a 74 and was tied at 139 with Tom Kite, who had a second-round 69, and another rookie, quiet, soft-spoken Danny Edwards. Edwards, one of the last men on the course, had to batter his way through a late-afternoon storm that kicked up just before he finished his round of 72.

Nicklaus, the season's leading money winner and the year's only four-time winner, matched par 71—"under the conditions and the way the course was set up that's not a bad round of golf," he said—and was five shots back at 141.

Lee Trevino went to a 73 and was one more stroke behind at 142.

Aztecs win is in limbo

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Three key players were ruled off the San Diego State football team, at least temporarily, and the Aztecs' 31-10 victory over University of Texas-El Paso was in limbo today.

An eligibility mixup was blamed.

The Aztecs travel to Portland for a game Saturday. Portland for a game tonight with Oregon State.

In a statement issued by President Brage Golding, San Diego State announced that a new check of transfer records showed Greg Boyd, starting defensive end, was "technically ineligible" under rules of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association.

Golding's statement also said the eligibility of offensive tackle Jim Chandler and Mike Darcey, a kick specialist, will be withdrawn until an investigation of their eligibility is finished.

An unidentified PCAA member school questioned Boyd's status after the season opener against Texas-El Paso in San Diego last weekend.

At issue is a league rule which allows four years' eligibility spread over only five school years. It allows freshmen to redshirt.

"The athletes in question are innocent of all blame whatsoever," said Dr. Jim Malik, the Aztecs' athletic representive to the PCAA. He said their records were unclear as to whether their first college year had been on a full-time basis.

San Diego State, by coincidence, petitioned the PCAA to withdraw from the league less than two weeks ago and hopes to become a member of a proposed "super conference" of major schools.

Mayor will open league

Mayor Ray Lepire and several other city officials will appear at the opening day ceremonies of the Pomona Pop Warner football league at Ganesha High Sunday at 10 a.m.

The ceremonies will be followed by four football games: Pomona Sharks vs. Ontario Packers at 11 a.m.; Montclair Renegades vs. Ontario Bears at 12:30 p.m.; Pomona Steelers vs. Fontana Falcons at 2 p.m. and Pomona Bengals vs. Fontana Bucks at 3:30 p.m.

Upland diver earns honor

Christina Lamb, a 10-year-old from Upland who dives for Coach Mike Dickson on the Mt. Baldy Aquatic Diving Team, was recently chosen as one of the top two divers in her age group to represent the SPAAAU in the State Team Diving Championships in San Diego.

Miss Lamb came back from the state meet with a third place finish on the three meter and a fifth place finish on the first meter board.

The Southern Pacific Association won the overall title, the men's title and tied for the women's title.

In the 18th Annual Chula Vista Age Group and Open Diving Invitational held last weekend, the Mt. Baldy Aquatic Diving Team was again led by trophy winner Christina Lamb with her second place finish in the girls 9-10 division. Her score of 140.70 also set a team record.

Ribbon winners were Elly Lamb, sixth in the 11-12 girls division, and Chuck Lovejoy of Montclair, fifth in the mens open division. Their scores of 154.55 and 277.75 also set team records.

The diving team will be starting their fall workouts this month and encourage parents with children interested in learning basic diving skills to contact Dickson at 624-0791.

THE BROTHERS BENTON — Mt. San Antonio College running back Binky Benton (22) poses with his brothers, Rick (70) and Steve (87). Binky, a 1,000-yard rusher for the Mounties last year, will start for MSAC tonight against Citrus. Rick, a middle guard, is a tentative starter, and Steve is expected to see action as a wide receiver.

MSAC, Citrus open season

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

Citrus and Mt. San Antonio College kickoff the 1975 football season for valley football fans tonight in their traditional season-opener at Citrus Stadium in Azusa.

Both teams have an abundance of new players who played with and against each other in high school which should spice an already crisp rivalry.

When the squads take the field for the 7:30 p.m. kickoff two of the top rushers in junior college football last season will be ready to open their bids for 1,000-yard seasons.

MSAC's Robert "Binky" Benton will start at tailback in a revamped Mountie backfield. Benton averaged 4.0 yards per carry and netted 1,053 yards in 1974. He and Citrus tailback Roy Prather, who gained 1,100 yards last year, were honorable mention All-State selections.

Both runners will lineup behind new quarterbacks. MSAC's tentative starter is former Pomona High signal caller Steve Taylor, who won the starting job from Kurt Porter, last year's No. 1 QB. Porter, who passed for more than 800 yards in 1974, is expected to see some action also.

Citrus' quarterback will be Herb Daniel, a sophomore who played behind Bill Strycula, the coach's son, in 1974.

Besides the quarterbacks, there are a lot of new faces on both sides. The Owls had to replace eight defensive starters and five offensively, while the Mounties only have four players — two each on offense and defense — who saw action in 1974.

Because of this, both teams are as much a mystery to their coaches — MSAC's Mal Eaton and Citrus' John Strycula — as they are to the 2,000 or so fans that will show up for tonight's game.

MSAC's Eaton expects the 1975 Mounties to be better than the team that went 2-6-2 in 1974. But he approaches the season with caution because the schedule is tougher.

Citrus, coming off an 8-1-1 co-championship year in the Mission Conference, can be expected to make its usual slow start in preparation for the conference campaign which has been shortened by the realignment of co-champion Grossmont into the South Coast Conference with MSAC.

This will be the 17th meeting between the old rivals. Last year's tussle ended in a 14-14 tie. Citrus has only won once in 16 previous meetings, a 28-14 victory over the Mounties in 1971.

Following tonight's encounter, MSAC visits Pasadena and Citrus travels to Long Beach for 7:30 games next Saturday.

In the Meantime, Chaffey College gets a week's reprieve from opening the season. The Panthers host a scrimmage with Moorpark this morning at 11 o'clock and begin the season next Saturday in a game at Santa Barbara.

Final weekend for exhibitions

By Associated Press

The Dallas Cowboys, Detroit Lions and San Diego Chargers will attempt to salvage disappointing preseasons Saturday when the National Football League continues its final weekend of exhibition games.

The Cowboys, winners only once in five exhibitions, will try their luck against the Super Bowl champions, the Pittsburgh Steelers, 3-3. "Every team guns for you after you win the Super Bowl," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry, whose Cowboys have found their six-shooters empty too often of late.

"It has been disappointing in that we haven't won more, but I wasn't surprised. I've been around and that happens with a young team," said Landry.

So Dallas, which has scored 77 points but yielded 122, will turn its attention to stopping Pittsburgh running star Franco Harris—who returned to action in last week's victory over New Orleans.

"To beat them (the Steelers), you have to stop Harris," said Landry.

The Steelers, while not taking the Cowboys lightly, are unconcerned over their .500 showing so far. "When we get fired up, we're devastating," said defensive lineman Dwight White. "I'm anxious to play Dallas. That's a good one to fire you up for the season. They're a good team with tradition and they got that big Texas ego you have to battle."

Detroit, 1-4, will be battling to break a two-game losing streak in its game against the Cleveland Browns, 2-3. "The problems we've had can and will be corrected," said Lions Coach Rick Forzano.

And Forzano probably will go with one of his few non-problems, quarterback Greg Landry, in an effort to enter the regular season on a winning note next week. Landry has completed 43 of 83 passes while running for 83 yards in 15 carries.

In other games Saturday night, the Chargers will host Minnesota; the New York Giants, 4-1, visit Miami, 4-1; San Francisco, 2-3, meets Green Bay, 2-3; Houston, 2-3, faces Chicago, 2-3; Philadelphia, 3-2, goes against Atlanta, 2-3, and New Orleans, 2-3, travels to Cincinnati, 3-3.

The New York Jets, 4-1, will be at New England, 3-2, and St. Louis, 3-2, at Denver, 2-3, in Sunday games.

Los Angeles blanked Oakland 6-0 Thursday night, while Kansas City was at Buffalo and Washington was at Baltimore in Friday night exhibitions.

Tommy Prothro wasn't pleased with the blocking of his Chargers, 1-4, as they prepared for powerful Minnesota, 2-3. "It's not just the offensive linemen who aren't blorking," said Prothro, "it's the wide receivers, the backs, everybody."

The Giants-Dolphins clash will mark the first coaching confrontation between New York coach Bill Arnsparger and former boss Don Shula of Miami. The 49ers-Packers game will pit two veteran quarterbacks, San Francisco's Norm Snead and Green Bay's John Hadl, against each other.

The Bears, still looking for a No. 1 quarterback between Bobby Douglass and Gary Huff, will host Houston, which is in a similar situation with Dan Pastorini and Lynn Dickey vying for the starting signal-calling job.

It will be no different when Philadelphia faces Atlanta. Second-year pro Mike Boryla has unseated veteran Roman Gabriel for the Eagles' No. 1 quarterback spot, while top draft choice Steve Bartkowski battles Pat Sullivan for the Atlanta job..

The Saints and Bengals will stage their first preseason meeting ever, with fill-in quarterback Bobby Scott calling signals for New Orleans while Archie Manning recovers from a broken arm.

There's no uncertainty as to the Jets' quarterback. Joe Namath will lead the injury riddled New Yorkers against the Patriots, while Neil Graff will get the call for New England in place of the surgery-sidelined Jim Plunkett.

St. Louis has allowed only 36 points in five games, tops in the league, while Denver has given up 112 points—the fourth highest total.

A. Ashe is top seed

Following Ashe in the draw for the 64-man field were Rocoe Tanner, Raul Ramirez of Mexico, Harold Solomon, Marty Riessen, Onny Parun of New Zealand, Cliff Richey and Dick Stockton.

Jaime Fillol of Chile, involved in a Davis Cup dispute over death threats, was seeded ninth followed by Brian Gottfried and Bob Lutz.

Bowler rolls high series

Linda LeGrande of Ontario bowled games of 263, 231 and 238 recently in the Keg and Kopper bowling league at Bowlium in Montclair. Her 732 total was just nine short of the Citrus Belt women's league high series.

Her average is 168.

To successful season

Poly opener is the key

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

CHICO — If Cal Poly's Andy Vinci seems apprehensive about tonight's season opener, he has a good reason to be.

Vinci begins his second campaign as Poly's head football coach here in Northern California tonight against Chico State in a 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

The Broncos enjoyed their first winning record (5-3-2) in a decade last year but two of those losses were on the road against Far Western Conference teams.

Tonight's opener is also on the road against a member of the Far Western Conference.

Obviously, Vinci is aware of this as he hopes to escape the ambushes the Broncs ran into in 1974 at San Francisco State (21-17) and Cal State Hayward (21-7).

"Without exception, Chico State is our most important game of the season," Vinci said before leaving Pomona on the flight here.

A win in the opener would give Poly and its fans some confidence and help boost the gate for the home games in the next two weeks.

The Broncs opened the 1974 campaign on a high note by upsetting Fresno State, 13-12, and Vinci hopes for more of the same.

He wants to make sure his team doesn't overlook Chico.

"Chico is very similar to the San Francisco State team which defeated us last year," Vinci said, "except Chico doesn't have as highly skilled a quarterback."

After getting a report on Chico's scrimmage last week, Vinci added, "Chico is a quick, well-disciplined and well-coached team."

Poly will enter the 1975 campaign with an experienced defensive unit but green on offense.

Leo Costa, a transfer from the College of Sequoias, will be opening at quarterback. Joining him in the backfield will be freshman tailback Fred Sanders and fullback Brent Partridge. Diveback Aundre Holmes, split end Anthony Loville and flanker Teddy Myles will be alternating two positions.

Vinci is counting on a new and big offensive line to make the difference this season. Because of it, Poly will be using more on a balanced attack featuring a power game.

On defense, the Broncs are led by All-CCAA returnees Jim Castanon at linebacker and safety Scott Sanders. There are six returning starters on the defensive unit.

Chico is coming off a 4-7 season with some optimism as Coach Dick Trimmer has 35 lettermen back.

The Wildcats are bragging about a pair of All-American candidates in tight end Gary Eckley, who caught 29 passes last year for 418 yards and four touchdowns, and punter-kicker Rich Sorenson, who holds most of the school records in his specialties. He has been successful on 52 consecutive PATs entering the season.

Chico is also counting on running back Kevin Nelson, who sat out last season, and a veteran trio of linebackers.

Like Poly, Chico will be starting an inexperienced quarterback. Rollie Garife, who was injured in the first game last year, is the likely starter but he has been pushed by newcomer Tom Walker and JC transfer Don Carstensen.

This will be the fourth meeting of the schools with Chico holding a 3-1 edge. The Wildcats took a narrow 35-34 victory in Pomona in 1973.

Red-Nava go tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Danny "Little Red" Lopez takes on Mexico City's Antonio Nava Saturday night in a fight that has more than the scheduled 10 rounds at stake.

Lopez, 26-3 with 24 knockouts, wants a non-title shot at featherweight champion Ruben Olivares and a victory over Nava could be the stepping stone he needs.

Howie Steindler, who manages Lopez, says, "I'd prefer Danny meet Olivares in a nontitle fight because we could command more money and if Danny won we'd be in a better spot to challenge for the title."

Lopez has won his last two fights with knockouts — putting away former bantamweight champ Chucho Castillo in two rounds April 24 and Raul Cruz in six rounds July 26.

Nava is 18-4 with 10 knockouts and sports a strong right, a punch Lopez has trouble avoiding.

Olivares must return

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Featherweight champion Ruben Olivares was ordered Friday by the California Athletic Commission to return to Los Angeles from his rural training camp and complete work for his Sept. 20 title defense under the watch of officials.

Joe Olmos, the commission's chief inspector, said reports from Olivares' training camp at Gilman Hot Springs 80 miles away indicated the champion was overweight.

Olivares meets David Kotey of Ghana for the World Boxing Council crown and is said to be two pounds over the 126-pound limit.

The commission came under fire early this year because featherweight champion Bobby Chacon had weight problems and had to slim down in the final hours before he faced Olivares and lost via a secondround knockout.

Big games in openers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For openers, what ever happened to the breathers that most college football teams used to schedule for openers?

Led by defending national champion Oklahoma, the 1975 season gets into full flight this weekend with an unusually high number of important games right off the bat.

Oklahoma, beginning defense of its No. 1 ranking at home in a stadium that includes a new 9,000-seat upper deck, is an overwhelming favorite to demolish Oregon, but some of the main challengers, namely Michigan and Ohio State, could be in for trouble.

Michigan, runner-up in The Associated Press ratings, visits Wisconsin while third-ranked Ohio State, seeking to avenge its only regular-season defeat of 1974, takes to the road against No. 11 Michigan State. The Spartans and Wisconsin are generally considered the chief threats to Michigan and Ohio State in the Big Ten.

Sixth-ranked Nebraska plays its first five games at home and the opening opponent is always tough Louisiana State, coming off a subpar 5-5-1 campaign.

Elsewhere, seventh-ranked Auburn opens Coach Shug Jordan's 25th and final season at home against Memphis State, No. 8 Texas A&M entertains Mississippi, ninth-ranked Notre Dame meets Boston College at Foxboro, Mass., in a nationally televised game Monday night and No. 10 Penn State hosts Stanford.

The other games involving members of the Top Twenty are all scheduled for tonight — Colorado State at No. 12 Texas, No. 14 Maryland at No. 20 Tennessee, Wake Forest at No. 15 North Carolina State, Iowa State at No. 16 UCLA and Southern Methodist at No. 19 Florida. Alabama, Arizona and Pitt, Nos. 13, 17 and 18, respectively, have the weekend off.

In winning all 11 games en route to the 1974 national championship, Oklahoma and the injury list were barely nodding acquaintances. Things might be different this year since defensive tackle Anthony Bryant and tight end prospect Reggie Mathis are sidelined while defensive end Duane Baccus is a question mark.

Until the defense catches up with the offense, the Sooners will rely on their explosive Wishbone backfield of quarterback Steve Davis, halfbacks Joe Washington and Elvis Peacock and fullback Jimmy Littrell, along with receivers Tinker Owens and Billy Brooks.

Obviously recalling last year's 24-20 squeaker, Bo Schembechler calls the Wisconsin game "the toughest opener we've faced in my seven years at Michigan. Wisconsin might very well have the best offensive team in the confernce, and by the end of last season the defense wasn't too bad, either, and it probably has improved."

Schembechler's Wolverines are young, "but there is a lot of talent, even if they don't have the experience." Three sophomores will start on the offensive line and two more in the secondary while Rick Leach is bidding to become the first freshman quarterback starter in Michigan history.

Wisconsin has 33 lettermen from last year's 7-4 squad, including running back Billy Marek, who won the national scoring title with 12.7 points a game, and tackle Dennis Lick.

Ohio State has Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin to bear the brunt of the running game again, but the Buckeyes will unveil 13 new starters, eight on defense. Returning with Griffin in a backfield which rushed for 3,212 yards and 30 touchdowns last year are quarterback Cornelius Greene, fullback Pete Johnson and wingback Brian Baschnagel.

The only time Nebraska and Louisiana State met was in the Orange Bowl following the 1970 season and third-ranked Nebraska surged to the national championship with a 17-12 triumph when the top two teams lost bowl games.

LSU, which found itself without a quarterback last year when Mike Miley signed a pro baseball contract, has forsaken the Veer after one year in favor of Coach Charles McClendon's highly successful I-formation with Pat Lyons at the helm.

Nebraska also has a new signal-caller with Terry Luck succeeding record-breaking passer Dave Humm. The Cornhuskers will be without two starters— defensive end Ray Phillips and cornerback Jim Burrow—and two second-teamers—quarterback Vince Ferragamo and tackle Dean Gissler—who are sitting out a one-game NCAA penalty.

Colorado State tests Texas with an explosive passing attack—Mark Driscoll throwing, Dan O'Rourke catching—while the Longhorns will keep it on the ground, mostly via sophomore fullback Earl Campbell. Maryland-Tennessee is a rerun of last year's Liberty Bowl, won by the Vols 7-3. Look for more scoring this time.

UCLA in '75 debut

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Sciarra and Luther Blue would make a potent offensive combination but they'll be on opposite sides of the field when UCLA hosts Iowa State in the 1975 football debut for both schools tonight.

Sciarra is being touted as a Heisman Trophy candidate and the UCLA quarterback leads the 16th-ranked Bruins with strong running, his best point, and an improved passing arm.

Blue is the Cyclones' biggest threat—dangerous when catching passes and returning kickoffs and punts. He was the nation's No. 2 kick runner in college football last year following Anthony Davis.

UCLA finished last season 63-2 and third in the Pacific-8 Conference with Coach Dick Vermeil in his first year.

This season Vermeil looks for all-around improvement, in spite of an untried defense, and if his team doesn't visit the Rose Bowl another bowl might be on the horizon.

The Cyclones, under Coach Earle Bruce, come off back-to-back 4-7 seasons in the Big Eight but gave both Oklahoma and Nebraska stiff fights last year.

Like the Bruins, Iowa State has more to offer on offense than defense.

"Overall I have the feeling that especially on offense we aren't the same football team of last year," Vermeil said.

"We're way ahead of last year, we've done extremely well in scrimmaging. A year ago we were not nearly this efficient."

Vermeil added, "Defensively we're a ways away and I'm concerned about it."

The Bruins lost 18 defensive lettermen to graduation, 13 of them starters at one time or another. Outside linebacker Dale Curry is the lone returning starter.

So it may come to Sciarra to generate enough points to make up for any defensive problems.

The Bruin quarterback runs like a halfback and can throw to Norm Anderson, one of the best receivers in the Pac-8.

But the best Bruin running back, Wendell Tyler, has trouble hanging on to he ball, and, while dependable, Eddie Ayers and Carl Zaby are not spectacular. Zaby and Kenny Lee, a converted linebacker, are expected to start against the Cyclones.

"We're a running team," said Vermeil, "that's the strength of our Veer-T offense. But we also have people who can catch the ball and score."

Iowa State also uses the Veer-T but, as spokesman Harry Burrell put it, "We use a little bit of everything."

The Cyclones have 37 lettermen returning and are so deep at quarterback that senior Tom Mason is tentatively listed as No. 3 but is expected to start "because he puts the ball into the end zone better than the other two."

Bruce is optimistic about his 1975 team, saying, "I believe we have more quality players now than we ever have had at Iowa State."

Minnesota admits NCAA violations

CROOKSTON, Minn. (AP) — The University of Minnesota admitted Friday that its basketball program was in violation of some National Collegiate Athletic Association rules, and its president promised to be "very tough" in taking corrective measures.

In the first public discussion of the allegations, a university official told the Board of Regents that all except one of the 112 allegations involve the basketball program.

At the same meeting, the regents confirmed the appointment of Jim Dutcher to succeed Bill Musselman as head basketball coach.

Stanley B. Kegler, vice president for institutional planning and relations, told the regents that the 112 allegations or requests for information involve 108 individuals.

One of the individuals is a current university staff member, and seven are athletes either attending or likely to enroll at the university. "These are the only people over which the university has any control," Kegler said.

He said the other individuals included six former staff members, 19 former students, 35 student-athletes who were recruited but never attended the university, 32 friends or relatives of recruited athletes, six outside individuals representing the university and six classified as miscellaneous.

Kegler declined to disclose names. University officials have said that to do so before the allegations are proven would violate the rights of persons named in the charges.

However, a number of former basketball players have acknowledged receiving aid illegal under NCAA rules. In addition, Musselman, who resigned to become head coach of the professional San Diego Sails, has admitted some "minor" violations on his part.

In a letter to the school last July, the NCAA made the allegations regarding recruiting practices in Minnesota's intercollegiate athletic program.

Kegler said 78 of the 112 allegations involved "promises or delivery of money, goods or services ranging from $5 into the thousands (of dollars)."

"All of them involve basketball except one which we consider a bookkeeping problem in the hockey program," Kegler said.

"I can report a substantial number of improper (recruiting) inducements," Kegler told the regents. "It is quite likely that major violations have occurred because a pattern has developed in the investigation which has become quite clear."

The school was directed by the NCAA to reply to the allegations by Oct. 1, but Kegler said the university might not be able to meet the deadline.

University President C. Peter Magrath told the regents that the university wants to get a "clean slate without delay," admit infractions, "report everything we find" and take corrective action.

"We will be very, very tough, not only in admitting where we have gone wrong but to make sure this sort of thing doesn't happen again," said Magrath, who took over as president about a year ago.

Lyle fights Shavers, but thinks of Ali

DENVER (AP) — Heavyweight Ron Lyle is hoping to make Earnie Shavers his first comeback victim since his loss to champion Muhammad Ali last May.

But Shavers, ranked ahead of Lyle among heavyweight contenders, has different ideas. He predicts he will knockout his opponent within the first five rounds.

Both boxers wound up training Thursday for tonight's scheduled 12-round bout.

Lyle, whose record is 30-3-1, has boxed more than 90 rounds in preparation for Shavers. His trainer, Chickie Ferrara, said Lyle "has looked better than I've ever seen him during the past week."

Lyle ranks 10th among heavyweight contenders, compared to Shavers' No. 7 listing by the World Boxing Association.

With a record of 49-4-1, including 48 knockouts, Shavers said, "No way this is going to last the full 12 rounds. My record proves I can hit and I'm going to take Lyle out before five rounds."

Shavers said Lyle's vulnerability to a right hand punch was clear during the fight against Ali. "Muhammad is not a tremendous puncher, but he caught Lyle just right and almost put him out. I can hit much harder than Ali and if I catch Lyle with one of my shots, he won't be standing around waiting for the referee to stop it."

George Foreman, ranked behind Ali among the heavyweights, has expressed an interest in fighting the winner of the Shavers-Lyle bout.

Philly 76ers try to buy NBA winner

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers are trying to buy a winning team.

In recent months general manager Pat Williams signed superstar George McGinnis to an estimated $3 million six-year pact. Then came Daryl Dawkins, a Florida high school sensation, with a million-dollar plus arrangement.

The latest acquisition came Thursday when 6-foot-10 Joe Bryant, the LaSalle College star who declared hardship for the National Basketball Association draft, signed a reported $1.25 million contract.

"We are committed to building the best team possible," said General Manager Pat Williams of a franchise that has been in the basement of the NBA in recent seasons. "We have faith in the Philadelphia market, in television and radio to make this successful."

"I learned that you must never allow yourself to have a bad team if you have control," noted Williams, who was GM at Chicago and Atlanta before coming to Philadelphia less than two years ago.

"The Bryant thing just dropped out of the sky, and when this happens you better grab it while it's there. If we sell out our big games with Boston and Buffalo and Los Angeles, and have seven, eight or nine thousand at our other games, we'll be all right.

"And if we really catch hold, who knows what might happen?"

Veteran Billy Cunningham earns in excess of a quarter million, and Fred Carter and Doug Collins are high-bracket bonus and salary players.

The 76ers acquired the rights to Bryant, a No. 1 draft choice of the NBA champion Golden State Warriors, for an undisclosed sum of cash. The Warriors failed to sign Bryant after prolonged negotiations with the player and his attorney, Richard Phillips.

Phillips refused to specify the amount Bryant will earn as a 76er, but the lawyer said he turned down a five-year, $900,000 offer from Golden State.

"We got more than that from Philadelphia," he said.

Sixers Coach Gene Shue said the team wasn't impressed with Bryant when they saw him perform for LaSalle, but that he had developed into a top talent this summer while playing in the Charles Baker League, which features outstanding players from pro and college ranks.

Wings-Vulcans top WFL slate

By The Associated Press

One team trying to hold first place in its division takes on another team trying to reach that position Saturday night when the San Antonio Wings visit the Birmingham Vulcans for a World Football League game.

The Wings, 5-2, will try to expand their West Division lead over the second-place Southern California Sun, while Birmingham, 4-2, could move into first place in the East with a victory if the Memphis Southmen lose Sunday to the Shreveport Steamer.

Both San Antonio and Birmingham will be shooting for their third consecutive victories tonight when they meet at Legion Field. The other evening game pits the Portland Thunder, 1-5, against the Philadelphia Bell, 2-4, in a matchup of division cellar dewllers.

Aside from the Southmen-Steamer game Sunday, the Charlotte Hornets, 3-2, take on the Sun, 4-2, and the Jacksonville Express, 3-2, travels to Hawaii, 2-3.

San Antonio will send its third-ranked offense against Birmingham's third-rated defense, with quarterback Johnnie Walton planning an aerial attack to his three top receivers, Donnie Joe Morris, Willie Frazier and Eddie Richardson. Each of the three is in the top 10.

The Wings also boast two top-five rushers, No. 2 Bill Sadler and No. 5 Jim Strong, and give up fewer rushing yards than any other team in the league.

That should prove a test for the Vulcans, who run the ball more than eight of the 10 other WFL clubs. Art Cantrelle will lead the rushing attack, coming off a three-touchdown performance last week. Should the ground attack slow down, quarterback Matthew Reed may connect on his first touchdown pass of the season.

Both Portland and Philadelphia carry two-game losing streaks into their tonight encounter.

In Sunday action, Shreveport, 2-4, will have to hold on to the ball before thinking about beating Memphis, 4-1. The Steamer has committed 23 turnovers, tying with Southern California for the league's most undistinguished mark. The Southmen, meanwhile, attack with the league's best ball control offense thanks to rushers Larry Csonka, Willie Spencer and Jim Klick.

The Sun, with its league-leading passing offense, may be stymied by the league's best defense. If that's the case, Sun quarterback Pat Haden can hand off to top rusher Anthony Davis.

Hawaiians quarterback Sonny Sixkiller faces a busy afternoon Sunday. His offensive line provides the league's worst pass protection and Jacksonville owns the WFL's second best pass rush. But they could have the lead if they receive the opening kickoff. Clayton Heath of the Hawaiians ran back a kickoff 93 yards for the league's longest touchdown in that department, and totaled 194 yards in returns last week.

Orchids belong to one of the largest plant families. More than 6,000 kinds of orchids can be found growing in moist climates in many parts of the world.

Today most flower-shop orchids are raised in hothouses. These orchids are among the most expensive of cut flowers, but their natural home is the damp forests of tropical countries.

Many tropical orchids grow as air plants perched on the branches of trees, their fleshy roots creeping along the damp trunks or dangling in the air.

They can take their food and water directly from the air.

Orchids of temperate regions usually grow from the ground, as do so many of the other flowers.

The white, yellow, and purple lady's-slipper and the fragrant pale-pink moccasin flower that grow in cool, damp American woods and swamps are ground-growing orchids.

A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Chappaquiddick records missing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Original police records on the Chappaquiddick incident involving Sen. Edward M. Kennedy are still missing, despite assertions by two former police chiefs that they were returned to the files last April.

Officials of the Edgartown police department at Martha's Vineyard, Mass., say they cannot find the documents. "We've looked everywhere. We honestly don't know where they are," Patricia McLeod, a special police officer, said in a telephone interview.

The mystery of the vanished records was raised recently in a book by Carl Gottlieb, a script writer for the movie "Jaws" which was filmed at Martha's Vineyard last summer.

Gottlieb said he had been told by Jesse Oliver II, then the chief of the 12-member Edgartown department, that the records of the 1969 auto accident that cost the life of Mary Jo Kopechne had disappeared from the files.

However, between the time that Gottlieb talked with Oliver and the book was published, the missing documents — including the original accident report and a copy of Kennedy's first statement to police — were said to have been returned to the department.

Dominick J. Arena, who was Edgartown's police chief at the time of the Chappaquiddick incident, said in another interview that when he quit the department in 1973, he took some of the records with him.

Now police chief in Essex Junction, Vt., Arena said he wanted the papers for his own use in answering questions from newsmen and others.

"The problem was that when you get so deeply involved in something, you are constantly being questioned," Arena said. He was among the first officials to reach the bridge from which Kennedy's car plunged, and he later charged the senator with failing to report the accident.

Arena said he first learned that the missing records were a subject of concern while taking part in a Boston radio talk show last spring. He said that after that, he made copies for himself and sent the records back to his successor, Oliver.

"I have to admit — I'm somewhat red-faced — that I had some of the originals," he said. "I didn't realize there were no copies in the files. But since then I've sent them all back. You could come in here with a search warrant and you wouldn't find anything."

Oliver was suspended as police chief for accepting money from Universal Studios, makers of "Jaws," and other alleged improprieties. He has since resigned but supports Arena's claim to having returned the Chappaquiddick material.

"He sent the records back last April and they were there in the files when I left the department in June," Oliver said.

As to what happened to the documents since then or why the present department officials can't find them, he said, "I have no idea. That's their problem."

Legislators seeking special tax relief

The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has ruled that the special expense allowances of legislators are taxable. The IRS says California's legislators should therefore pay on their $30 daily stipends for living expenses in the capital during legislative sessions.

McCarthy, a San Francisco Democrat, told newsmen Thursday the matter will be brought up during a regular annual visit to Washington to discuss state and federal problems. McCarthy is to head the delegation for the trip Sept. 30 through Oct. 2.

A McCarthy aide, Jack Johnson, said legislators in other states face the same problem.

"The National Conference of State Legislatures is trying to put together a meeting on the whole issue rather than try to solve it piecemeal," Johnson said.

Legislators in California have also chipped in to hire a tax attorney to work on the case.

Axle loads of trucks increased

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. has signed into law a measure increasing axle loads on trucks from 18,000 pounds to 20,000 pounds.

The legislation by Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-South Gate, goes into effect next year.

Pines blasts auto makers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — City Attorney Burt Pines has blasted a proposed delay for the nation's automobile makers in meeting emissions standards written into the Federal Clean Air Act.

Pines said the" big four" car manufacturers should "spend their money on building a pollution-free car" instead of buying newspaper advertisements aimed at "brainwashing the American people into believing they do not really want clean air now."

His remarks at a press conference Thursday were directed at advertisements urging readers to write their congressmen to urge a delay in enforcing the standards.

Pines also said he had written a letter to Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, who heads a subcommittee considering the proposed emissions standards delay of four years.

The letter protested the proposed delay, and recommended alternatives for what Pines described as an "all-or-nothing" approach by the government in controlling emissions from cars.

Pines' suggestions included repeal of the 10 per cent excise tax on foreign cars which meet the standards to stimulate competition and imposition of a tax on autos which fail to meet the clean air standards.

Bandit, 17, loses loot to muggers

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A young bandit fled a Wilmington Trust Co. branch with between $1,500 and $2,000. But he didn't have long to celebrate, according to police.

Hitching a ride home, he was attacked Monday and "worked over pretty good" by three youths who stole the loot, Det. Lt. John Doherty said.

The robbery suspect, identified by police as John Satterfield, 17, was held in the city jail in lieu of $7,500 bail. The muggers escaped.

Dayan losing ground in Israeli politics

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Moshe Dayan, the former defense minister and war hero, is out in the cold in Israeli politics, according to political experts here.

Fifteen months after leaving the Cabinet, Dayan appears isolated and threatened with expulsion or sanctions from the Labor party at the nadir of his political career.

"Dayan has not given up the idea of someday taking over the party" and becoming prime minister, a knowledgeable Labor party member said. "But I would say that is farther from reality now than ever."

Dayan's fall from grace within the party was caused by his opposition to the Egyptian-Israeli accord worked out by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

The former general argued that nothing less than an Egyptian commitment to nonbelligerency was worth an Israeli troop pullback in the Sinai Desert.

At a meeting of nearly 400 Laborites, only four voted against the accord. When the Kissinger pact came before the Knesset, Israel's parliament, only two Laborites joined Dayan in voting against it.

This defied a party ruling obliging all Labor deputies to support the agreement.

Under party rules, Dayan could be thrown out. But sources said it was more likely that lesser sanctions would be taken, such as removing him from parliament committees.

Dayan, meanwhile, left for a lecture tour of the United States and his only public comment on the issue was that "I would be very sorry if I were dismissed from the party."

"Dayan has antagonized a lot of people," said a Labor party official. "When he made his speech against the agreement at the party meeting, there were some who said it was his swan song."

Still, it was the former defense minister who first proposed the idea of partial settlements with Egypt five years ago, when he was at the peak of his influence. But he says he later changed his mind.

Dayan, whose black eyepatch once was regarded by Israelis as a symbol of national strength and courage, now is scorned by many former admirers who blame him for losses early in the 1973 Yom Kippur war.

It was Israel's failure to prepare for war that finally toppled the Golda Meir government — and Dayan — from power.

Dayan now spends much of his time on speaking tours abroad and seldom appears in public here. Earlier this year he was prevented from giving one lecture to university students when angry parents of war dead broke into the lecture hall.

UNMARKED PATROL CAR — Gov. Robert Ray and his driver, patrol Sgt. Earl Usher, leave Iowa Statehouse on official business. That business may include highway patrol business as Ray often stops traffic law violators or stops to assist stalled motorists.

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Drivers who flaunt Iowa traffic laws watch for those 400 Iowa Highway Patrol cars. Then there's that 1975 blue Continental with Iowa license No. 1.

"We've stopped several people — mostly because they've done something reckless," said Gov. Robert D. Ray, who often assists at accident scenes and helps stalled motorists while being chauffeured around Iowa.

"The governor is very alert to these things," said Patrol Sgt. Earl Usher, who has driven Ray since 1970. "Many times he is involved in paperwork. But he is very conscious of what goes on outside of the car."

Usher, 39, said he often stops motorists who have run stop signs or red lights, who have driven recklessly or disregarded safety rules.

"We have no red light," he said. "We just pull up beside them. The uniform is very identifying."

But Usher said he doesn't attempt to stop cars that are speeding excessively. He radios a description ahead to another trooper.

"When the governor is in the car, it's our responsibility to drive the auto as safely as possible," Usher said.

He said the governor's car usually stops two or three cars violating traffic laws a week and will often stop to assist motorists two or three times a day.

"We've stopped and helped numerous people with flat tires or called for wrecker service," Usher said.

Then there's the story Ray likes to tell about the stalled car he and Usher happened on one night last winter.

"There were these two teenagers and they were out of gas," Ray said. "We gave them a ride to a service station, but it was late and we couldn't find one open. They were nervous, and Earl and I both got suspicious."

The governor said Usher checked the car by radio and found it was stolen. The teenagers were runaways from Kansas.

When the governor's car approaches an accident, the standard procedure is to stop and assist. Often it is the first on the scene.

"When we come across injury accidents, Governor Ray is very quick to assist," Usher said.

He recalled one accident they happened on while returning from the Des Moines airport.

"He got out of the car before I hardly got it stopped," Usher said.

Ray began administering first aid to one victim, while Usher called for help on the radio and started helping another, the sergeant said.

"In an accident situation you don't have time to see what everyone else is doing — you just jump in," Usher said. "And the governor is quick to jump in."

$1,400 found in coffee can

LOVELOCK, Nev. (AP) — The Lee Olsons found treasure in a coffee can. They discovered a rusty coffee can half filled with $1,400 worth of $25 gaming chips from Harolds Club in Reno.

The Olsons were searching for old bottles near a dry lake when they came upon the frame of an ancient auto. Inside the car relic they found the rusty can and chips.

The game tokens were counted and verified by the club's assistant controller, Mike Mills. Some of the chips were partially burned and are about 15 years old.

FDA mulls warning on aspirin

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Food and Drug Administration advisory panel is considering recommending that a warning against the unprescribed use of aspirin during pregnancy be placed on every aspirin bottle label, an FDA spokesman said.

Women who take aspirin regularly during pregnancy suffer a high rate of complications such as bleeding and infection and endanger their babies, according to a report by two Australian doctors.

The FDA recommendation under consideration was prompted by similar studies.

The spokesman said the exact wording of the warning has not been decided upon but it would probably advise the consumer to check with her doctor before taking aspirin if she is pregnant.

In the Australian study, among 63 daily aspirin users — women who took two to 12 aspirin doses a day — four had still births, compared with none among the babies of 63 comparable nonaspirin users.

Among 81 women who took aspirin less often but at least once a week, there was one stillbirth and three babies died after birth.

The Australian study was published in the Aug. $23 issue of the British medical journal Lancet.

Thirty per cent of the daily aspirin users and 27 per cent of the lesser users had complicated childbirths, such as Caesarean section or breech or forceps deliveries, compared with 11 per cent of nonaspirin users, according to the study.

It also showed the aspirin users' pregnancies lasted a week longer and their labor lasted almost an hour longer on the average.

Colonizing of space studied

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — A study on how it might be possible to colonize space either on an artificial planet or on Mars is being made by 25 scientists.

The exercise in utilizing engineering, social and economic theories, is an annual engineering systems design project sponsored by Ames Research Center at nearby Moffett Field and Stanford University.

Previous programs have centered on building a communications device to contact other intelligent life forms in the universe and creating new food supplies for earth.

This year project members will devise means to populate either Mars or an enormous man-made space habitat that would measure 19 miles long and four miles across.

Worker absenteeism called 'an Italian plague' by Leone

MILAN, Italy (AP) — President Giovanni Leone calls worker absenteeism "an Italian plague" and blames it, along with wildcat strikes and the declining spirit of industrialists, for Italy's economic crisis.

In a rare interview published recently in Milan's Corriere della Sera, Leone spoke of the right to strike — a burning issue following strikes this summer that disrupted plane and rail transportation at the height of the tourist season.

"Essential services for the population and the country's economy must not be paralyzed ... There were abuses in the right to strike. The law must guarantee the use of any right, but also avoid any abuse," the president said.

Turning to absenteeism in private industry and public administration, he said, "Absenteeism is an Italian plague ... which means overburdening those working, disorders, insufficient utilization of plants, unproduced wealth, damages to industry."

For this purpose, he called for reconsideration of the current law barring checks on workers staying home for alleged sickness.

"The present system does not work," Leone said.

Industrialists also came under attack.

"The economic crisis has been worsened by the attitude of renunciation by a part of the industrialists who have lost the taste of risk, who do not invest and who are tempted to take their capital and efforts abroad."

California has 80 glaciers

SACRAMENTO (AP) — There are 80 glaciers in California. But geologist Mary Hill says it's nothing to worry about because they have been there 1,000 years and haven't grown much.

Ms. Hill, who works for the state Department of Conservation, said in an interview Thursday:

"Norwegian scientists are predicting another ice age in the next 10,000 to a million years. But that won't bother our lifetimes."

Geologically speaking, these California glaciers are mere youngsters, she said. When the glaciers were formed 1,000 years ago, there was a worldwide cold snap.

Scientists still haven't agreed while that cold snap persisted until 1700, she added.

Palisades Galcier, north of Bishop in the High Sierra, is the largest one in the state. It is about 1½ miles wide and more than three-fourths of a mile long. It is easily visible from Route 395.

Unfortunately, California glaciers are of no use, except as tourist attractions, she said.

Oops! wrong gym painted

A crew from Central Oregon Roofing Co. painted the roof of the high school gymnasium — in Metolius, five miles north of Culver.

Directors of the Jefferson County School District decided this week that the gym roof at Metolius would have needed paint soon anyway. They offered the firm $764, about half the normal price for the job, and the firm accepted.

Meanwhile, since the mistake was discovered, the firm had painted the roof at Culver at full price, $1,478.50.

Egg coddler sales rise

According to Hugh Robinson, president of Royal Worcester Porcelain Co., the market is increasing at a 10 per cent annual rate. Last year, he said, more than a million egg coddlers were purchased in America.

Museum preserves pioneer days

Doc Peirsol

It happened in Pomona

Under the headline "ANOTHER BEAUTY SPOT FOR POMONA", The Pomona Daily Review announced on June 8, 1904: "At last the Salt Lake Station is to be made a thing of beauty and a joy forever." —And there we have historic evidence that our earlier day Pomonans were definitely aware that city beautification is one of the things that makes a community great.

But it was also an historic announcement which prompts some of us Johnnie Come Latelies to ask a bit perplexedly: "How long is forever, and whatever became of the Salt Lake Station."

Well, as the poet once said: "Beauty is not immortal. In a day blossom and June and rapture pass away," —and also, apparently, Salt Lake Stations. But even though, like snow upon the desert's dusty waste that Pomona Beauty Spot lasted only its little hour or two and then was gone, let's turn back the pages of time and relive that eventful day when the Pomona Daily Review announced that ground breaking for the Beauty Spot had already commenced.

"There are to be three small parks, one to the west of the station building and two to the south," the story read. "A date palm is to be planted in the center of the west park, and at the eastern end of the same park climbing roses will be planted, which in time will reach the eaves and cover the end of the building. The two parks at the south side, between which a driveway will be made, are being planted to umbrella and camphor trees and, of course, grass. There will be a coping and railing around the two south parks and walks around the west park. The Salt Lake is certainly doing a good turn for Pomona in making so attractive a spot for the enjoyment of our citizens."

New postal service now in South Pole

By GUSTAV DETJEN, JR.

The U.S. Postal Service will establish its southernmost branch office Oct. 1, at the South Pole, Antarctica. This postal facility will be established as a branch of the New York, New York Post Office. The postmark to be applied will be: "SO. POLE BR. NEW YORK, NY 10090." The last two digits indicate that the station is at 90 degrees south latitude. This is not a working number for submission of covers, which should be addressed to "Postmaster, New York, N.Y. 10001." Requests should include an endorsement in the lower left corner — "South Pole Postmark." The self-addressed, stamped envelope which must accompany orders should carry U.S. postage of the appropriate denomination for basic first-class mail — 10 cents at present. Also enclosed should be a short note requesting service from the South Pole.

CHRISTMAS IN THE NORFOLK ISLANDS

On Oct. 6, three stamps for Christmas mail 1975, will be issued by the Norfolk Islands. The design will feature the Island with a Norfolk Island pine surmounted by a radiant star. Around the edge in gold lettering will be a Christmas greeting. Order from your local dealer or contact The Senior Philatelic Officer, Norfolk Island 2899, South Pacific Ocean.

NEW PICTORIAL U.S. ALBUM

To facilitate the creation of personalized presentations of U.S. philatelic material, the Collectors Institute, Ltd. is bringing out the Pictorial Treasury U. S. Album. The album introduces a new pattern in U.S. collecting by providing the collector

Antique wise: Q and A

by DOROTHY HAMMOND

Question: I have just inherited two very good oak pieces. One is a beautiful oak table with claw feet, unlike any I have ever seen inasmuch as it has two pedestals for the base. The table is marked "Original Twin Pedestal," and was made by the Wisconsin Furniture Company of Milwaukee.

The other piece is a corner hanging medicine chest with a lovely beveled mirror 22½ x 18 inches. The chest is in excellent condition, and measures 22½" high, 18" wide, and 12 inches deep. I have never seen another chest like it and neither has anyone else around here.

The appraisal value for the table was $75, and the chest $30. I am certain they are far more valuable than these figures. Can you tell us what they might be worth, even though they are not old enough to fall into the antique classification? E. W.

Answer: When you have fallen heir to good oak pieces nowadays, you can consider yourself very fortunate as values continue to swing up, up, up. Your twin pedestal oak table is worth from $350-$400, and the hanging cabinet, from $80-$95.

Question: English ceramic potlids have always been of interest to me even though I haven't seen one for sale in years. The two that I own are marked "Village Wedding" and "The Picnic," and were made by the R & H Pratt Company in England. Both are in mint condition. Can you tell me what their value might be? C.S.

Answer: The Village Wedding is currently being priced around the $65 figure, and The Picnic for $55.

Question: I am writing to ascertain what is the probable value of a dry sink which belonged to my grandmother. I believe that it dates from the mid-nineteenth century. The sink is solid cherry, and was refinished during the 40s. There is a back to it, and three small dovetailed drawers. The side pieces are made of one solid piece of wood. The case portion is 24 inches deep, 38 inches long, and the height of the back is 44 inches.

Originally the sink part was lined with tin, but this was removed when the piece was refinished — I removed three coats of paint. In my opinion, the sink is in excellent condition. P. R. M.

Answer: I would estimate the value of your dry sink to be about $800, possibly more. Cherry examples are rarely found, and those with a high back, plus drawers are scarce.

Museum observes 10th year

The Chaffey Communities Cultural Center at 525 W. 18th St., Upland, will observe its 10th anniversary with a fund-raising ice cream social from 1 to 4 p.m. Sept. 21.

The program will include music, a children's program and homemade ice cream at 50 cents a dish. The public is invited.

Photos by SID FRIDKIN, P-B Photographer

The CCCC is a non-profit historical museum dedicated to preservation of relics of the pioneer days in the West End. The center is supported by membership dues, a modest admission fee and fund-raising events such as the ice cream social.

The museum came into being 10 years ago when St. Mark's Episcopal Church at Euclid Avenue and F Street donated its old, steepled, brown-shingled building to the historical group. The City of Upland leased five acres of land in north Upland to the organization for $1 a year. Public subscription raised $10,000 to move the church to its new site. The venerable building was cut into three sections, moved to its new home among the orange groves, and put back together again.

The center has, from the first, enjoyed the wholehearted support of the community. The public donated money, construction firms contributed building materials and tradesmen devoted volunteer after-hours labor on lighting, plumbing, landscaping, paving the parking lot, painting and other projects.

When the museum was completed truckloads of contributions rolled in — fine antiques, Victorian-era clothing, Civil War uniforms, weapons and banners, lamps, paintings, spinning wheels, churns, maps, coin collections, pioneer tools, Indian artifacts and hundreds of other valuable historical items.

Recent contributions to the center include a 1910 dual-manifold organ donated by Dr. L. C. Spencer of Upland and a fine collection of eye glasses. The Indian display has been enlarged, and the collection of 655 citrus crate labels has been mounted in scrapbooks. Of special interest to children are the 50 dolls from foreign countries presented to the center by Mrs. Howard Clark.

CCCC is a fascinating place to scores of chattering school children who visit it regularly, and a valuable resource to students of Early Americana from nearby colleges.

The museum puts on a variety of programs throughout the year — a talk by a historian, films, breakfasts for service clubs, box lunches for church groups, Christmas parties, exhibits by the Chaffey Art Association. Programs have been given there by members of the West End Opera Association, a chamber group from the West End Symphony Orchestra, and actors from the Garrick Players, now-defunct West End community theater.

Future plans for the CCCC are expansion and continued growth. The Ontario-Upland Junior Chamber of Commerce is helping with a new "sculpture garden," to be made up of pioneer agricultural equipment — tractors, plows, welding equipment, smith's tools, orchard heaters and lumber wagons. The museum hopes to put up a new building to house its permanent displays, freeing the present hall for traveling exhibits, art shows, concerts and other activities.

The historical museum is open from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, with occasional programs on Sunday. It is manned by volunteer docents and a staff headed by Mrs. Beatrice Riggs, president of the center.

ON THE COVER

The Chaffey Community Cultural Center in Upland, will launch its 10th year with a benefit ice cream social from 1 to 4 p.m. Sept. 21. The old building, formerly St. Mark's Episcopal Church, is a repository for memorabilia of the pioneer days in the West End. Rare antiques, Civil War weapons, Indian artifacts and hundreds of relics of the past draw visitors from a wide area of Southern California.

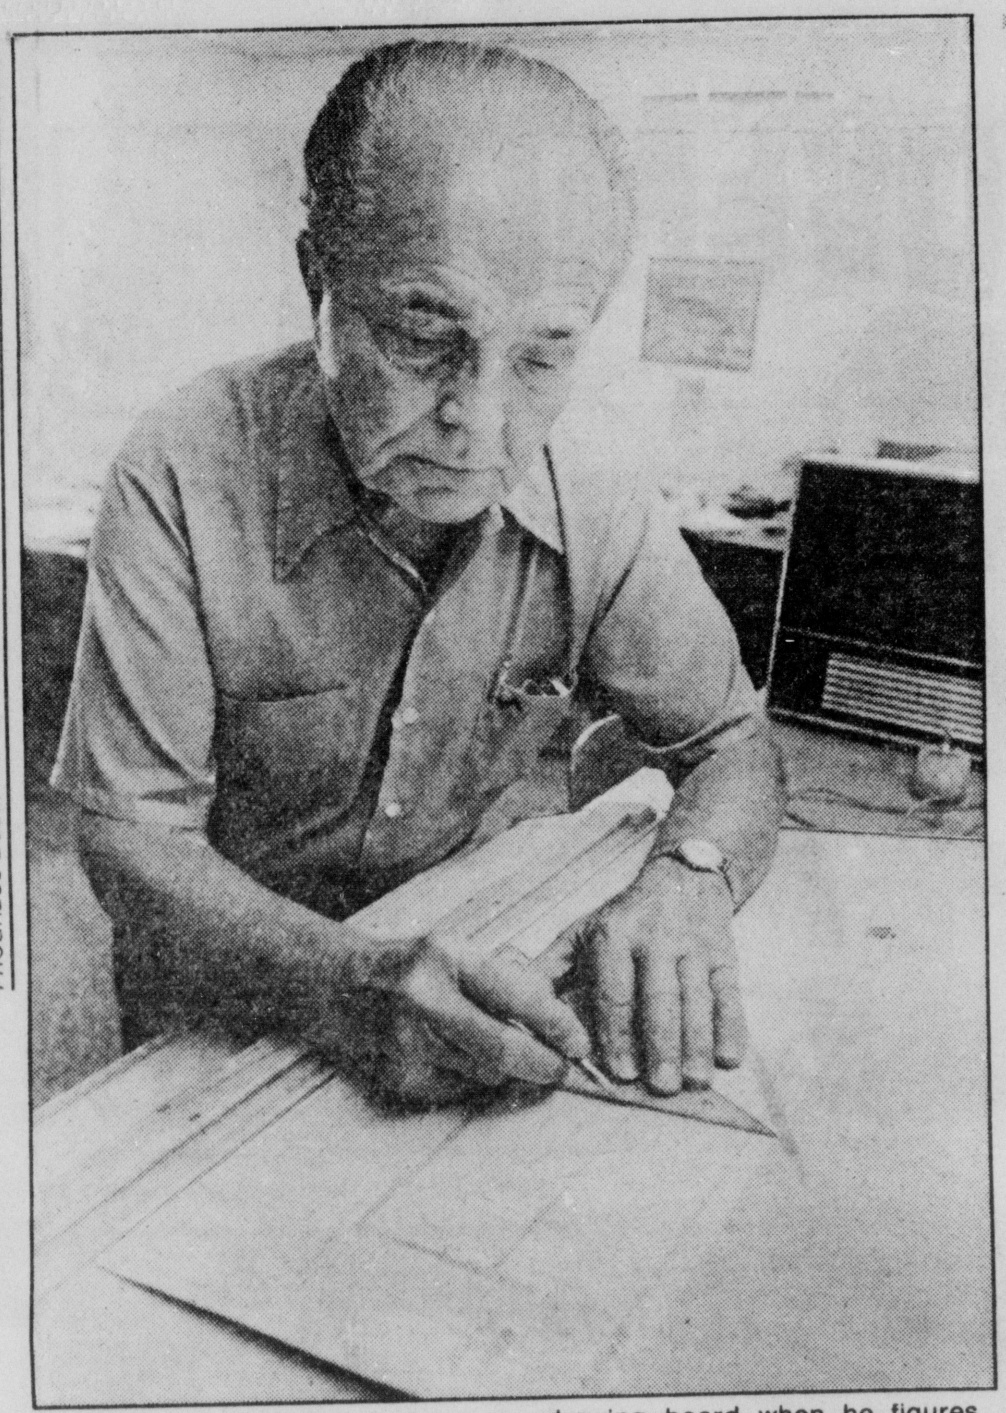
An addition coming to your home?



CALCULATING — Company estimator Basil Flora goes to the drawing board when he figures designs for additions to homes.

Wish you had additional room for holiday entertaining?

Providing that additional family room, bedroom or bathroom is the business of Reliable Builders at 8926 Benson Ave., Suite D, Montclair.

"We're a well established contracting firm which is large enough to meet the client's needs but small enough to guarantee personal attention and supervision," said owner Norman Phillips.

Phillips has been active in the contracting business for 20 years.

His firm serves the entire valley and is state licensed, bonded and insured, he said.

All materials and labor are guaranteed for one year by the firm. All plans and permits are also provided by Reliable Builders.

The company estimator, Basil Flora, explained that when a customer seeks any type of home addition or remodeling he visits the home and discusses the needs with the family.

"Each addition design is different and many things must be taken into consideration," Flora pointed out. In addition to the requirements of the family, the addition must be compatible with the design and construction of the rest of the house.

"We are proud of designing and building additions that do not look like something added to an existing structure but rather like an integral part of the home," Flora said.

"Of course, all estimates are free and we have financing available," added Phillips.

Phillips explained that after the plans are designed and approved by the customer, the actual construction is subcontracted to local firms, all licensed businesses.

All phases of the construction are personally supervised by Reliable Builders to assure the complete satisfaction of the home owner.

"We can build anything the customer wishes or remodel an existing room or structure," said Phillips. "Most of the additions at present are family rooms, but many home owners are adding bedrooms, additional baths and enlarged kitchens."

Reliable Builders handles the complete package for the owner so that he deals with just one firm.

Phillips said he's seen many changes in the construction industry during his more than 20 years of experience. "But one thing which has not changed is our policy of providing the customer with the best quality and workmanship at the most reasonable price available in the valley."

The firm has moved three times in the past few years to provide additional space for its expansion. It was previously located in Pomona.

Also staffing the firm's headquarters are Miss Marcia Phillips, receptionist and bookkeeper, and Hap Genung.

By R.E. MORSBERGER

(Robert E. Morsberger is professor of English at Cal Poly, Pomona.)

This is not the usual sort of book by or about movie stars that has been proliferating lately, while most of the latter tend to be gossipy and anecdotal. Cottrell has written a serious and scholarly study of the performer, director, and manager universally acclaimed as the greatest actor of the 20th Century.

A full-dress biography of Olivier is thus as legitimate as one of Burbage or Garrick and is of considerable value to students of literature and of theatre and film history as well as of interest to movie fans.

Olivier began acting at the age of 10, when he played Brutus in "Julius Caesar." Ellen Terry caught the performance and wrote in her diary, "The small boy who played Brutus is already a great actor."

At 14, he played Katherine in "The Taming of the Shrew," and Sybil Thorndike called him "The best Katherine I ever saw.

Today, at 68, he is the world's most honored actor: winner of the Academy Award, numerous Emmies, and countless awards for stage acting, a knight of the British Empire, and Lord Olivier, peer of the realm.

Yet his career has had its ups and downs and is by no means a string of unbroken successes.

He relinquished the lead in "Journey's End," destined to be a brilliant hit, in order to star in a stage version of "Beau Geste" that flopped.

He played in a series of forgotten movies in the early 1930s and was rejected as Garbo's leading man in "Queen Christina."

After becoming a superstar in "Wuthering Heights," he produced and starred in a disastrous "Romeo and Juliet" in 1940.

He was a matinee idol for only three years (1939-41) and then entered the British Fleet Air Arm during the war. Several of his later films were boxoffice failures, and he sometimes showed poor judgment in his choice of plays to produce and roles to portray.

Yet Olvier has been absolutely dedicated to the theatre; and his willingness to take risks and sacrifices, to experiment in new directions, has enabled him to continually expand his range, outpacing his most celebrated colleagues.

In the mid-1930s, established on stage as a light romantic lead in modern comedies, he surprised everyone by turning to Shakespeare.

After his first popular movie, "Fire over England", he went to work for 14 months at the Old Vic for a mere $20 a week but did brilliant work in "Hamlet, "Henry V," and "Twelfth Night." After completing "Henry V" as a film, he returned to the Old Vic. He gave up millions of dollars in Hollywood contracts to do stage work in Britain, where he eventually became first director of the National Theater.

Despite his theatrical eminence, Olivier is no snob; he has done vaudeville routines, Polaroid commercials, and acted in melodrama and light comedy as well as in Shakespeare. But he has insisted on artistic growth, has been able to change with the times, and has alternated the classics with such avant-garde plays as "Rhinoceros" and "Entertainer."

Cottrell's biography gives all the details. In addition to Olivier's career, we have the story of his marriages to Jill Esmond, Vivien Leigh, and Joan Plowright; his successful fight with cancer; his friendship and association with such players as Noel Coward, Ralph Richardson, Ronald Colman, Alec Guinness, Michael Redgrave, and Dame Sybil Thorndike. There are chapters on Olivier's acting techniques (he loathed the abstract theorizing of Method acting) and on his off-stage personality.

Cottrell writes well, and his book is hard to put down, but it does not altogether succeed in presenting Olivier's personality. Cottrell relies too heavily upon Olivier's associates and not enough on Olivier himself; it would help to have more quotations, letters, interviews with Olivier to give more of the man.

Again, Cottrell spends too much time quoting reviewers and not enough analyzing productions and performances. When he does, the book is at its best. Despite its limitations, it is eminently readable.

Book depicts life in Japan of past

By DUDLEY LEHEW

SHOGUN. By James Clavell. Atheneum. 802 Pages. $12.50.

Occasionally, a novel appears among the many hitting the book shelves each year that is far above the rest of the literary field. Such a book is "Shogun."

The thought of reading a novel set in 17th century Japan probably doesn't tantalize many readers these days and a price tag of $12.50 doesn't enhance the motivation for getting a copy of "Shogun." But look past those surface obstacles and you'll find a labor of love. Yes, after reading "Shogun," it's easy to conclude there's a lot of labor and a lot of love in this work.

James Clavell is a writer who can best be pictured as a master story-teller, the kind everyone at some point in his life found himself spellbound before as yarns were swapped in front of an open fire far into the night.

There are as many major characters in "Shogun" as there are in a soap opera, but Clavell's characters are unique, from the unnamed thousands of Samurai to the dozen or so main individuals.

Briefly, "Shogun" is the story of a struggle among Japan's Council of Regents in the aftermath of the death of the country's traditional singular adult ruler. The regents, or daimyos, can be compared to war lords. It is the interplay of the characters from the daimyos on down that Clavell has woven into a story so alive with personality and color that the reader is easily swept into the plot and its time in history.

The author was a prisoner of the Japanese during World War II and his intimate knowledge of the history and thinking process of the Japanese is evident in his book. It's a delicate and respectful view of the ancestry of his captors. His experience and his talent combine for a novel that should be read and enjoyed for years to come. It is a timeless and intriguing story.

Heyerdahl tells how it started

By EVE HIGGINS

FATU-HIVA. By Thor Heyerdahl. Doubleday. $10.

Thor Heyerdahl, the famous author of "Kon-Tiki," "AkuAku" and "The Ra Expeditions," began his dramatic lifework in 1936 when, with his wife Liv, he spent a year on the island of Fatu-Hiva in the Marquesas Islands.

They wanted to escape civilization, to live off the land in accordance with nature. It wasn't as easy as it sounded, even in the days before World War II.

Heyerdahl was 22, his wife 20, when they left Norway. Destination: Nature. They moved into the jungle, built a home of woven bamboo and gathered seven different kinds of bananas, among other fruits and vegetables, to eat.

But all was not idyllic existence. Conflict between Catholic and Protestant believers on the island generated hostility toward the intruders. The Heyerdals moved inland, to the high interior of their island, for a time. They explored the rugged island coastline in canoes, studying biological specimens as they went.

And they discovered ancient carvings, tikis, left by ancestors of Marquesas settlers. That discovery and later reading led Heyerdahl to make his raft voyage and to write later of the Kon-Tiki expedition and of the connection between South America and island dwellers of the South Pacific.

Heyerdahl writes with a sure sense of the good story, adding detail upon detail to make readers feel they, too, are original hippies, living with nature in a remote jungle. But the reader must conclude, with the book's author, that you can't buy a ticket to paradise.

Sons seek review of Rosenberg trial

By N. C. POLOS

WE ARE YOUR SONS: The Legacy of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, by Their Children, Robert & Michael Meeropol. Houghton-Miflin, $10.

On June 19, 1953, at New York's Sing Sing Prison convicted atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were executed.

They were convicted of masterminding a World War II plot to steal atomic-bomb secrets and deliver them to the Soviet Union. The FBI called it "the crime of the Century," and the general climate of the time was one of a little less than hysteria.

It was at the height of the Cold War (March 1951), the Russians had exploded their first atomic device in 1949, and less than a year before, the Korean War had begun. The national mood was ugly, and Judge Irving Kaufman, who presided at the Rosenbergs' trial gave voice to that mood when he pronounced the death sentence: "I consider your crime," he said, "worse than murder."

Before the Rosenbergs were executed their conviction became perhaps the most appealed case in U.S. criminal history. Their appeals reached the U.S. Supreme Court several times, and both times President Dwight D. Eisenhower refused executive clemency. To the very end the Rosenbergs insisted on their innocence.

The Rosenbergs' sons, Michael and Robert, are now men of 32 and 28. They have written this book, a kind of social document, in which they included the final letters of their parents and argue for their innocence. They state their case clearly and vigorously. "We want every American to know," insists Michael, "that our parents were murdered."

The entire case is a nightmare of complex events ranging from 1950-1954; trials, appeals, the execution, and the court battles over guardianship of the two boys. The book deals primarily with the correspondence of the Rosenbergs, much of it unpublished and the lives of the two boys who were subsequently adopted by Anne and Abel Meeropol. It also deals with arguments and evidence of the Rosenbergs' innocence in an all-out attempt to reopen the case. The sons' attorneys are now working with the Constitutional Litigation Clinic at Rutgers Law School to start proceedings to exonerate the Rosenbergs.

This is not an easy book to read. The entire subject is a grim one, and reliving the agony of the trial and its said conclusion seems like an exercise in futility. Without entering upon the complexity of the case we can sympathize with the efforts of the Rosenbergs' sons.

Those who are interested in political justice may find this book dramatic, persuasive, and provocative, and perhaps still a bit inconclusive regarding the resolution of the vital matters under consideration.

The bizarre events which surrounded the Rosenbergs' trial when mirrored against recent American history are important enough to merit serious reconsideration and this perhaps is what may make this book a valuable document.

Is this the myth of a superman?

Chess

By SHELBY LYMAN

Anyone who denies that chess is a fighting sport is crazy — although once in a lifetime a super grandmaster will appear on the scene and temporarily relegate the element of contest to oblivion. Heralded by a deifying public opinion, his mere presence will paralyze and demoralize his opponents.

The great Cuban world champion Jose Capablanca played exactly that role in his period of ascendancy. But then he came a cropper. He overconfidently entered into a match with the Russian emigre Alexander Alekhine, and encountered an unexpected spiritual principle.

Alekhine refused to be awed. Though he unflinchingly understood that Capablanca was the greatest natural player of all time with an infallible chess intuition, he never forgot that he was human. Alekhine relentlessly and objectively studied Capablanca's games, and ferreted out his shortcomings. He then formulated an appropriate strategy, applied it in the match, and convincingly won.

The story of Capablanca's defeat is masterfully told in Kotov's "Alexander Alekhine," available in paperback from R.H.M. Publishers.

Here is Alekhine's own analysis of his opponent: "A chess machine? The champion of all time? What absurd assertions about a player, in the overwhelming majority of whose games, there is, if not a direct mistake, the two or three slips which either put the win in doubt, or even let it slip altogether. In some cases the correct reply by the opponent would even leave his (Capablanca's) position severely compromised."

The match was played in Argentina in 1927 and won by a 6 to 3 score, with 25 draws. The legend of Capablanca's invincibility has been shattered. He now encountered a new problem, according to Kotov. "His opponents, who had formerly been overawed by the champion's reputation, began to play more boldly against him, and he found wins much harder to come by."

Is there a lesson to be learned from this gleaning of Chess history? Ask Bobby Fischer, for his potential opponent, Anatoly Karpov, speaks like a young man who has the Capablanca-Alekhine experience front stage in his thinking.

But so did all the Soviet players including Boris Spassky, before Reykjavik in 1972. (Remember who won that sporting event!) Though he will prove perhaps to be more resolute than Spassky, if Karpov ever plays Fischer.

Let us conclude with a crucial position from the decisive game of the 1927 World Championship match. Here Alekhine, who is a pawn ahead, played 1. P-KB4, and the game continued with 1 . . . R-B4; 2. R-R3, R-B2; 3. K-N7, R-Q2; 4. P-B5, PxP; 5. K-B6, P-B5; 6. PxP, R-Q4; 7. K-N7, R-KB4; 8. R-R4, K-N4; 9. R-K4, K-R3; 10. K-R6, RxRP; 11. R-K5, R-R8; 12. KxP, R-KN8; 13. R-KN5, R-KR8; 14. R-KB5, K-N3; 15. RxP, K-B3; 16. R-K7, reaching adjournment.

Hopelessly lost, Capablanca did not appear the following day. Instead there was the following note: "I resign the game and wish you a success as World Champion. My congratulations to your wife." An era was at an end.

etc., and Alekhine became champion

A home for trash

By STEVE ELLINGSON

It has been said that necessity is the mother of invention and that certainly is true with the trash bin shown here with TV personality Bob Barker. While a garbage can may be a necessity, it doesn't necessarily have to be publicized. No matter where you place it, or how much you paint it, it still remains a garbage can. And of course, it doesn't take dogs long to learn how to tip the thing over . . . and then the flies take over.

With this container you simply lift the top to dump trash in and open the doors to pull the cans out. It's weatherproof and also discourages animals and flies. Of course, it also makes a dandy potting shed for home gardeners. It's large enough to store fertilizers, pots, small implements and the like, yet small enough to use in a limited space. It's versatile . . . perhaps you will think of many other uses for it.

Here's another project that amateurs can undertake with success when you use the easy-to-follow pattern. Complete directions, a list of needed materials and lots of illustrations are included. A full-size pattern for the pig caricature is printed right on the pattern.

To obtain the trash bin pattern No. 340, send $1.25 (includes postage and handling). If airmail is desired, send $1.50 by cash, check or money order to: Steve Ellingson, Pomona Progress Bulletin Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, California 91409. New! Stars bothered by bad publicity

By STEPHEN FORD

NEW YORK — (NEA) — A moldy maxim of show biz promo has certainly worked wonders for one of Country & Western's queenbees, Loretta Lynn: Doesn't matter what kind of exposure you get so long as they spell your name right.

Her grasp on the ladies' C&W throne threatened by Dolly Parton and Donna Fargo took on a little adrenalin with the success of Robert Altman's film "Nashville", Though Ms. Lynn reacted viciously to actress Ronee Blakely's portrayal of a country queen pretty obviously based on her life, Loretta enjoyed a rush of popularity.

In and out of hospitals nine times over the past year, Loretta recuperates at her lucrative dude ranch in Hurricane Mills, Tenn. Thanks to renewed interest in her albums as a result of all this free publicity, her battered ego has been softly buffeted by a windfall of record royalties. And Loretta, as much the tycoon as a chanteuse, plans to add a zoo to her guest ranch and will convert a dilapidated mill into the Loretta Lynn Museum. Such modesty.

Fair opens for 2 moms, 3 children, 45,000 others

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

Cathy Frame was exhausted.

She had spent nearly four hours Friday dragging her two children, aged 4 and 1, around the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds in Pomona.

It was opening day of the 48th edition of the fair, Mrs. Frame of Eagle Rock was just one of many mothers trying hard to entertain their children — and remain sane at the same time.

It wasn't easy. Forty-five thousand persons had shown up for the opening day which was filled with activity. Officials estimate 100,000 will be on hand today.

Mrs. Frame's four-year-old daughter, Missy, had been asking for a ride on the ferris wheel since she arrived. "It was the first thing she saw," sighed her mother.

"Older people are more afraid of ferris wheels than younger ones," she explained. "I'm not too crazy about that wheel."

Of course, Missy wouldn't take the ride by herself. She wanted her mother to join her. "Maybe we'll do it before we leave," Mrs. Frame promised, with a look of fear in her eyes.

A reporter was told not to mention the ferris wheel too loudly, or Missy might recall her day-long plea.

But she was afraid he might wake up. "He'd better sleep for a while, because he skipped his morning nap."

The Frames and Thomans were just two families enjoying the fair's first day, complete with a giant afternoon parade, numerous exhibits, contests, demonstrations and the free rodeo in the grandstand.

The crowd seemed light in mid-afternoon, but picked up by evening, with the return of the rodeo after a year's absence.

With the temperature at a comfortable 75 degrees during the day, tempers were not as short as they might have been, said one Pomona police officer.

"Usually it's hot during the fair," Officer Walt Barkley noted. "But it's cool weather, and the people have been fantastic. And that's unusual."

Barkley said he had not heard of any incidents of vandalism or other activities yet. "But remember, it's just opening day."

For today's program, two parades at 1 and 2 p.m. will feature the South Gate Youth Band and Anaheim Warriors, and the Wilson High band of Hacienda Heights.

Fair Queen Beth Redinius and her court will be presented in the Grandstand at 3 p.m. and Chinese Dragons and Lion Dancers will perform at 6:30 in the clock tower area.

The horse racing program continues at 1 p.m. in the Grandstand and the free rodeo is scheduled for 8 p.m. Continuous free entertainment is offered in the Amphitheatre, Mexican Village, and Plaza Of the States.

Today is Special Recognition Day for Pomona's Centennial, City of Ontario and Ontario Motor Speedway.

Ford acts to keep U.S. secrets from House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forcing a possible constitutional confrontation, President Ford cut off House Intelligence Committee access to U.S. secrets Friday because of its disclosure of four classified words. He asked the committee to return all secret documents in its possession.

A committee source said the four words show that U.S. intelligence agencies knew that Egyptian communications security was tightened just before the 1973 Middle East war.

Asked if the words "and greater communication security" was the phrase that U.S. intelligence authorities did not want made public, the source said, "I can't tell you you're wrong. You won't be embarrassed by saying that."

The disputed words are in five sentences the committee released Thursday from U.S. intelligence reports showing that right up to the day the 1973 Arab-Israeli war broke out, U.S. intelligence agencies indicated there would be no war.

In one, the Defense Intelligence Agency said the day the war broke out Oct. 6, 1973, there were no indications that Egypt intended to or was prepared to fight Israel.

The DIA summary said, "Mobilization of some personnel, increased readiness of isolated units, and greater communication security are all assessed as parts of the (military) exercise routine."

DALLAS (AP) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller said Friday one of the big troubles with America is a heritage that leads it to go overboard in helping the needy.

"One of the problems in this country is that we have this Judeo-Christian heritage of wanting to help those in need," Rockefeller said.

"And this, when added to some political instincts, sometimes causes people to promise more than they can deliver.

"And I think this nation has overpromised, under-delivered, overspent, and now we are in financial trouble," Rockefeller said.

"To the degree that I was a party to it," the vice president added, "all I can say is that one learns, the hard way, and that now we see what has happened and that the federal government has a deficit of $60 billion, maybe $70 billion coming up.

"This can't go on," he said.

Rockefeller made the statement twice, first in a speech to the National Federation of Republican Women and later in a television interview taped for four Dallas stations.

It came in a busy day of political activity in which Rockefeller kept saying he was not a candidate for the GOP vice-presidential nomination next year but refused to say he would drop off the ticket voluntarily.

Rockefeller's theme was the same that he and President Ford have followed in a recent flurry of activity which the GOP agrees is political but which the White House insists is not campaigning for 1976.

The vice president said the Ford Administration wants to solve the unemployment crisis, provide financial security for worried Americans, but block Democratic remedies which could crush free society.

"The President knows the American people rightfully want job opportunities, not welfare," Rockefeller said to applause from the Republican women.

Rockefeller said if the present rate of government spending on domestic social programs continues the federal government will eat up 55 per cent of the gross national product in the next 25 years.

"Clearly, this country cannot survive as a free society with over half its gross national product absorbed by the government," he said.

Late night and morning low clouds and local fog with hazy sunshine in the afternoon today and Sunday. Slightly warmer days. Lows of 52 to 58 this weekend; highs between 80 and 86. Sunset today, 7:01 p.m. Sunrise Sunday, 6:33 a.m.; sunset Sunday, 6:59 p.m.

Car linked to Hoffa to stay in custody

DETROIT (AP) — A car belonging to the son of a reputed Mafia figure which the FBI believes may have been used in an abduction of former Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa will remain in the custody of the government, a judge ruled Friday.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas P. Thornton said the car where trained dogs detected Hoffa's scent in the back seat and trunk should be kept in FBI custody and the owner should appear before the federal grand jury probing Hoffa's disappearance.

On the day Hoffa disappeared, young Giacalone, 22, reportedly loaned his car to Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, a Teamsters organizer who was raised by the Hoffa family and is regarded by Hoffa's son, James P., as a prime suspect in his father's disappearance.

O'Brien told the FBI he used the car July 30 to deliver a salmon to the home of a Teamsters official, Robert Holmes.

The Holmes residence is a five-to 10-minute drive from the Machus Red Fox Restaurant in Bloomfield Township where Hoffa was last seen standing outside appearing as though he was waiting for someone.

The ex-Teamsters boss told his family before he went to the restaurant he was on his way to meet with the elder Giacalone, but the reputed mob figure denied any such meeting was supposed to take place.

Last week, U.S. District Court Judge Robert DeMascio ordered that the car, seized Aug. 9, be returned to Giacalone because an FBI affidavit used to obtain a search and seizure warrant failed to show probable cause that the auto was involved in the Hoffa disappearance.

The U.S. Attorney's office issued a grand jury subpoena for the car Monday and Thornton said in his decision that the subpoena does not have to meet the "probable cause" test.

President delivers talk despite incident, two threats of bombs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A man with a .45-caliber pistol was spotted by a policeman on a catwalk in Kiel Auditorium an hour before President Ford was to speak there. The man escaped despite an extensive police search and the President delivered his speech on time and without incident.

Ford was either en route to a television station some 10 blocks away or already at the station. Police had conflicting reports.

The police command post earlier had said the gunman was spotted in a nearby street and a search of the parking garage was launched. However, a spokesman said the search was due to a separate report of a man on the roof of the parking garage.

Police found an elderly parking lot attendant who said he had seen no one else.

There also were two bomb threats, each telephoned by a woman, and the bomb squad removed a box, about the size of a shoe box, from the auditorium, police said. Officers said it contained no explosives.

The potential threats to the President's safety came only a week after a young woman in Sacramento, Calif., pointed a .45-caliber automatic at Ford.

The incident apparently caused Ford to wear a protective vest Thursday when he campaigned through New Hampshire. The President would not confirm he was wearing such a garment.

Calcaterra said he saw the armed man about 30 feet from the end of the catwalk. He described the man as about six feet tall, weighing 170 pounds and wearing a black wig, white shirt and dark pants.

"I yelled 'Hey, what are you doing there?'" the officer said and the man turned and fled through a door. Calcaterra said he ran after the man, but lost him in the labyrinth of passageways in the auditorium and adjoining structures.

Ford left his car when it arrived at Kiel and went directly inside without pausing to shake hands or speak with the crowd. The entrance had been cleared of all spectators and newsmen.

The crowd in the auditorium was not told about either the gunman or the bomb threats.

Kiel Auditorium switchboard operator Anne Mossbacher said she received the first threat at 1:50 p.m. from a woman who said she had planted a bomb in the building that would explode in 10 minutes.

A SWEET VIEW OF THE PARADE

1,300 women stage prayerful antibusing protest in Boston

By The Associated Press

Hundreds of women staged antibusing marches in Boston on Friday — contrasting with a quiet school integration scene in Louisville, Ky. — as the first full week of busing in both areas ended.

Mothers' organizations in South Boston, Charlestown, Hyde Park and the North End staged prayer marches, reciting the Rosary and praying before statues at churches and on front lawns along their routes.

Patrick Brady, a Boston police department spokesman, estimated that 1,300 to 1,400 women pushed baby carriages or carried infants in peaceful protests.

President Ford, in an interview in St. Louis, urged Bostonians to obey the law but repeated his opposition to busing.

Meanwhile, most remaining restrictions on antibusing protests in Louisville-Jefferson County were lifted and 100 of the 400 state police called in to help stem disturbances last weekend were sent home.

Large demonstrations were allowed, but there still were restrictions on gatherings along busing routes. The Kentucky National Guard remained on duty and school buses still still carried armed escorts.

About 700 South Boston women, led by City Councilor Louise Day Hicks holding silver Rosary beads, recited prayers and carried American and Irish flags as they marched to a Roman Catholic church near South Boston High School.

"We have pleaded our case on every level of the government and the courts," said Mrs. Hicks, a staunch busing opponent. "Now we have gone to a much higher court."

In Hyde Park, about 300 women wearing armbands with "U.S. Mothers" printed on them walked to another church. A dozen men with armbands reading "U.S. Marshals" were stationed near Hyde Park High School.

About 250 to 300 protesters in Charlestown marched to St. John's Church singing hymns and chanting the Lord's Prayer.

American flags were carried by many of the 75 to 100 North End women who blocked traffic for about 10 minutes while praying for peace.

Nixon's legal expense near $500,000 mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon's legal expenses have neared the half million dollar mark in his fight for possession of his presidential papers and tapes.

Rabbi Baruch Korff, Nixon's chief fund raiser, gave a $23,000 check to one of the former President's lawyers Friday and said that brought the total payments to $250,000.

"I had hoped at one time that the total bill wouldn't exceed $500,000," Korff said. But, he added, he feels sure the court fights still ahead will cause the figure to go higher.

The firm of Miller Cassidy, Larroca and Lewin, which represents Nixon in the complex constitutional challenge, billed the former president $64,841.25 for the months of July and August. The firm's statement showed there was a balance of $238,448.30 after the $23,000 payment.

Korff is head of the Nixon Justice Fund. He returned to the volunteer post at Nixon's request, after announcing a few months ago he was resigning.

'More than just milking cows'

House committee probes all sides of dairy issue

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

There is much more to running a dairy than just milking cows. Dairymen must also watch the price of grain and hay, importing of dairy products, and the cost of transporting grain to the West Coast.

These were some of the problems discussed Friday when a House of Representatives dairy subcommittee held a public hearing at the Ontario City Hall.

The committee continues the hearing today in Fresno where more testimony will be received from those associated with the dairy industry.

Receiving testimony Friday were Rep. James Jeffords, R-Vt., Rep. Jim Lloyd, D-35th Dist., and Rep. George Brown, D-36th Dist. The members reported they were going to various dairy communities to get a better perspective of the dairy industry and its problems.

Information received will be used when specific legislation is being proposed, they added.

She criticized both the dairy and poultry industries for "dumping" products to keep up the prices. "When they dump and destroy food, we do not have an excess supply. We have hungry people. It should not only be immoral but also illegal to dump products when people are hungry," she said.

Mrs. Matthews also attacked the minimum pricing law for dairy products by recalling that a market manager couldn't sell butter at a reduced price without facing a fine for each pound purchased.

"It appears we have price fixing in this particular industry. We have made this legal."

Jay Goold, executive vice president of the California Milk Producers, focused on the milk producers problems when he testified that many dairymen are now struggling for survival.

As one reason for this, he noted that within the past few days, dairymen have received notices from grain companies that the price of grain is increasing again this week by $10 to $15 a ton.

He also reported that California is a grain deficit state and depends on imports from other areas to meet livestock demands. "Being a deficit state, we find ourselves with a transportation rate problem.

"We believe many of the old standby methods of freight rate setting must be reviewed and that California livestock and dairy producers must receive more equitable treatment under the freight rate setting mechanism."

Goold also urged that "outdated" estate tax laws be revised to ease the transfer of the business enterprise within the family.

"We see maintenance of family dairying as the most important single factor which will help contribute to the viability of the industry," he added.

Roy Camblin, San Bernardino County's agriculture commissioner, said the county's dairy industry leads the nation in gross milk production with 1974 income reaching $151 million.

The average size dairy here has 400 milk cows and $485,000 valuation,he said.

Camblin said his office urged that the dairy industry be nurtured and encouraged as food and open space are increasing important factors in California and the United States.

He also noted this broad tax-base industry with its small demand for services is an important fiscal factor for all the citizens. "Suburbs do not pay their way. Industry must be counted upon to make up the deficits."

John D. Aalberts, president of the Pacific Dairymen, Inc., reported dairy farmers have been hit hard during the past several years by inflation that has plagued all segments of the economy. And he reported government actions have made dairy farmers' efforts to cope with this inflation difficult or impossible.

He cited the importing of dairy products as one major problem area. Aalberts said his association did not share the view of relying on foreign production of basic manufactured dairy products as this would create uncertain fluid milk supplies caused by depressed prices for the necessary reserve milk.

"It would no doubt spell economic doom to many dairy farmers and in the long run, higher prices to the consumers for manufactured dairy products.

"The need to convert this necessary reserve milk into manufactured dairy products is causing our dairy farmer members deep concern about future trade talks and the possibility of a trade-off of a major segment of the American market for dairy products in exchange for some hoped-for advantage for other American commodities."

Aalberts also urged that any new farm legislation contain features of House Resolution 4296 which calls for a minimum dairy price support of 80 per cent of parity, together with the quarterly adjustment of the price support level to reflect the rapid changes in the cost of production faced by dairy farmers.

The plight of a local dairyman was told by Mike Dolan, owner of the Driftwood Dairy. He recalled consolidating four dairies into one to provide a more efficient operation.

But then he was later hit by increased grain prices, which required him to borrow money.

"In May of 1974, we felt we would survive. Then in January, the grain increased $25,000 a month, price of beef dipped $20,000 a month, and the bank increased its rate of interest."

Dolan said he later leased out his milk production operation but has remained in the distribution business. He still owns the dairy and purchases milk from that operation.

He also reported the cost of shipping grain by rail from the East to Ontario is higher than if transported to coastal ports for overseas shipment.

Cal Poly man regains post in court suit

Bert Hammond, former director of Cal Poly's Urban Affairs Center, has won a court suit against the university and has been re-instated as a faculty member with full professor status.

The suit, settled in Pomona Superior Court this past week, ended part of the controversy surrounding Hammond's termination as UAC director and the question of his tenure and professor status.

In a response filed by the state attorney general's office on behalf of President Robert Kramer of Cal Poly, the university admitted Hammond is an academic employe, had full professor status effective Sept. 14, 1970, and was entitled to tenure status as a full professor for more than three years.

Hammond, a Claremont resident, has been assigned to a position in the counseling department. He said his attorneys would continue legal action against the university for reassignment to a teaching position preferably in the behavioral sciences department.

Controversy over the Urban Affairs Center and its director surfaced in early 1975 when the Affirmative Action Ad Hoc Committee presented a report to the college supporting retention of both. The committee, a group of students and community representatives organized in August 1974 to investigate harassment of minority faculty and administrators, presented information and documents as evidence that Hammond had fulfilled the conditions and qualifications of his job.

When college administrators re-affirmed the elimination of the UAC and the firing of its director, students and citizens in the valley organized to overturn the decision through community pressure.

Although the ad hoc committee pointed out that Hammond was hired in a job description and salary rank of full professor and should therefore be re-assigned to a teaching position, university representatives remained adamant.

After numerous continuances, the matter has been settled legally and Hammond is now on campus as an employe.

"I accepted the counseling position with the understanding that I will take legal action seeking a teaching position," said Hammond. "I will not change my status. I am a full professor at the university. That's what I applied for and that's what I expect to get."

Hammond pointed out that he had not raised the issue of prejudice in the original suit. However, in the continued legal action, "I am raising it because now it is obvious. I want to continue my academic research and teaching. Black and white students should be exposed to me as a full professor, not merely as someone whose office you walk into and say I have a problem."

SLAIN AT PRISON — The body of Tennessee State Prison inmate, identified as Anthony Satterfield, 25, is carried from the cell block where he was found with his throat slashed. Satterfield, who was serving a 20-year sentence for armed robbery, was found at noon Friday. Ten inmates were apparently shot by guards and 26 other persons were hurt during a riot at the prison located in Nashville. The riot was sparked by the substitution of bologna for pork chops on the prison menu.

Murder trial recess called

Prosecution and defense attorneys recessed for the weekend Friday in the midst of their jury selection for the murder trial of Samuel Lorie Guardalibene, 60, of Upland, accused of taking part in the slaying of a 27-year-old Ontario man in September 1974.

Guardalibene, arrested by Ontario police last January, is accused of killing 27-year-old Joseph Allen Gomez of Ontario whose body was found off of Patton Road in Riverside County in early January.

Gomez's body lay in a shallow grave for nearly three months until another man, subsequently convicted of second degree murder in the case, led officers to the scene. Gomez had been shot in the head in late September. Police believe that he was killed in the Ontario city dump site and his body then moved over the county line by the suspects.

In the case, police originally arrested Guardalibene, Thomas Bradley Telford Sr., Ronald Lawrence Marshall, and two women. Only the three men were held for trial with one of the women, Mary Ramirez Pacheco, 26, becoming a prosecution witness.

Telford was convicted of second degree murder by a West Valley Superior Court jury in June. In the Telford trial, police introduced statements by Telford admitting he had pulled the trigger of a .22 rifle that killed Gomez. But, in the trial, Telford told officers that he was forced to kill Gomez by Guardalibene.

Chappaquiddick police records vanish again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The original police records on the Chappaquiddick incident involving Sen. Edward M. Kennedy reportedly have vanished for the second time from the Edgartown, Mass., police department files.

Two former chiefs of the police force on Martha's Vineyard say the documents were returned to the department last April, and one of them says they were still there when he left in June.

The disappearance of the documents was reported by Carl Gottlieb, a Hollywood script writer, in a recently-published book about the filming of the shark epic movie, "Jaws," at Martha's Vineyard in the summer of 1974.

Gottlieb said he was told by Jesse Oliver III, then the Edgartown police chief, that the papers had unaccountably vanished from the files.

Reportedly included were the original police report and a copy of Kennedy's first formal statement about the July 18, 1969 mishap in which a car, which Kennedy says he was driving, plunged off a bridge and killed a 28-year-old woman passenger, Mary Jo Kopechne.

In Essex Junction, Vt., Police Chief Dominick J. Arena said he had taken some of the records when he quit as head of the Edgartown police department in 1973. Arena said he wanted them to help him answer questions from newsmen and others about Chappaquiddick.

He admitted being "red-faced" upon discovering that he had taken documents without leaving copies behind. But last April, Arena says, he made copies for himself and sent all the originals back.

Oliver backed Arena's claim, saying he had received the papers in April and restored them to the police department files. They were still there when he was suspended from the chief's post in June in an unrelated dispute with city officials, Oliver said in a telephone interview.

Aso to what might have caused the records to vanish a second time or why present department officials can't find them, Oliver said, "I have no idea. That's their problem."

Robbery complaint against two sought

Claremont police today planned to seek a local robbery complaint against two young valley men being held in Oceanside in connection with an attempt to shoot an Oceanside police sergeant.

The two are Richard Thomas Budd, 18, 9367 Pradera Ave., Montclair, and 20-year-old Danny Senn, a former Claremont resident now living at the Pradera Avenue address. Also being held in connection with the Oceanside incident was Senn's brother, Robin Senn, 22.

Claremont police named Budd and Danny Senn as suspects in the robbery early Sunday of the Straw Hat Pizza Parlor at 1065 W. Foothill Blvd.

In connection with that case, Claremont Detective Gus Kitterle has asked the public's aid in locating a heavy, Army overcoat and a pair of sunglasses believed to have been tossed from the car used by the robbers as they drove west in Foothill Boulevard after the holdup. A police search for the items failed to find them.

In Oceanside, Lt. Robert Key said Budd fired a blast from a shotgun at Sgt. Gregory Fried after Fried stopped to investigate at a car wash early Tuesday. The blast missed Fried and hit a steel stanchion. Budd gave up when Fried fired back, Key said. The Senns, who had driven away, were stopped nearby by other officers.

Picketing firemen halt trucks

"We're tring to shut down the city by halting deliveries of supplies of all kinds," said Lt. Jack Rinne, president of Fire Fighters Association Local 1247. "Maybe if we get the businessmen mad enough, they'll put pressure on the city to bargain with us in good faith."

City manager John Taylor said his office was receiving calls from local businesses upset by trucks not coming through. He said observers from his office noted that firemen at some access roads to Berkeley had little effect on Teamster drivers, while pickets at other spots aggressively flagged down the trucks and convinced them to turn around.

Taylor said a special city council meeting had been called for 1 p.m. Saturday to discuss the escalation of the strike by the Berkeley Fire Fighters Association Local 1127.

"I think they're trying to shut down the city, but I don't think they could be terribly effective," Taylor said.

2 sought in slaying of woman

SAN BERNARDINO (AP) — Deputies said they were searching campgrounds today for a young couple that disappeared after the strangulation of a 79-year-old Devore widow who had given them shelter.

Fred Wilson, 22, of San Bernardino, and Larrie Carter, 19, address unknown, were named Thursday in a murder warrant in the death of Anna Gertrude Mills last Aug. 27.

Mrs. Mills was found with rope burns on her neck inside her car on a lonely stretch of road near her home. She owned a 47-acre ranch in the Devore area and had frequently given shelter to transients, deputies said.

The couple, who met the woman while hitchhiking, had lived with Mrs. Mills about a week before they reported her missing. Wilson and Miss Carter disappeared before the body was found two days after the report, a spokesman said.

An undetermined amount of cash and a .410 gauge shotgun was reported missing. The shotgun has been recovered, deputies said, but they said forged checks have since been cashed against the Mills account.

Lounge, site for retarded on Upland council agenda Monday

Four public hearings which could attract opposition from residents are scheduled at the meeting of the Upland City Council Monday at 7 p.m. in the Upland City Hall.

Madelyn Hayes has requested a conditional use permit to establish a guest home for the mentally retarded in a C4 zone (highway commercial) at 965 N. Second Ave., Upland, which is south of Foothill Boulevard on the west side of Second Avenue.

Also to be heard is a request by Crowell-Leventhal for a permit to establish a restaurant and cocktail lounge in a C-4 zone located at the northeast corner of Mountain Avenue and Arrow Highway. The establishment would be called the Magnolia Peach Restaurant.

Lesney Development Co.'s request for a zone change on 10 acres of land at the southeast corner of 14th Street and Mountain Avenue will also be heard at the council meeting. The developer wants the zoning changed from A1 (crops) to R1-C (single family homes).

Among other business to be considered at the council meeting is a request by Hopkins Development Co. for creation of a median break and left turn lane on Mountain Avenue north of 16th Street to permit access by northbound traffic to Mountain Plaza Shopping Center to be located at the northwest corner of Mountain Avenue and 16th Street.

Two tentative tract maps will also be considered.

Crowell/Leventhal's proposed development of 62 lots on the east side of Mountain Avenue between 18th and 19th Streets in a residential zone has been approved by the Planning Commission.

Also approved by the commission and submitted to the council for its consideration is a tentative tract for 62 lots on the eastside of Wilson Avenue north of Shannon Street to be developed by Mark III Homes.

With him are Leo Smentowski, national vice president, and Bob Wohleater, past national vice president, right. The banner was shown to local members at their Thursday meeting at Arbor restaurant in Upland. The chapter took 13th place in national competition because of its management in four major areas — business management, communication and information about the club, educational and professional development, programming and membership. The Pomona Valley Chapter competed against 120 chapters in its division.

Pomona tot strangled by chair strap

The victim, John E. Casas, 1545 E. Kingsley Ave., failed to respond to resuscitation efforts at the hospital and was pronounced dead shortly before 11:30.

Pomona police reported that the child had been left unattended in the high chair, strapped in around his waist. He was found a few minutes later by his mother, Mrs. Steven R. Casas, slumped unconscious in the chair with the strap caught beneath his chin. San Bernardino County Pathologist Dr. Ronald Rivers' autopsy revealed that the victim died of asphyxia as the result of being strangled by the strap, Deputy Coroner Harvey Castro said Friday.

O-M district seeking 5-10 choral directors

The Ontario-Montclair School District is looking for five to 10 choral directors to work in the elementary schools.

District Music Consultant Carl Schafer said the qualifications for the directors are ability to sight read on piano, sight sing and to accompany on the piano. He said that the choral assistants would be hired from people in the community. College music students, private music teachers, and church choir directors are suitable candidates.

The choral assistants will not be hired on a salary or hourly basis, but will be "contracted to perform a service," Schafer said. The teachers will conduct the elementary students in a minimum of 12 rehearsals and one performance. They will not be confined to one school but may serve several of the district's 22 elementary schools.

Schafer said that the choral assistants are hired because "we don't have enough music teachers to cover the whole district. We have only 13 full-time music teachers, and that is not enough for over 15,000 students. These choral assistants will help us reach most of our elementary students before they enter junior high, where they receive more intensive training."

Trial over nurse-killing will start

The defendant is Gregory Thomas, 2125 Heather Way, who also is charged with rape and burglary in the slaying of Miss Tessie Fern Williams in her small home at 645½ N. Huntington Blvd.

The trial, in the court of recently-assigned Pomona Superior Court Judge Robert M. Takasugi, is expected to last between two and three weeks. The prosecutor is Deputy Dist. Atty. Robert F. Kuhnert. Pomona attorney Joe Borgess Jr. represents Thomas.

Kuhnert said that he will seek the death penalty against Thomas and has alleged the so-called "special circumstances" now required in a capital case.

Thomas was sentenced to one year in the county jail last June on a burglary conviction not related to the murder case.

New restaurant opens in Pomona

The Acapulco, a new Mexican food restaurant, will celebrate its grand opening in Pomona today.

Nick Montoya, director of operations, announced that the restaurant, located at 510 E. Foothill Blvd., will operate seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. and until midnight on Fridays and Saturdays.

Ray Marshall, owner and executive chef of Acapulco, said a portion of the restaurant's proceeds on Sunday will be donated to the Ontario-Pomona Association for Retarded Persons in Montclair.

Marshall was recently honored by the Los Angeles Restaurant Writers' Association as "Chef of the Year, 1975." The same organization named the restaurant's crab meat enchilada as "Specialty Dish of the Year" in 1974.

The Pomona restaurant is the fifth in the Acapulco chain. Others are located in Arcadia, Pasadena, Redondo Beach and Sun Valley.

The menu features a wide variety of beef, cheese, chicken, pork and chorizo dishes, and a number of specialty dishes including carnitas, machaca, ceviche, chile verde and pork, chicken and steak picado.

Seven different sauces, each explained on the menu, may be selected, said Lou Torres, manager of the new restaurant.

The new restaurant is located in the building formerly housing the Heritage House Restaurant, although more than $100,000 in remodeling has been completed for the opening of the Acapulco.

A La Verne man has been sentenced to state prison as the result of his conviction in Pomona Superior Court last June on charges of kidnaping and raping a Northern California coed.

John Harold Nelson, 36, 1139 E. Gladstone Ave., was sentenced by Pomona Superior Court Commissioner Jess Whitehill. Nelson faces a prison term of from three to 50 years.

Nelson, a truck driver, was ruled guilty by a jury which pondered the verdict less than one day. The trial lasted five days.

The victim, who attends Cal State Stanislaus at Turlock, testified that Nelson picked her up near Manteca Sept. 1 of last year along Highway 99 after her car had a flat. She said he imprisoned her in his truck all the way to Glendora and raped her before letting her out near Glendora Community Hospital.

Nelson recently underwent a 90-period of pre-sentencing psychiatric and physical examination at the California Institution for Men at Chino. The recommendation to Commissioner Whitehill was that Nelson be sent to prison, authorities said.

Subesquent forums are scheduled on the third Wednesday of each month, except in December when it is planned on the second Wednesday.

He'll knock on doors

Congress hopeful will skip donations, publicity

Nelson Gentry plans to carry his campaign for the U.S. House of Representatives to the people — literally.

Between now and the June primary, the Montclair city councilman — who will run as a Republican — plans to knock on 20,000 doors within the 35th Congressional District.

He also plans to pay his entire campaign expenses, accepting no donations. And he will not publicize his candidacy in newspapers, billboards or radio.

Gentry said his campaign staff will consist of himself and his wife, Lawana. And his campaign office will be located in his Montclair law office.

He will begin his person-to-person campaign Saturday when he calls on residents in Montclair. The candidate expects to contact 150 families on weekends and from 75 to 100 on weekdays.

Gentry will hand out a brief biography of himself and then ask residents how government can be improved. "I am just going to the people and answer questions and learn how I can make this job better if I win the election."

His campaign issues will include providing a tax incentive to mothers with children under 5 for not working, thus removing them from the job market; suggesting a 32-hour work week for some professions, which could provide 15 per cent more jobs and thus have an effect on welfare; and alerting victims of crimes that parents of juvenile offenders are liable up to $4,000 for damages.

On the latter issue, Gentry said if more victims know about the law, parents may become more concerned with what their children are doing.

Gentry received his law degree from the University of Oklahoma in 1969. He is a member of the Pomona First Baptist Church, Oklahoma and California bar associations, Kiwanis Club, Teamsters Union and U.S. Army Reserves. He and his wife have a son, Matthew, 4.

"The Mustard Seed, Inc." has now extended its field to more needy areas such as Boreno, Kalimantan, and the tribes in the highlands of Padua-New Guinea.

AROUND TURN The horses in the sixth race go around the first turn on the opening day of the 14-day meet at the Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona. Knight's Cross won the sixth race.

Rushing mark falls

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ricky Bell, converted from fullback to tailback, smashed the Southern Cal single game rushing record Friday night, totaling 256 yards and leading the Trojans to an easy 35-7 victory over Duke in the college football season opener for both teams.

The explosive Bell, a 215-pound junior, had 141 yards by halftime and both Southern Cal scores as the Trojans assumed a 13-0 lead. Bell scored on runs of eight and six yards.

Bell added two more touchdowns in the second half as he surpassed the single game record of 251 yards set back in 1956 by C. R. Roberts in a 44-20 victory over Texas, four years before John McKay became head coach at the school.

The 6-foot-2 Bell, who was a linebacker as a freshman and a fullback behind Dave Farmer last year, ignited the Trojans immediately after halftime.

He gained three yards on a sweep to start the series, Farmer added 20 up the middle and then Bell tacked on 21 more after taking a pitch from quarterback Vince Evans.

Five plays later Bell capped the 61-yard drive with a one-yard smash and Glenn Walker's extra point kick made the score 20-0.

The Blue Devils were befuddled by USC's young but quick defense and midway through the first quarter replaced starting quarterback Hal Spears with Bob Corbett, who moved the club.

Corbett's pitchout to tailback Art Gore late in the third quarter led to Gore's 6-yard touchdown run and Duke's only tally.

Bell had 170 yards after three quarters and with the Trojans leading just 20-7 he went back into the game and picked up 51 more yards, the last one coming on a dive at the goal line for his fourth touchdown.

Nearing the record Bell returned to the lineup for one series after Mosi Tatupu had boosted the Trojans lead to 35-7 with a 16-yard run.

He gained 13 yards on a sweep, 10 more up the middle, six more offf left tackle and six more up the middle and left the field to a standing ovation of the 56,727 fans in Memorial Coliseum.

Bell excited the crowd on the Trojans's first series when he ran for seven and 11 yards on USC's first two plays. After Dave Farmer gained three Bell tacked on another four.

Duke's defense' aided by two penalties against Southern Cal, held the Trojans in check on USC's first two series but the Trojans' young defense likewise held the Blue Devils deep in their own territory.

Midway through the first period Glen Walker's 45-yard punt kept the visitors pinned inside their 10 but three plays later punter and defensive back Bob Grupp retaliated with a 46-yard punt to pull Duke out of the hole.

Starting at their own 49 yard line the Trojans began their first march to a score and Bell's smashes plus a 15-yard personal foul against Duke brought USC it's first points of the 1975 season.

Bell ran eight yards for the touchdown.

Duke was unable to complete a pass or gain a first down with senior quarterback Hal Spears and elected at that point to go with Bob Corbett.

The senior signal caller immediately ignited Duke with two completions, both to split end Troy Slade. Duke reached the USC 38 before reserve tailback Larry Martinez fumbled a Corbett pitchout and likebacker Dave Lewis recovered for Southern Cal.

Eleven plays later Bell scored his second touchdown behind a crunching block by fullback Mosi Tatupu.

The Trojans dominated the rest of the half and Grupp's interception of a Vince Evans pass with 15 second to play prevented USC from adding to its margin.

Bell would up his first half at tailback with 141 yards rushing on 21 carries and USC had 220 yards in total offense to 98 for Duke.

Braves talk to Lasorda

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Atlanta Braves of the National League asked the Los Angeles Dodgers for permission Friday to talk with third base coach Tom Lasorda in connection with the Atlanta managing job.

Horses attract crowd

Three-year-old Albert H.B. gave jockey Bobby Howard and trainer Ted West their second victories in Pomona's opening day Foothill Stakes Friday with a record-setting triumph over favored Austin Mittler in 1.10 1/5 for six-furlongs.

Howard, defending champ at the Fair meet, rode Buck Price to a stakes record 1.10 2/5 in the first division of the Foothill last year, while West saddled Tragic Isle to win the event in 1972.

The Foothill was the gray son of Mito's fourth victory in 14 starts this season, and he now boasts a string of seven straight in which he has finished either first or second.

A crowd of 10,962, largest for an opening day at Pomona since 1970, watched Albert H.B., Austin Mittler and Sunny Valley Smoke through the stretch the first time toward the first turn.

Sunny Valley dropped back and the two favorites passed the lead back and forth until Albert H.B. finally began to take firm command around the final turn. His winning margin was three lengths, and as the second choice in the wagering he returned $5.20 for the victory.

Austin Mittler, ridden by Rudy Rosales, held off the late bid of Mr. Bold Batter to be second, with longshot Launch fourth in the field of eight sophomore colt and geldings.

Albert H.B., a Kentucky-bred, has now earned $34,575 for owner Wynn Williams in his first season of competition. The Foothill score was worth $6,600 from a gross purse of $11,100.

In other action on the opening day program, apprentice rider Sam Semkin won with his first Pomona mount, Me No Savvy in the eighth race.

An all-time record opening day mutuel handle of $1,145,010 also was produced by the large crowd, surpassing the mark set last year.

Sutton loses again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dusty Baker slugged his 17th home run of the season and rapped a run-scoring single to back the four-hit pitching of Phil Niekro and lead the Atlanta Braves past the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 Friday night.

Baker's homer staked the Braves to a 1-0 lead in the second inning. They made it 2-0 with an unearned run in the third, the result of an error by Dodgers first baseman Steve Garvey and Baker's RBI single.

Niekro, 15-12, lost his shutout in the seventh on Dave Lopes' sacrifice fly. An error by Darrell Evans led to the run.

Niekro struck out three and walked two in pitching his 13th complete game.

Don Sutton, 16-13, took the loss, failing for the seventh time to record his 17th victory. He suffered a slightly sprained ankle and left the game after pitching six innings. He turned the ankle while running out a double in the third inning.

After Baker's second-inning homer, Vic Correll singled with two out but was stranded when Larvell Blanks flied out.

In the third inning, leftfielder Lee Lacy's strong throw to the plate to nail Marty Perez cut down what would have been the Braves' third run.

In the fifth, Evans walked after two were out and Dave May singled to right, Evans taking third. But the runners were left there when Sutton got Baker to pop up.

Garvey committed his second error of the game in the sixth inning when he fumbled Mike Lum's grounder. But Garvey got Lum at second when Correll failed to sacrifice. Blanks flied out and then Niekro forced Correll to get out of the inning.

The closest the Dodgers came to scoring early in the game was in the third when Sutton doubled to right. Dave Lopes walked and when he was forced at second by Lacy, Sutton took third. But Niekro got out of it when Willie Crawford flied out.

Royals sweep two over Halos

KANSAS CITY (AP) — John Mayberry's two-run double highlighted a five-run third inning, leading the Kansas City Royals to a 7-2 victory and a sweep of their twi-night doubleheader with the California Angels Friday.

Al Cowens' run-scoring single capped a three-run first inning and Kansas City went on to a 10-2 victory in the opener.

In the nightcap, California's Don Kirkwood, 5-5, retired the first seven batters he faced and held a 2-0 lead before running into trouble in the third inning.

In the first game, the first-inning assault on Bill Singer, 714, was enough for rookie righthander Dennis Leonard, who improved his record to 13-6.

Leonard blanked the Angels on five singles through the first six innings and lost his shutout in the seventh on Bruce Bochte's two-run single.

The Royals added a run in the third on Bob Stinson's sacrifice fly, one in the fourth on Rojas' run-scoring single and two in the seventh in a rally highlighted by Amos Otis' RBI double.

In the eighth, they scored three times—one on a double by Otis and two on Stinson's single.

Brett collected six hits in the twin bill, drove in three runs and scored four.

The Royals have now beaten the Angels 12 times in succession.

After the Royals scored their five runs in the third inning of the second game, California never seriously threatened.

Mickey Rivers reached first base on an error by Tony Solaita with nobody out in the sixth but Bochte grounded into a double play.

Again in the ninth, Rivers was safe when Frank White fumbled his ground ball for an error with nobody out. Again, Bochte hit into a double play.

California plays at Kansas City again tonight with Ed Figueroa, 13-12, pitching for the Angels and Doug Bird, 9-5, for the Royals.

Kilmer stars; Chiefs win 9-7

BALTIMORE (AP) — Veteran Billy Kilmer threw touchdown passes of 84 and two yards, and the Washington Redskins scored 17 second-quarter points to trounce the fumble-prone Baltimore Colts 24-10 in a National Football League exhibition contest Friday night.

After a 48-yard field goal by Mark Moseley tied the score 3-3 early in the second period, the Redskins gained possession after the Colts failed to make good on their drive. On the first play, Kilmer connected with a wide-open Frank Grant on the Washington 47 and he romped to an easy touchdown, completing the 84-yard play.

On Washington's next possession, Kilmer completed a wobbly pass as Baltimore blitzed. Grant made the reception before tumbling out of bounds on the Colts' two. Kilmer, who completed 10 of 17 passes for 184 yards in the first half, then tossed a TD pass to the right corner of the endzone.

The Colts, who completed their exhibition season at 2-4, fumbled twice inside the Washington 25, stalled another time at the six and punted after being driven back from the 25.

Washington, 4-3 in preseason play, had not allowed Baltimore a touchdown in four consecutive exhibition games until the Colts scored on the final play of the game.

BUFFALO (AP) — Jan Stenerud's three field goals carried the Kansas City Chiefs to a 9-7 victory over the Buffalo Bills Friday night in the National Football League team's final preseason same.

A pass interception by the Chiefs' free safety, Mike Sensibaugh, on Gary Marangi with less than two minutes remaining stifled the Bills' last-ditch drive to overtake Kansas City.

Stenerud put the Chiefs in front, 6-0, with 29and 40-yard field goals in the second period and then offset Buffalo's touchdown and extra point with a 32-yard three-pointer at 3:30 into the fourth period.

Buffalo's touchdown came on a 1-yard dive by O.J. Simpson at 13:40 of the second period. John Leypoldt gave the Bills a 7-6 halftime lead with a conversion.

The victory put Kansas City at 3-3 in exhibition play, while the Bills also finished at 3-3.

The Chiefs virtually dominated the second half. Following the third-period kickoff, they ran 10 plays and did not surrender the ball to Buffalo until 8:24 remained. Buffalo got off to nine-play sequence in a five-minute stand, then the Chiefs took over again.

Alston is rehired for his 23rd year

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers announced Friday they had rehired Manager Walt Alston to lead the club again in 1976— on his 23rd consecutive one-year contract.

The 63-year-old Alston is the senior man among major league managers and only two men, Connie Mack and John McGraw, have managed one club for a longer period of time.

The announcement on the quiet-mannered Alston came from Dodger President Peter O'Malley as the club's hierarchy went through meetings to plan for next season with the team 17½ games behind National League West champion Cincinnati after winning the league the year before.

Alston took over the Dodgers in Brooklyn in 1954 and the team won the first of four World Series under him the following year.

He has managed the Dodgers to seven National League pennants.

The Dodgers also said that the entire coaching staff of Red Adams, Monty Basgall, Jim Gilliam and Tom Lasorda had all been asked back for 1976.

There was no statement from Dodger management or Alston on the rehiring, which came as no surprise.

Alston celebrated his 40th anniversary in professional baseball on June 19 of this year, marking the date in 1935 when he signed to play with Greenwood, Miss. in the East Dixie League.

His first managing job was Trenton in the Interstate League, in the Dodger organization, in 1944 and he moved to the big club 10 years later.

Surgery for Nolan Ryan

ANAHEIM (AP) — Fireballing Nolan Ryan, co-holder of the major league no-hit record with four, will undergo surgery Sept. 23 for removal of bone chips in his pitching arm, the California Angels announced Friday.

An Angel spokesman said the surgery would be performed in Houston, Tex., by Dr. Joseph King. He said doctors expect complete recovery and that Ryan will return to the team next season.

Ryan, handicapped by a series of injuries this year, pitched his last game Aug. 24.

Later the Angels announced an examination revealed the chips in the elbow and surgery was being considered.

He finished the season with a 14-12 record and a 3.45 earned run average. He struck out 186 and walked 132 in 198 innings.

WFL lowers minimum

NEW YORK (AP) — The World Football League, in an unannounced action taken a month ago, lowered its minimum salary for players from $500 to $250 per game.

And the league has put into force a rule which prohibits any club from signing a player to a fixed salary contract without specific approval of WFL headquarters.

The minimum salary change, decided upon by the WFL on Aug. 14, affects only those players signed after that date. A player signed after Aug. 14 is generally entitled to one per cent of the team's revenues from any single game and will be guaranteed at least $250 if the one per cent does not amount to that much.

Sources confirmed that any player who signed a renegotiated contract after Aug. 14 could have been forced to accept the $250 minimum contract. The Shreveport team has renegotiated a number of contracts in the past week or two in an effort to reduce expenses and thus allow the team to continue in business.

Players who signed a contract before Aug. 14 and who have not renegotiated it since, still are subject to the $500 minimum salary which the league announced earlier this year.

However, those players are not guaranteed a minimum of $500 every game. What most contracts say is that the player will receive one per cent of the team's revenues against an average of $500 per game.

Thus, the player is guaranteed to receive $9,000 over the 18-game season. If he were to get, say, $850 one week because of a certain size crowd, he would have to accept, say, $150 the following week if that was equal to one per cent of a low gate.

Also, the $500 minimum salary applied only to the 32 players on a team's regular roster. Each team is permitted to have six additional players on a taxi squad-type arrangement and may use those players on such things as special kicking teams. Those six players are only guaranteed $250 per game.

Ticket sales at some games have not been sufficient for one per cent to equal either the $500 or $250 minimums.

It is not known how many players have signed league contracts since the Aug. 14 change was made. A league official said he was sure the figure was low.

Fitzsimons takes lead

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Pat Fitzsimons, who emerged from anonymity with an upset in the Los Angeles Open earlier this year, scrambled past the game's great stars with a two-under-par 69 and took the second-round lead Friday in the $200,000 World Open Golf Tournament.

Fitzsimons, only 24 and in his third season on the tour, had a two-round total of 136, the best of his life and six shots under the grudging par on the 7,007 yards of sand hills and pine woods that make up the famed No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club.

"My putting has saved me," the red-haired Fitzsimons said. "I really haven't been hitting the ball all that well."

Jack Nicklaus had a different view of it, however.

"On this golf course, under the conditions we've had, that's a very, very good score," he said.

Fitzsimons held a one-stroke advantage over veteran Rod Funseth and rookie Howard Twitty, tied at 137.

Funseth scored an eagle three on the 16th hole for the second day in a row and shot a 70 while Twitty had a 68.

Tom Weiskopf and Ed Sneed were at 138, two shots back. Weiskopf once held the lead alone on the warm, breezy day, but caught bunkers on three of his last four holes, bogeyed them all and had to settle for a 71. Sneed shot 70.

Lee Elder, the first round leader, slipped from a 65 to a 74 and was tied at 139 with Tom Kite, who had a second-round 69, and another rookie, quiet, soft-spoken Danny Edwards. Edwards, one of the last men on the course, had to batter his way through a late-afternoon storm that kicked up just before he finished his round of 72.

Nicklaus, the season's leading money winner and the year's only four-time winner, matched par 71—"under the conditions and the way the course was set up that's not a bad round of golf," he said—and was five shots back at 141.

Lee Trevino went to a 73 and was one more stroke behind at 142.

Aztecs win is in limbo

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Three key players were ruled off the San Diego State football team, at least temporarily, and the Aztecs' 31-10 victory over University of Texas-El Paso was in limbo today.

An eligibility mixup was blamed.

The Aztecs travel to Portland for a game Saturday night with Oregon State.

In a statement issued by President Brage Golding, San Diego State announced that a new check of transfer records showed Greg Boyd, starting defensive end, was "technically ineligible" under rules of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association.

Golding's statement also said the eligibility of offensive tackle Jim Chandler and Mike Darcey, a kick specialist, will be withdrawn until an investigation of their eligibility is finished.

An unidentified PCAA member school questioned Boyd's status after the season opener against Texas-El Paso in San Diego last weekend.

At issue is a league rule which allows four years' eligibility spread over only five school years. It allows freshmen to redshirt.

"The athletes in question are innocent of all blame whatsoever," said Dr. Jim Malik, the Aztecs' athletic representive to the PCAA. He said their records were unclear as to whether their first college year had been on a full-time basis.

San Diego State, by coincidence, petitioned the PCAA to withdraw from the league less than two weeks ago and hopes to become a member of a proposed "super conference" of major schools.

Mayor will open league

Mayor Ray Lepire and several other city officials will appear at the opening day ceremonies of the Pomona Pop Warner football league at Ganesha High Sunday at 10 a.m.

The ceremonies will be followed by four football games: Pomona Sharks vs. Ontario Packers at 11 a.m.; Montclair Renegades vs. Ontario Bears at 12:30 p.m.; Pomona Steelers vs. Fontana Falcons at 2 p.m. and Pomona Bengals vs. Fontana Bucks at 3:30 p.m.

Upland diver earns honor

Christina Lamb, a 10-year-old from Upland who dives for Coach Mike Dickson on the Mt. Baldy Aquatic Diving Team, was recently chosen as one of the top two divers in her age group to represent the SPAAAU in the State Team Diving Championships in San Diego.

Miss Lamb came back from the state meet with a third place finish on the three meter and a fifth place finish on the first meter board.

The Southern Pacific Association won the overall title, the men's title and tied for the women's title.

In the 18th Annual Chula Vista Age Group and Open Diving Invitational held last weekend, the Mt. Baldy Aquatic Diving Team was again led by trophy winner Christina Lamb with her second place finish in the girls 9-10 division. Her score of 140.70 also set a team record.

Ribbon winners were Elly Lamb, sixth in the 11-12 girls division, and Chuck Lovejoy of Montclair, fifth in the mens open division. Their scores of 154.55 and 277.75 also set team records.

The diving team will be starting their fall workouts this month and encourage parents with children interested in learning basic diving skills to contact Dickson at 624-0791.

To successful season

Poly opener is the key

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

CHICO — If Cal Poly's Andy Vinci seems apprehensive about tonight's season opener, he has a good reason to be.

Vinci begins his second campaign as Poly's head football coach here in Northern California tonight against Chico State in a 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

The Broncos enjoyed their first winning record (5-3-2) in a decade last year but two of those losses were on the road against Far Western Conference teams.

Obviously, Vinci is aware of this as he hopes to escape the ambushes the Broncs ran into in 1974 at San Francisco State (21-17) and Cal State Hayward (21-7).

"Without exception, Chico State is our most important game of the season," Vinci said before leaving Pomona on the flight here.

A win in the opener would give Poly and its fans some confidence and help boost the gate for the home games in the next two weeks.

The Broncs opened the 1974 campaign on a high note by upsetting Fresno State, 13-12, and Vinci hopes for more of the same.

He wants to make sure his team doesn't overlook Chico.

"Chico is very similar to the San Francisco State team which defeated us last year," Vinci said, "except Chico doesn't have as highly skilled a quarterback."

After getting a report on Chico's scrimmage last week, Vinci added, "Chico is a quick, well-disciplined and well-coached team."

Poly will enter the 1975 campaign with an experienced defensive unit but green on offense.

Leo Costa, a transfer from the College of Sequoias, will be opening at quarterback. Joining him in the backfield will be freshman tailback Fred Sanders and fullback Brent Partridge. Diveback Aundre Holmes, split end Anthony Loville and flanker Teddy Myles will be alternating two positions.

Vinci is counting on a new and big offensive line to make the difference this season. Because of it, Poly will be using more on a balanced attack featuring a power game.

On defense, the Broncs are led by All-CCAA returnees Jim Castanon at linebacker and safety Scott Sanders. There are six returning starters on the defensive unit.

Chico is coming off a 4-7 season with some optimism as Coach Dick Trimmer has 35 lettermen back.

The Wildcats are bragging about a pair of All-American candidates in tight end Gary Eckley, who caught 29 passes last year for 418 yards and four touchdowns, and punter-kicker Rich Sorenson, who holds most of the school records in his specialties. He has been successful on 52 consecutive PATs entering the season.

Chico is also counting on running back Kevin Nelson, who sat out last season, and a veteran trio of linebackers.

Like Poly, Chico will be starting an inexperienced quarterback. Rollie Garife, who was injured in the first game last year, is the likely starter but he has been pushed by newcomer Tom Walker and JC transfer Don Carstensen.

This will be the fourth meeting of the schools with Chico holding a 3-1 edge. The Wildcats took a narrow 35-34 victory in Pomona in 1973.

Red-Nava go tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Danny "Little Red" Lopez takes on Mexico City's Antonio Nava Saturday night in a fight that has more than the scheduled 10 rounds at stake.

Lopez, 26-3 with 24 knockouts, wants a nontitle shot at featherweight champion Ruben Olivares and a victory over Nava could be the stepping stone he needs.

Howie Steindler, who manages Lopez, says, "I'd prefer Danny meet Olivares in a nontitle fight because we could command more money and if Danny won we'd be in a better spot to challenge for the title."

Lopez has won his last two fights with knockouts — putting away former bantamweight champ Chucho Castillo in two rounds April 24 and Raul Cruz in six rounds July 26.

Nava is 18-4 with 10 knockouts and sports a strong right, a punch Lopez has trouble avoiding.

Big games in openers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For openers, what ever happened to the breathers that most college football teams used to schedule for openers?

Led by defending national champion Oklahoma, the 1975 season gets into full flight this weekend with an unusually high number of important games right off the bat.

Oklahoma, beginning defense of its No. 1 ranking at home in a stadium that includes a new 9,000-seat upper deck, is an overwhelming favorite to demolish Oregon, but some of the main challengers, namely Michigan and Ohio State, could be in for trouble.

Michigan, runner-up in The Associated Press ratings, visits Wisconsin while third-ranked Ohio State, seeking to avenge its only regular-season defeat of 1974, takes to the road against No. 11 Michigan State. The Spartans and Wisconsin are generally considered the chief threats to Michigan and Ohio State in the Big Ten.

Sixth-ranked Nebraska plays its first five games at home and the opening opponent is always tough Louisiana State, coming off a subpar 5-5-1 campaign.

Elsewhere, seventh-ranked Auburn opens Coach Shug Jordan's 25th and final season at home against Memphis State, No. 8 Texas A&M entertains Mississippi, ninth-ranked Notre Dame meets Boston College at Foxboro, Mass., in a nationally televised game Monday night and No. 10 Penn State hosts Stanford.

The other games involving members of the Top Twenty are all scheduled for tonight — Colorado State at No. 12 Texas, No. 14 Maryland at No. 20 Tennessee, Wake Forest at No. 15 North Carolina State, Iowa State at No. 16 UCLA and Southern Methodist at No. 19 Florida. Alabama, Arizona and Pitt, Nos. 13, 17 and 18, respectively, have the weekend off.

In winning all 11 games en route to the 1974 national championship, Oklahoma and the injury list were barely nodding acquaintances. Things might be different this year since defensive tackle Anthony Bryant and tight end prospect Reggie Mathis are sidelined while defensive end Duane Baccus is a question mark.

Until the defense catches up with the offense, the Sooners will rely on their explosive Wishbone backfield of quarterback Steve Davis, halfbacks Joe Washington and Elvis Peacock and fullback Jimmy Littrell, along with receivers Tinker Owens and Billy Brooks.

Obviously recalling last year's 24-20 squeaker, Bo Schembechler calls the Wisconsin game "the toughest opener we've faced in my seven years at Michigan. Wisconsin might very well have the best offensive team in the confernce, and by the end of last season the defense wasn't too bad, either, and it probably has improved."

Schembechler's Wolverines are young, "but there is a lot of talent, even if they don't have the experience." Three sophomores will start on the offensive line and two more in the secondary while Rick Leach is bidding to become the first freshman quarterback starter in Michigan history.

Wisconsin has 33 lettermen from last year's 7-4 squad, including running back Billy Marek, who won the national scoring title with 12.7 points a game, and tackle Dennis Lick.

Ohio State has Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin to bear the brunt of the running game again, but the Buckeyes will unveil 13 new starters, eight on defense. Returning with Griffin in a backfield which rushed for 3,212 yards and 30 touchdowns last year are quarterback Cornelius Greene, fullback Pete Johnson and wingback Brian Baschnagel.

The only time Nebraska and Louisiana State met was in the Orange Bowl following the 1970 season and third-ranked Nebraska surged to the national championship with a 17-12 triumph when the top two teams lost bowl games.

LSU, which found itself without a quarterback last year when Mike Miley signed a pro baseball contract, has forsaken the Veer after one year in favor of Coach Charles McClendon's highly successful I-formation with Pat Lyons at the helm.

Nebraska also has a new signal-caller with Terry Luck succeeding record-breaking passer Dave Humm. The Cornhuskers will be without two starters— defensive end Ray Phillips and cornerback Jim Burrow—and two second-teamers—quarterback Vince Ferragamo and tackle Dean Gissler—who are sitting out a one-game NCAA penalty.

Colorado State tests Texas with an explosive passing attack—Mark Driscoll throwing, Dan O'Rourke catching—while the Longhorns will keep it on the ground, mostly via sophomore fullback Earl Campbell. Maryland-Tennessee is a rerun of last year's Liberty Bowl, won by the Vols 7-3. Look for more scoring this time.

Olivares must return

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Featherweight champion Ruben Olivares was ordered Friday by the California Athletic Commission to return to Los Angeles from his rural training camp and complete work for his Sept. 20 title defense under the watch of officials.

Joe Olmos, the commission's chief inspector, said reports from Olivares' training camp at Gilman Hot Springs 80 miles away indicated the champion was overweight.

Olivares meets David Kotey of Ghana for the World Boxing Council crown and is said to be two pounds over the 126-pound limit.

The commission came under fire early this year because featherweight champion Bobby Chacon had weight problems and had to slim down in the final hours before he faced Olivares and lost via a secondround knockout.

MSAC, Citrus open season

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

Citrus and Mt. San Antonio College kickoff the 1975 football season for valley football fans tonight in their traditional season-opener at Citrus Stadium in Azusa.

Both teams have an abundance of new players who played with and against each other in high school which should spice an already crisp rivalry.

When the squads take the field for the 7:30 p.m. kickoff two of the top rushers in junior college football last season will be ready to open their bids for 1,000-yard seasons.

MSAC's Robert "Binky" Benton will start at tailback in a revamped Mountie backfield. Benton averaged 4.0 yards per carry and netted 1,053 yards in 1974. He and Citrus tailback Roy Prather, who gained 1,100 yards last year, were honorable mention All-State selections.

Both runners will lineup behind new quarterbacks. MSAC's tentative starter is former Pomona High signal caller Steve Taylor, who won the starting job from Kurt Porter, last year's No. 1 QB. Porter, who passed for more than 800 yards in 1974, is expected to see some action also.

Citrus' quarterback will be Herb Daniel, a sophomore who played behind Bill Strycula, the coach's son, in 1974.

Besides the quarterbacks, there are a lot of new faces on both sides. The Owls had to replace eight defensive starters and five offensively, while the Mounties only have four players — two each on offense and defense — who saw action in 1974.

Because of this, both teams are as much a mystery to their coaches — MSAC's Mal Eaton and Citrus' John Strycula — as they are to the 2,000 or so fans that will show up for tonight's game.

MSAC's Eaton expects the 1975 Mounties to be better than the team that went 2-6-2 in 1974. But he approaches the season with caution because the schedule is tougher.

Citrus, coming off an 8-1-1 co-championship year in the Mission Conference, can be expected to make its usual slow start in preparation for the conference campaign which has been shortened by the realignment of co-champion Grossmont into the South Coast Conference with MSAC.

This will be the 17th meeting between the old rivals. Last year's tussle ended in a 14-14 tie. Citrus has only won once in 16 previous meetings, a 28-14 victory over the Mounties in 1971.

Following tonight's encounter, MSAC visits Pasadena and Citrus travels to Long Beach for 7:30 games next Saturday.

In the Meantime, Chaffey College gets a week's reprieve from opening the season. The Panthers host a scrimmage with Moorpark this morning at 11 o'clock and begin the season next Saturday in a game at Santa Barbara.

A. Ashe is top seed

Jaime Fillol of Chile, involved in a Davis Cup dispute over death threats, was seeded ninth followed by Brian Gottfried and Bob Lutz.

Bowler rolls high series

Linda LeGrande of Ontario bowled games of 263, 231 and 238 recently in the Keg and Kopper bowling league at Bowlium in Montclair. Her 732 total was just nine short of the Citrus Belt women's league high series.

Her average is 168.

Final weekend for exhibitions

By Associated Press

The Dallas Cowboys, Detroit Lions and San Diego Chargers will attempt to salvage disappointing preseasons Saturday when the National Football League continues its final weekend of exhibition games.

The Cowboys, winners only once in five exhibitions, will try their luck against the Super Bowl champions, the Pittsburgh Steelers, 3-3. "Every team guns for you after you win the Super Bowl," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry, whose Cowboys have found their six-shooters empty too often of late.

"It has been disappointing in that we haven't won more, but I wasn't surprised. I've been around and that happens with a young team," said Landry.

So Dallas, which has scored 77 points but yielded 122, will turn its attention to stopping Pittsburgh running star Franco Harris—who returned to action in last week's victory over New Orleans.

"To beat them (the Steelers), you have to stop Harris," said Landry.

The Steelers, while not taking the Cowboys lightly, are unconcerned over their .500 showing so far. "When we get fired up, we're devastating," said defensive lineman Dwight White. "I'm anxious to play Dallas. That's a good one to fire you up for the season. They're a good team with tradition and they got that big Texas ego you have to battle."

Detroit, 1-4, will be battling to break a two-game losing streak in its game against the Cleveland Browns, 2-3. "The problems we've had can and will be corrected," said Lions Coach Rick Forzano.

And Forzano probably will go with one of his few non-problems, quarterback Greg Landry, in an effort to enter the regular season on a winning note next week. Landry has completed 43 of 83 passes while running for 83 yards in 15 carries.

In other games Saturday night, the Chargers will host Minnesota; the New York Giants, 4-1, visit Miami, 4-1; San Francisco, 2-3, meets Green Bay, 2-3; Houston, 2-3, faces Chicago, 2-3; Philadelphia, 3-2, goes against Atlanta, 2-3, and New Orleans, 2-3, travels to Cincinnati, 3-3.

The New York Jets, 4-1, will be at New England, 3-2, and St. Louis, 3-2, at Denver, 2-3, in Sunday games.

Los Angeles blanked Oakland 6-0 Thursday night, while Kansas City was at Buffalo and Washington was at Baltimore in Friday night exhibitions.

Tommy Prothro wasn't pleased with the blocking of his Chargers, 1-4, as they prepared for powerful Minnesota, 2-3. "It's not just the offensive linemen who aren't blorking," said Prothro, "it's the wide receivers, the backs, everybody."

The Giants-Dolphins clash will mark the first coaching confrontation between New York coach Bill Arnsparger and former boss Don Shula of Miami. The 49ers-Packers game will pit two veteran quarterbacks, San Francisco's Norm Snead and Green Bay's John Hadl, against each other.

The Bears, still looking for a No. 1 quarterback between Bobby Douglass and Gary Huff, will host Houston, which is in a similar situation with Dan Pastorini and Lynn Dickey vying for the starting signal-calling job.

It will be no different when Philadelphia faces Atlanta. Second-year pro Mike Boryla has unseated veteran Roman Gabriel for the Eagles' No. 1 quarterback spot, while top draft choice Steve Bartkowski battles Pat Sullivan for the Atlanta job.

The Saints and Bengals will stage their first preseason meeting ever, with fill-in quarterback Bobby Scott calling signals for New Orleans while Archie Manning recovers from a broken arm.

There's no uncertainty as to the Jets' quarterback. Joe Namath will lead the injury riddled New Yorkers against the Patriots, while Neil Graff will get the call for New England in place of the surgery-sidelined Jim Plunkett.

St. Louis has allowed only 36 points in five games, tops in the league, while Denver has given up 112 points—the fourth highest total.

UCLA in '75 debut

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Sciarra and Luther Blue would make a potent offensive combination but they'll be on opposite sides of the field when UCLA hosts Iowa State in the 1975 football debut for both schools tonight.

Sciarra is being touted as a Heisman Trophy candidate and the UCLA quarterback leads the 16th-ranked Bruins with strong running, his best point, and an improved passing arm.

Blue is the Cyclones' biggest threat—dangerous when catching passes and returning kickoffs and punts. He was the nation's No. 2 kick runner in college football last year following Anthony Davis.

UCLA finished last season 63-2 and third in the Pacific-8 Conference with Coach Dick Vermeil in his first year.

This season Vermeil looks for all-around improvement, in spite of an untried defense, and if his team doesn't visit the Rose Bowl another bowl might be on the horizon.

The Cyclones, under Coach Earle Bruce, come off back-to-back 4-7 seasons in the Big Eight but gave both Oklahoma and Nebraska stiff fights last year.

Like the Bruins, Iowa State has more to offer on offense than defense.

"Overall I have the feeling that especially on offense we aren't the same football team of last year," Vermeil said.

"We're way ahead of last year, we've done extremely well in scrimmaging. A year ago we were not nearly this efficient."

Vermeil added, "Defensively we're a ways away and I'm concerned about it."

The Bruins lost 18 defensive lettermen to graduation, 13 of them starters at one time or another. Outside linebacker Dale Curry is the lone returning starter.

So it may come to Sciarra to generate enough points to make up for any defensive problems.

But the best Bruin running back, Wendell Tyler, has trouble hanging on to he ball, and, while dependable, Eddie Ayers and Carl Zaby are not spectacular. Zaby and Kenny Lee, a converted linebacker, are expected to start against the Cyclones.

"We're a running team," said Vermeil, "that's the strength of our Veer-T offense. But we also have people who can catch the ball and score."

Iowa State also uses the Veer-T but, as spokesman Harry Burrell put it, "We use a little bit of everything."

The Cyclones have 37 lettermen returning and are so deep at quarterback that senior Tom Mason is tentatively listed as No. 3 but is expected to start "because he puts the ball into the end zone better than the other two."

Bruce is optimistic about his 1975 team, saying, "I believe we have more quality players now than we ever have had at Iowa State."

Minnesota admits NCAA violations

CROOKSTON, Minn. (AP) — The University of Minnesota admitted Friday that its basketball program was in violation of some National Collegiate Athletic Association rules, and its president promised to be "very tough" in taking corrective measures.

In the first public discussion of the allegations, a university official told the Board of Regents that all except one of the 112 allegations involve the basketball program.

At the same meeting, the regents confirmed the appointment of Jim Dutcher to succeed Bill Musselman as head basketball coach.

Stanley B. Kegler, vice president for institutional planning and relations, told the regents that the 112 allegations or requests for information involve 108 individuals.

One of the individuals is a current university staff member, and seven are athletes either attending or likely to enroll at the university. "These are the only people over which the university has any control," Kegler said.

He said the other individuals included six former staff members, 19 former students, 35 student-athletes who were recruited but never attended the university, 32 friends or relatives of recruited athletes, six outside individuals representing the university and six classified as miscellaneous.

Kegler declined to disclose names. University officials have said that to do so before the allegations are proven would violate the rights of persons named in the charges.

However, a number of former basketball players have acknowledged receiving aid illegal under NCAA rules. In addition, Musselman, who resigned to become head coach of the professional San Diego Sails, has admitted some "minor" violations on his part.

In a letter to the school last July, the NCAA made the allegations regarding recruiting practices in Minnesota's intercollegiate athletic program.

Kegler said 78 of the 112 allegations involved "promises or delivery of money, goods or services ranging from $5 into the thousands (of dollars)."

"All of them involve basketball except one which we consider a bookkeeping problem in the hockey program," Kegler said.

"I can report a substantial number of improper (recruiting) inducements," Kegler told the regents. "It is quite likely that major violations have occurred because a pattern has developed in the investigation which has become quite clear."

The school was directed by the NCAA to reply to the allegations by Oct. 1, but Kegler said the university might not be able to meet the deadline.

University President C. Peter Magrath told the regents that the university wants to get a "clean slate without delay," admit infractions, "report everything we find" and take corrective action.

"We will be very, very tough, not only in admitting where we have gone wrong but to make sure this sort of thing doesn't happen again," said Magrath, who took over as president about a year ago.

Lyle fights Shavers, but thinks of Ali

DENVER (AP) — Heavyweight Ron Lyle is hoping to make Earnie Shavers his first comeback victim since his loss to champion Muhammad Ali last May.

But Shavers, ranked ahead of Lyle among heavyweight contenders, has different ideas. He predicts he will knockout his opponent within the first five rounds.

Both boxers wound up training Thursday for tonight's scheduled 12-round bout.

Lyle, whose record is 30-3-1, has boxed more than 90 rounds in preparation for Shavers. His trainer, Chickie Ferrara, said Lyle "has looked better than I've ever seen him during the past week."

Lyle ranks 10th among heavyweight contenders, compared to Shavers' No. 7 listing by the World Boxing Association.

With a record of 49-4-1, including 48 knockouts, Shavers said, "No way this is going to last the full 12 rounds. My record proves I can hit and I'm going to take Lyle out before five rounds."

Shavers said Lyle's vulnerability to a right hand punch was clear during the fight against Ali. "Muhammad is not a tremendous puncher, but he caught Lyle just right and almost put him out. I can hit much harder than Ali and if I catch Lyle with one of my shots, he won't be standing around waiting for the referee to stop it."

George Foreman, ranked behind Ali among the heavyweights, has expressed an interest in fighting the winner of the Shavers-Lyle bout.

Philly 76ers try to buy NBA winner

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers are trying to buy a winning team.

In recent months general manager Pat Williams signed superstar George McGinnis to an estimated $3 million six-year pact. Then came Daryl Dawkins, a Florida high school sensation, with a million-dollar plus arrangement.

The latest acquisition came Thursday when 6-foot-10 Joe Bryant, the LaSalle College star who declared hardship for the National Basketball Association draft, signed a reported $1.25 million contract.

"We are committed to building the best team possible," said General Manager Pat Williams of a franchise that has been in the basement of the NBA in recent seasons. "We have faith in the Philadelphia market, in television and radio to make this successful."

"I learned that you must never allow yourself to have a bad team if you have control," noted Williams, who was GM at Chicago and Atlanta before coming to Philadelphia less than two years ago.

"The Bryant thing just dropped out of the sky, and when this happens you better grab it while it's there. If we sell out our big games with Boston and Buffalo and Los Angeles, and have seven, eight or nine thousand at our other games, we'll be all right.

"And if we really catch hold, who knows what might happen?"

Veteran Billy Cunningham earns in excess of a quarter million, and Fred Carter and Doug Collins are high-bracket bonus and salary players.

The 76ers acquired the rights to Bryant, a No. 1 draft choice of the NBA champion Golden State Warriors, for an undisclosed sum of cash. The Warriors failed to sign Bryant after prolonged negotiations with the player and his attorney, Richard Phillips.

Phillips refused to specify the amount Bryant will earn as a 76er, but the lawyer said he turned down a five-year, $900,000 offer from Golden State.

"We got more than that from Philadelphia," he said.

Sixers Coach Gene Shue said the team wasn't impressed with Bryant when they saw him perform for LaSalle, but that he had developed into a top talent this summer while playing in the Charles Baker League, which features outstanding players from pro and college ranks.

Wings-Vulcans top WFL slate

By The Associated Press

One team trying to hold first place in its division takes on another team trying to reach that position Saturday night when the San Antonio Wings visit the Birmingham Vulcans for a World Football League game.

The Wings, 5-2, will try to expand their West Division lead over the second-place Southern California Sun, while Birmingham, 4-2, could move into first place in the East with a victory if the Memphis Southmen lose Sunday to the Shreveport Steamer.

Both San Antonio and Birmingham will be shooting for their third consecutive victories tonight when they meet at Legion Field. The other evening game pits the Portland Thunder, 1-5, against the Philadelphia Bell, 2-4, in a matchup of division cellar dewllers.

Aside from the Southmen-Steamer game Sunday, the Charlotte Hornets, 3-2, take on the Sun, 4-2, and the Jacksonville Express, 3-2, travels to Hawaii, 2-3.

San Antonio will send its third-ranked offense against Birmingham's third-rated defense, with quarterback Johnnie Walton planning an aerial attack to his three top receivers, Donnie Joe Morris, Willie Frazier and Eddie Richardson. Each of the three is in the top 10.

The Wings also boast two top-five rushers, No. 2 Bill Sadler and No. 5 Jim Strong, and give up fewer rushing yards than any other team in the league.

That should prove a test for the Vulcans, who run the ball more than eight of the 10 other WFL clubs. Art Cantrelle will lead the rushing attack, coming off a three-touchdown performance last week. Should the ground attack slow down, quarterback Matthew Reed may connect on his first touchdown pass of the season.

In Sunday action, Shreveport, 2-4, will have to hold on to the ball before thinking about beating Memphis, 4-1. The Steamer has committed 23 turnovers, tying with Southern California for the league's most undistinguished mark. The Southmen, meanwhile, attack with the league's best ball control offense thanks to rushers Larry Csonka, Willie Spencer and Jim Klick.

The Sun, with its league-leading passing offense, may be stymied by the league's best defense. If that's the case, Sun quarterback Pat Haden can hand off to top rusher Anthony Davis.

Hawaiians quarterback Sonny Sixkiller faces a busy afternoon Sunday. His offensive line provides the league's worst pass protection and Jacksonville owns the WFL's second best pass rush. But they could have the lead if they receive the opening kickoff. Clayton Heath of the Hawaiians ran back a kickoff 93 yards for the league's longest touchdown in that department, and totaled 194 yards in returns last week.

Orchids belong to one of the largest plant families. More than 6,000 kinds of orchids can be found growing in moist climates in many parts of the world.

Today most flower-shop orchids are raised in hothouses. These orchids are among the most expensive of cut flowers, but their natural home is the damp forests of tropical countries.

Many tropical orchids grow as air plants perched on the branches of trees, their fleshy roots creeping along the damp trunks or dangling in the air.

Orchids of temperate regions usually grow from the ground, as do so many of the other flowers.

The white, yellow, and purple lady's-slipper and the fragrant pale-pink moccasin flower that grow in cool, damp American woods and swamps are ground-growing orchids.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Follow your instincts in making an important decision. Try to placate everyone and you'll wind up pleasing no one.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your judgment in materialistic pursuits is razor-sharp today. It's in contrast to your insensitivity to more aesthetic values.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't come on too strong today with people of lesser means, unless you want to be embarrassed into sharing when you don't want to.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You can attain what you seek today, but you must know when to stop talking. Otherwise you'll make far-out concessions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're more interested in a good time today than in responsibilities. Accordingly, you'll use a mild feint where a knockout punch is needed.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Concern with making a favorable impression will lead you to follow a vacillating course detrimental to your own cause.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't let anyone unfamiliar with your business give you advice off the top of their head. There's danger if you're tempted to follow it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're a prime target for a hard-luck story today. It won't make you any less a humanitarian to make sure you're not being put on.

Your Birthday, Sept. 14, 1975

You'll be more involved in the social whirl this coming year. Don't, however, become deeply enmeshed with people personally or in business till you have a chance to know them well.

Legislators seeking special tax relief

The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has ruled that the special expense allowances of legislators are taxable. The IRS says California's legislators should therefore pay on their $30 daily stipends for living expenses in the capital during legislative sessions.

McCarthy, a San Francisco Democrat, told newsmen Thursday the matter will be brought up during a regular annual visit to Washington to discuss state and federal problems. McCarthy is to head the delegation for the trip Sept. 30 through Oct. 2.

"The National Conference of State Legislatures is trying to put together a meeting on the whole issue rather than try to solve it piecemeal," Johnson said.

Legislators in California have also chipped in to hire a tax attorney to work on the case.

Chappaquiddick records missing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Original police records on the Chappaquiddick incident involving Sen. Edward M. Kennedy are still missing, despite assertions by two former police chiefs that they were returned to the files last April.

Officials of the Edgartown police department at Martha's Vineyard, Mass., say they cannot find the documents. "We've looked everywhere. We honestly don't know where they are," Patricia McLeod, a special police officer, said in a telephone interview.

The mystery of the vanished records was raised recently in a book by Carl Gottlieb, a script writer for the movie "Jaws" which was filmed at Martha's Vineyard last summer.

Gottlieb said he had been told by Jesse Oliver II, then the chief of the 12-member Edgartown department, that the records of the 1969 auto accident that cost the life of Mary Jo Kopechne had disappeared from the files.

However, between the time that Gottlieb talked with Oliver and the book was published, the missing documents — including the original accident report and a copy of Kennedy's first statement to police — were said to have been returned to the department.

Dominick J. Arena, who was Edgartown's police chief at the time of the Chappaquiddick incident, said in another interview that when he quit the department in 1973, he took some of the records with him.

Now police chief in Essex Junction, Vt., Arena said he wanted the papers for his own use in answering questions from newsmen and others.

"The problem was that when you get so deeply involved in something, you are constantly being questioned," Arena said. He was among the first officials to reach the bridge from which Kennedy's car plunged, and he later charged the senator with failing to report the accident.

Arena said he first learned that the missing records were a subject of concern while taking part in a Boston radio talk show last spring. He said that after that, he made copies for himself and sent the records back to his successor, Oliver.

"I have to admit — I'm somewhat red-faced — that I had some of the originals," he said. "I didn't realize there were no copies in the files. But since then I've sent them all back. You could come in here with a search warrant and you wouldn't find anything."

Oliver was suspended as police chief for accepting money from Universal Studios, makers of "Jaws," and other alleged improprieties. He has since resigned but supports Arena's claim to having returned the Chappaquiddick material.

"He sent the records back last April and they were there in the files when I left the department in June," Oliver said.

As to what happened to the documents since then or why the present department officials can't find them, he said, "I have no idea. That's their problem."

Pines blasts auto makers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — City Attorney Burt Pines has blasted a proposed delay for the nation's automobile makers in meeting emissions standards written into the Federal Clean Air Act.

Pines said the" big four" car manufacturers should "spend their money on building a pollution-free car" instead of buying newspaper advertisements aimed at "brainwashing the American people into believing they do not really want clean air now."

His remarks at a press conference Thursday were directed at advertisements urging readers to write their congressmen to urge a delay in enforcing the standards.

Pines also said he had written a letter to Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, who heads a subcommittee considering the proposed emissions standards delay of four years.

The letter protested the proposed delay, and recommended alternatives for what Pines described as an "all-or-nothing" approach by the government in controlling emissions from cars.

Pines' suggestions included repeal of the 10 per cent excise tax on foreign cars which meet the standards to stimulate competition and imposition of a tax on autos which fail to meet the clean air standards.

Bandit, 17, loses loot to muggers

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A young bandit fled a Wilmington Trust Co. branch with between $1,500 and $2,000. But he didn't have long to celebrate, according to police.

Hitching a ride home, he was attacked Monday and "worked over pretty good" by three youths who stole the loot, Det. Lt. John Doherty said.

The robbery suspect, identified by police as John Satterfield, 17, was held in the city jail in lieu of $7,500 bail. The muggers escaped.

Dayan losing ground in Israeli politics

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Moshe Dayan, the former defense minister and war hero, is out in the cold in Israeli politics, according to political experts here.

Fifteen months after leaving the Cabinet, Dayan appears isolated and threatened with expulsion or sanctions from the Labor party at the nadir of his political career.

"Dayan has not given up the idea of someday taking over the party" and becoming prime minister, a knowledgeable Labor party member said. "But I would say that is farther from reality now than ever."

Dayan's fall from grace within the party was caused by his opposition to the Egyptian-Israeli accord worked out by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

The former general argued that nothing less than an Egyptian commitment to nonbelligerency was worth an Israeli troop pullback in the Sinai Desert.

At a meeting of nearly 400 Laborites, only four voted against the accord. When the Kissinger pact came before the Knesset, Israel's parliament, only two Laborites joined Dayan in voting against it.

This defied a party ruling obliging all Labor deputies to support the agreement.

Under party rules, Dayan could be thrown out. But sources said it was more likely that lesser sanctions would be taken, such as removing him from parliament committees.

Dayan, meanwhile, left for a lecture tour of the United States and his only public comment on the issue was that "I would be very sorry if I were dismissed from the party."

"Dayan has antagonized a lot of people," said a Labor party official. "When he made his speech against the agreement at the party meeting, there were some who said it was his swan song."

Still, it was the former defense minister who first proposed the idea of partial settlements with Egypt five years ago, when he was at the peak of his influence. But he says he later changed his mind.

Dayan, whose black eyepatch once was regarded by Israelis as a symbol of national strength and courage, now is scorned by many former admirers who blame him for losses early in the 1973 Yom Kippur war.

It was Israel's failure to prepare for war that finally toppled the Golda Meir government — and Dayan — from power.

Dayan now spends much of his time on speaking tours abroad and seldom appears in public here. Earlier this year he was prevented from giving one lecture to university students when angry parents of war dead broke into the lecture hall.

UNMARKED PATROL CAR — Gov. Robert Ray and his driver, patrol Sgt. Earl Usher, leave Iowa Statehouse on official business. That business may include highway patrol business as Ray often stops traffic law violators or stops to assist stalled motorists.

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Drivers who flaunt Iowa traffic laws watch for those 400 Iowa Highway Patrol cars. Then there's that 1975 blue Continental with Iowa license No. 1.

"We've stopped several people — mostly because they've done something reckless," said Gov. Robert D. Ray, who often assists at accident scenes and helps stalled motorists while being chauffeured around Iowa.

"The governor is very alert to these things," said Patrol Sgt. Earl Usher, who has driven Ray since 1970. "Many times he is involved in paperwork. But he is very conscious of what goes on outside of the car."

Usher, 39, said he often stops motorists who have run stop signs or red lights, who have driven recklessly or disregarded safety rules.

"We have no red light," he said. "We just pull up beside them. The uniform is very identifying."

But Usher said he doesn't attempt to stop cars that are speeding excessively. He radios a description ahead to another trooper.

"When the governor is in the car, it's our responsibility to drive the auto as safely as possible," Usher said.

He said the governor's car usually stops two or three cars violating traffic laws a week and will often stop to assist motorists two or three times a day.

"We've stopped and helped numerous people with flat tires or called for wrecker service," Usher said.

Then there's the story Ray likes to tell about the stalled car he and Usher happened on one night last winter.

"There were these two teenagers and they were out of gas," Ray said. "We gave them a ride to a service station, but it was late and we couldn't find one open. They were nervous, and Earl and I both got suspicious."

The governor said Usher checked the car by radio and found it was stolen. The teenagers were runaways from Kansas.

When the governor's car approaches an accident, the standard procedure is to stop and assist. Often it is the first on the scene.

"When we come across injury accidents, Governor Ray is very quick to assist," Usher said.

He recalled one accident they happened on while returning from the Des Moines airport.

"He got out of the car before I hardly got it stopped," Usher said.

Ray began administering first aid to one victim, while Usher called for help on the radio and started helping another, the sergeant said.

"In an accident situation you don't have time to see what everyone else is doing — you just jump in," Usher said. "And the governor is quick to jump in."

$1,400 found in coffee can

LOVELOCK, Nev. (AP) — The Lee Olsons found treasure in a coffee can. They discovered a rusty coffee can half filled with $1,400 worth of $25 gaming chips from Harolds Club in Reno.

The Olsons were searching for old bottles near a dry lake when they came upon the frame of an ancient auto. Inside the car relic they found the rusty can and chips.

The game tokens were counted and verified by the club's assistant controller, Mike Mills. Some of the chips were partially burned and are about 15 years old.

FDA mulls warning on aspirin

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Food and Drug Administration advisory panel is considering recommending that a warning against the unprescribed use of aspirin during pregnancy be placed on every aspirin bottle label, an FDA spokesman said.

Women who take aspirin regularly during pregnancy suffer a high rate of complications such as bleeding and infection and endanger their babies, according to a report by two Australian doctors.

The FDA recommendation under consideration was prompted by similar studies.

The spokesman said the exact wording of the warning has not been decided upon but it would probably advise the consumer to check with her doctor before taking aspirin if she is pregnant.

In the Australian study, among 63 daily aspirin users — women who took two to 12 aspirin doses a day — four had still births, compared with none among the babies of 63 comparable nonaspirin users.

Among 81 women who took aspirin less often but at least once a week, there was one stillbirth and three babies died after birth.

Thirty per cent of the daily aspirin users and 27 per cent of the lesser users had complicated childbirths, such as Caesarean section or breech or forceps deliveries, compared with 11 per cent of nonaspirin users, according to the study.

It also showed the aspirin users' pregnancies lasted a week longer and their labor lasted almost an hour longer on the average.

Colonizing of space studied

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — A study on how it might be possible to colonize space either on an artificial planet or on Mars is being made by 25 scientists.

The exercise in utilizing engineering, social and economic theories, is an annual engineering systems design project sponsored by Ames Research Center at nearby Moffett Field and Stanford University.

Previous programs have centered on building a communications device to contact other intelligent life forms in the universe and creating new food supplies for earth.

This year project members will devise means to populate either Mars or an enormous man-made space habitat that would measure 19 miles long and four miles across.

Worker absenteeism called 'an Italian plague' by Leone

MILAN, Italy (AP) — President Giovanni Leone calls worker absenteeism "an Italian plague" and blames it, along with wildcat strikes and the declining spirit of industrialists, for Italy's economic crisis.

In a rare interview published recently in Milan's Corriere della Sera, Leone spoke of the right to strike — a burning issue following strikes this summer that disrupted plane and rail transportation at the height of the tourist season.

"Essential services for the population and the country's economy must not be paralyzed ... There were abuses in the right to strike. The law must guarantee the use of any right, but also avoid any abuse," the president said.

Turning to absenteeism in private industry and public administration, he said, "Absenteeism is an Italian plague ... which means overburdening those working, disorders, insufficient utilization of plants, unproduced wealth, damages to industry."

For this purpose, he called for reconsideration of the current law barring checks on workers staying home for alleged sickness.

"The present system does not work," Leone said.

Industrialists also came under attack.

"The economic crisis has been worsened by the attitude of renunciation by a part of the industrialists who have lost the taste of risk, who do not invest and who are tempted to take their capital and efforts abroad."

California has 80 glaciers

SACRAMENTO (AP) — There are 80 glaciers in California. But geologist Mary Hill says it's nothing to worry about because they have been there 1,000 years and haven't grown much.

Ms. Hill, who works for the state Department of Conservation, said in an interview Thursday:

"Norwegian scientists are predicting another ice age in the next 10,000 to a million years. But that won't bother our lifetimes."

Geologically speaking, these California glaciers are mere youngsters, she said. When the glaciers were formed 1,000 years ago, there was a worldwide cold snap.

Scientists still haven't agreed while that cold snap persisted until 1700, she added.

Palisades Galcier, north of Bishop in the High Sierra, is the largest one in the state. It is about 1½ miles wide and more than three-fourths of a mile long. It is easily visible from Route 395.

Unfortunately, California glaciers are of no use, except as tourist attractions, she said.

Oops! wrong gym painted

Directors of the Jefferson County School District decided this week that the gym roof at Metolius would have needed paint soon anyway. They offered the firm $764, about half the normal price for the job, and the firm accepted.

Meanwhile, since the mistake was discovered, the firm had painted the roof at Culver at full price, $1,478.50.

Egg coddler sales rise

According to Hugh Robinson, president of Royal Worcester Porcelain Co., the market is increasing at a 10 per cent annual rate. Last year, he said, more than a million egg coddlers were purchased in America.

Museum preserves pioneer days

Doc Peirsol

It happened in Pomona

Under the headline "ANOTHER BEAUTY SPOT FOR POMONA", The Pomona Daily Review announced on June 8, 1904: "At last the Salt Lake Station is to be made a thing of beauty and a joy forever." —And there we have historic evidence that our earlier day Pomonans were definitely aware that city beautification is one of the things that makes a community great.

But it was also an historic announcement which prompts some of us Johnnie Come Latelies to ask a bit perplexedly: "How long is forever, and whatever became of the Salt Lake Station."

Well, as the poet once said: "Beauty is not immortal. In a day blossom and June and rapture pass away," —and also, apparently, Salt Lake Stations. But even though, like snow upon the desert's dusty waste that Pomona Beauty Spot lasted only its little hour or two and then was gone, let's turn back the pages of time and relive that eventful day when the Pomona Daily Review announced that ground breaking for the Beauty Spot had already commenced.

"There are to be three small parks, one to the west of the station building and two to the south," the story read. "A date palm is to be planted in the center of the west park, and at the eastern end of the same park climbing roses will be planted, which in time will reach the eaves and cover the end of the building. The two parks at the south side, between which a driveway will be made, are being planted to umbrella and camphor trees and, of course, grass. There will be a coping and railing around the two south parks and walks around the west park. The Salt Lake is certainly doing a good turn for Pomona in making so attractive a spot for the enjoyment of our citizens."

New postal service now in South Pole

By GUSTAV DETJEN, JR.

The U.S. Postal Service will establish its southernmost branch office Oct. 1, at the South Pole, Antarctica. This postal facility will be established as a branch of the New York, New York Post Office. The postmark to be applied will be: "SO. POLE BR. NEW YORK, NY 10090." The last two digits indicate that the station is at 90 degrees south latitude. This is not a working number for submission of covers, which should be addressed to "Postmaster, New York, N.Y. 10001." Requests should include an endorsement in the lower left corner — "South Pole Postmark." The self-addressed, stamped envelope which must accompany orders should carry U.S. postage of the appropriate denomination for basic first-class mail — 10 cents at present. Also enclosed should be a short note requesting service from the South Pole.

Antique wise: Q and A

by DOROTHY HAMMOND

Question: I have just inherited two very good oak pieces. One is a beautiful oak table with claw feet, unlike any I have ever seen inasmuch as it has two pedestals for the base. The table is marked "Original Twin Pedestal," and was made by the Wisconsin Furniture Company of Milwaukee.

The other piece is a corner hanging medicine chest with a lovely beveled mirror 22½ x 18 inches. The chest is in excellent condition, and measures 22½" high, 18" wide, and 12 inches deep. I have never seen another chest like it and neither has anyone else around here.

The appraisal value for the table was $75, and the chest $30. I am certain they are far more valuable than these figures. Can you tell us what they might be worth, even though they are not old enough to fall into the antique classification? E. W.

Answer: When you have fallen heir to good oak pieces nowadays, you can consider yourself very fortunate as values continue to swing up, up, up. Your twin pedestal oak table is worth from $350-$400, and the hanging cabinet, from $80-$95.

Question: English ceramic potlids have always been of interest to me even though I haven't seen one for sale in years. The two that I own are marked "Village Wedding" and "The Picnic," and were made by the R & H Pratt Company in England. Both are in mint condition. Can you tell me what their value might be? C.S.

Answer: The Village Wedding is currently being priced around the $65 figure, and The Picnic for $55.

Question: I am writing to ascertain what is the probable value of a dry sink which belonged to my grandmother. I believe that it dates from the mid-nineteenth century. The sink is solid cherry, and was refinished during the 40s. There is a back to it, and three small dovetailed drawers. The side pieces are made of one solid piece of wood. The case portion is 24 inches deep, 38 inches long, and the height of the back is 44 inches.

Originally the sink part was lined with tin, but this was removed when the piece was refinished — I removed three coats of paint. In my opinion, the sink is in excellent condition. P. R. M.

Answer: I would estimate the value of your dry sink to be about $800, possibly more. Cherry examples are rarely found, and those with a high back, plus drawers are scarce.

Museum observes 10th year

The Chaffey Communities Cultural Center at 525 W. 18th St., Upland, will observe its 10th anniversary with a fund-raising ice cream social from 1 to 4 p.m. Sept. 21.

The program will include music, a children's program and homemade ice cream at 50 cents a dish. The public is invited.

Photos by SID FRIDKIN, P-B Photographer

The CCCC is a non-profit historical museum dedicated to preservation of relics of the pioneer days in the West End. The center is supported by membership dues, a modest admission fee and fund-raising events such as the ice cream social.

The museum came into being 10 years ago when St. Mark's Episcopal Church at Euclid Avenue and F Street donated its old, steepled, brown-shingled building to the historical group. The City of Upland leased five acres of land in north Upland to the organization for $1 a year. Public subscription raised $10,000 to move the church to its new site. The venerable building was cut into three sections, moved to its new home among the orange groves, and put back together again.

The center has, from the first, enjoyed the wholehearted support of the community. The public donated money, construction firms contributed building materials and tradesmen devoted volunteer after-hours labor on lighting, plumbing, landscaping, paving the parking lot, painting and other projects.

When the museum was completed truckloads of contributions rolled in — fine antiques, Victorian-era clothing, Civil War uniforms, weapons and banners, lamps, paintings, spinning wheels, churns, maps, coin collections, pioneer tools, Indian artifacts and hundreds of other valuable historical items.

Recent contributions to the center include a 1910 dual-manifold organ donated by Dr. L. C. Spencer of Upland and a fine collection of eye glasses. The Indian display has been enlarged, and the collection of 655 citrus crate labels has been mounted in scrapbooks. Of special interest to children are the 50 dolls from foreign countries presented to the center by Mrs. Howard Clark.

CCCC is a fascinating place to scores of chattering school children who visit it regularly, and a valuable resource to students of Early Americana from nearby colleges.

The museum puts on a variety of programs throughout the year — a talk by a historian, films, breakfasts for service clubs, box lunches for church groups, Christmas parties, exhibits by the Chaffey Art Association. Programs have been given there by members of the West End Opera Association, a chamber group from the West End Symphony Orchestra, and actors from the Garrick Players, now-defunct West End community theater.

Future plans for the CCCC are expansion and continued growth. The Ontario-Upland Junior Chamber of Commerce is helping with a new "sculpture garden," to be made up of pioneer agricultural equipment — tractors, plows, welding equipment, smith's tools, orchard heaters and lumber wagons. The museum hopes to put up a new building to house its permanent displays, freeing the present hall for traveling exhibits, art shows, concerts and other activities.

The historical museum is open from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, with occasional programs on Sunday. It is manned by volunteer docents and a staff headed by Mrs. Beatrice Riggs, president of the center.

ON THE COVER

The Chaffey Community Cultural Center in Upland, will launch its 10th year with a benefit ice cream social from 1 to 4 p.m. Sept. 21. The old building, formerly St. Mark's Episcopal Church, is a repository for memorabilia of the pioneer days in the West End. Rare antiques, Civil War weapons, Indian artifacts and hundreds of relics of the past draw visitors from a wide area of Southern California.

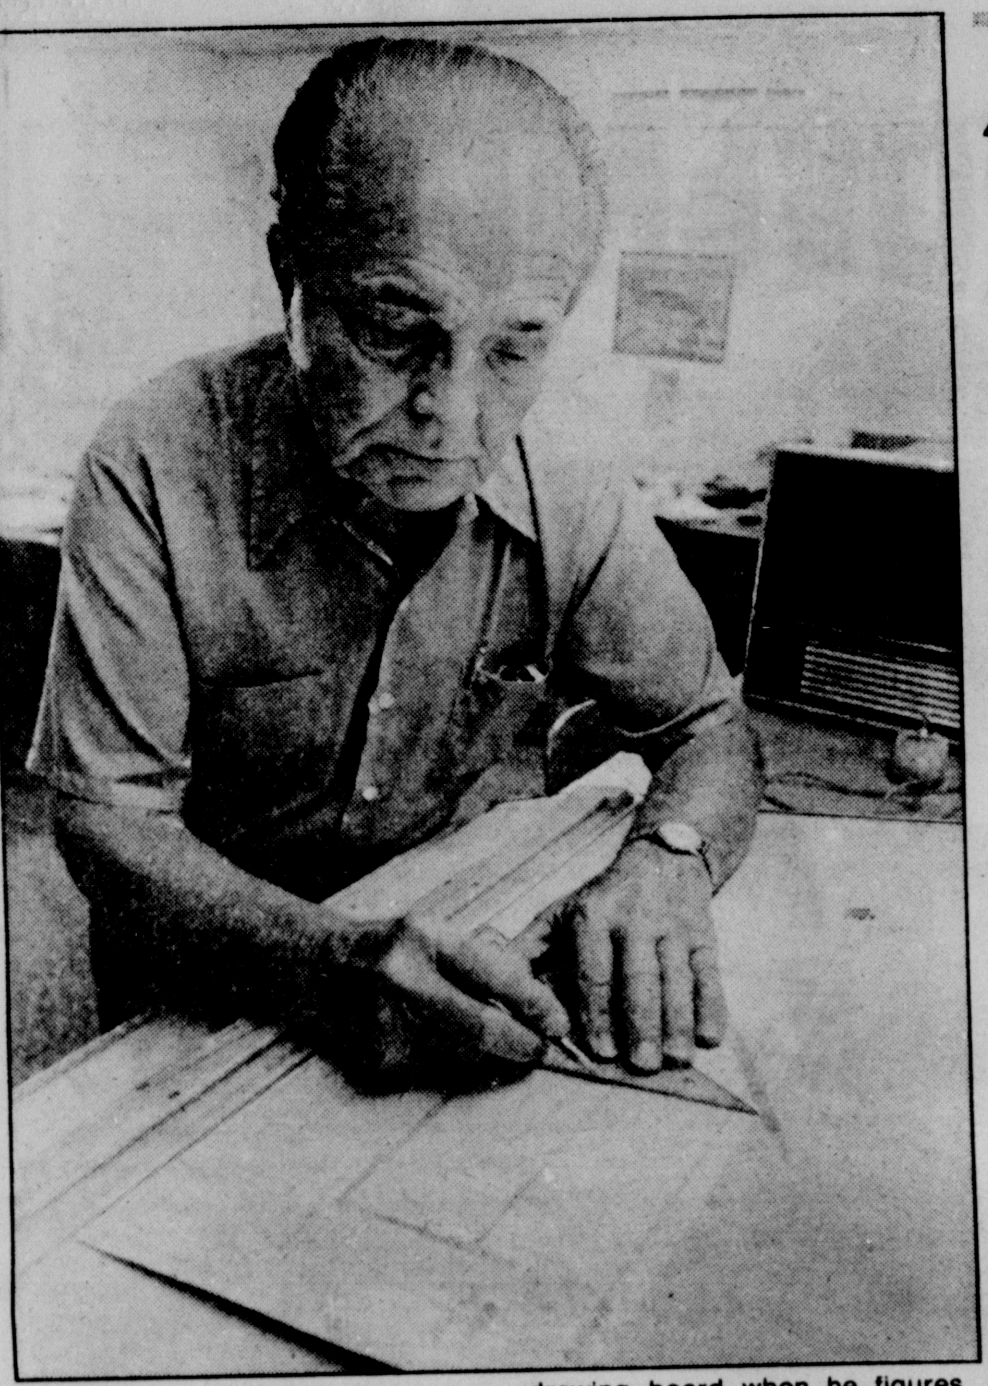
An addition coming to your home?



CALCULATING — Company estimator Basil Flora goes to the drawing board when he figures designs for additions to homes.

Wish you had additional room for holiday entertaining?

Providing that additional family room, bedroom or bathroom is the business of Reliable Builders at 8926 Benson Ave., Suite D, Montclair.

"We're a well established contracting firm which is large enough to meet the client's needs but small enough to guarantee personal attention and supervision," said owner Norman Phillips.

Phillips has been active in the contracting business for 20 years.

His firm serves the entire valley and is state licensed, bonded and insured, he said.

All materials and labor are guaranteed for one year by the firm. All plans and permits are also provided by Reliable Builders.

The company estimator, Basil Flora, explained that when a customer seeks any type of home addition or remodeling he visits the home and discusses the needs with the family.

"Each addition design is different and many things must be taken into consideration," Flora pointed out. In addition to the requirements of the family, the addition must be compatible with the design and construction of the rest of the house.

"We are proud of designing and building additions that do not look like something added to an existing structure but rather like an integral part of the home," Flora said.

"Of course, all estimates are free and we have financing available," added Phillips.

Phillips explained that after the plans are designed and approved by the customer, the actual construction is subcontracted to local firms, all licensed businesses.

All phases of the construction are personally supervised by Reliable Builders to assure the complete satisfaction of the home owner.

"We can build anything the customer wishes or remodel an existing room or structure," said Phillips. "Most of the additions at present are family rooms, but many home owners are adding bedrooms, additional baths and enlarged kitchens."

Reliable Builders handles the complete package for the owner so that he deals with just one firm.

Phillips said he's seen many changes in the construction industry during his more than 20 years of experience. "But one thing which has not changed is our policy of providing the customer with the best quality and workmanship at the most reasonable price available in the valley."

The firm has moved three times in the past few years to provide additional space for its expansion. It was previously located in Pomona.

Also staffing the firm's headquarters are Miss Marcia Phillips, receptionist and bookkeeper, and Hap Genung.

By R.E. MORSBERGER

LAURENCE OLIVIER by John Cottrell Prentice-Hall. $10.95.

(Robert E. Morsberger is professor of English at Cal Poly, Pomona.)

This is not the usual sort of book by or about movie stars that has been proliferating lately, while most of the latter tend to be gossipy and anecdotal. Cottrell has written a serious and scholarly study of the performer, director, and manager universally acclaimed as the greatest actor of the 20th Century.

A full-dress biography of Olivier is thus as legitimate as one of Burbage or Garrick and is of considerable value to students of literature and of theatre and film history as well as of interest to movie fans.

Olivier began acting at the age of 10, when he played Brutus in "Julius Caesar." Ellen Terry caught the performance and wrote in her diary, "The small boy who played Brutus is already a great actor."

At 14, he played Katherine in "The Taming of the Shrew," and Sybil Thorndike called him "The best Katherine I ever saw.

Today, at 68, he is the world's most honored actor: winner of the Academy Award, numerous Emmies, and countless awards for stage acting, a knight of the British Empire, and Lord Olivier, peer of the realm.

Yet his career has had its ups and downs and is by no means a string of unbroken successes.

He relinquished the lead in "Journey's End," destined to be a brilliant hit, in order to star in a stage version of "Beau Geste" that flopped.

He played in a series of forgotten movies in the early 1930s and was rejected as Garbo's leading man in "Queen Christina."

After becoming a superstar in "Wuthering Heights," he produced and starred in a disastrous "Romeo and Juliet" in 1940.

He was a matinee idol for only three years (1939-41) and then entered the British Fleet Air Arm during the war. Several of his later films were boxoffice failures, and he sometimes showed poor judgment in his choice of plays to produce and roles to portray.

Yet Olvier has been absolutely dedicated to the theatre; and his willingness to take risks and sacrifices, to experiment in new directions, has enabled him to continually expand his range, outpacing his most celebrated colleagues.

In the mid-1930s, established on stage as a light romantic lead in modern comedies, he surprised everyone by turning to Shakespeare.

After his first popular movie, "Fire over England", he went to work for 14 months at the Old Vic for a mere $20 a week but did brilliant work in "Hamlet, "Henry V," and "Twelfth Night." After completing "Henry V" as a film, he returned to the Old Vic. He gave up millions of dollars in Hollywood contracts to do stage work in Britain, where he eventually became first director of the National Theater.

Despite his theatrical eminence, Olivier is no snob; he has done vaudeville routines, Polaroid commercials, and acted in melodrama and light comedy as well as in Shakespeare. But he has insisted on artistic growth, has been able to change with the times, and has alternated the classics with such avant-garde plays as "Rhinoceros" and "Entertainer."

Cottrell's biography gives all the details. In addition to Olivier's career, we have the story of his marriages to Jill Esmond, Vivien Leigh, and Joan Plowright; his successful fight with cancer; his friendship and association with such players as Noel Coward, Ralph Richardson, Ronald Colman, Alec Guinness, Michael Redgrave, and Dame Sybil Thorndike. There are chapters on Olivier's acting techniques (he loathed the abstract theorizing of Method acting) and on his off-stage personality.

Cottrell writes well, and his book is hard to put down, but it does not altogether succeed in presenting Olivier's personality. Cottrell relies too heavily upon Olivier's associates and not enough on Olivier himself; it would help to have more quotations, letters, interviews with Olivier to give more of the man.

Again, Cottrell spends too much time quoting reviewers and not enough analyzing productions and performances. When he does, the book is at its best. Despite its limitations, it is eminently readable.

Book depicts life in Japan of past

By DUDLEY LEHEW

SHOGUN. By James Clavell. Atheneum. 802 Pages. $12.50.

Occasionally, a novel appears among the many hitting the book shelves each year that is far above the rest of the literary field. Such a book is "Shogun."

The thought of reading a novel set in 17th century Japan probably doesn't tantalize many readers these days and a price tag of $12.50 doesn't enhance the motivation for getting a copy of "Shogun." But look past those surface obstacles and you'll find a labor of love. Yes, after reading "Shogun," it's easy to conclude there's a lot of labor and a lot of love in this work.

James Clavell is a writer who can best be pictured as a master story-teller, the kind everyone at some point in his life found himself spellbound before as yarns were swapped in front of an open fire far into the night.

There are as many major characters in "Shogun" as there are in a soap opera, but Clavell's characters are unique, from the unnamed thousands of Samurai to the dozen or so main individuals.

Briefly, "Shogun" is the story of a struggle among Japan's Council of Regents in the aftermath of the death of the country's traditional singular adult ruler. The regents, or daimyos, can be compared to war lords. It is the interplay of the characters from the daimyos on down that Clavell has woven into a story so alive with personality and color that the reader is easily swept into the plot and its time in history.

The author was a prisoner of the Japanese during World War II and his intimate knowledge of the history and thinking process of the Japanese is evident in his book. It's a delicate and respectful view of the ancestry of his captors. His experience and his talent combine for a novel that should be read and enjoyed for years to come. It is a timeless and intriguing story.

Heyerdahl tells how it started

By EVE HIGGINS

FATU-HIVA. By Thor Heyerdahl. Doubleday. $10.

Thor Heyerdahl, the famous author of "Kon-Tiki," "AkuAku" and "The Ra Expeditions," began his dramatic lifework in 1936 when, with his wife Liv, he spent a year on the island of Fatu-Hiva in the Marquesas Islands.

They wanted to escape civilization, to live off the land in accordance with nature. It wasn't as easy as it sounded, even in the days before World War II.

Heyerdahl was 22, his wife 20, when they left Norway. Destination: Nature. They moved into the jungle, built a home of woven bamboo and gathered seven different kinds of bananas, among other fruits and vegetables, to eat.

But all was not idyllic existence. Conflict between Catholic and Protestant believers on the island generated hostility toward the intruders. The Heyerdals moved inland, to the high interior of their island, for a time. They explored the rugged island coastline in canoes, studying biological specimens as they went.

And they discovered ancient carvings, tikis, left by ancestors of Marquesas settlers. That discovery and later reading led Heyerdahl to make his raft voyage and to write later of the Kon-Tiki expedition and of the connection between South America and island dwellers of the South Pacific.

Heyerdahl writes with a sure sense of the good story, adding detail upon detail to make readers feel they, too, are original hippies, living with nature in a remote jungle. But the reader must conclude, with the book's author, that you can't buy a ticket to paradise.

Sons seek review of Rosenberg trial

By N. C. POLOS

WE ARE YOUR SONS: The Legacy of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, by Their Children, Robert & Michael Meeropol. Houghton-Miflin, $10.

On June 19, 1953, at New York's Sing Sing Prison convicted atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were executed.

They were convicted of masterminding a World War II plot to steal atomic-bomb secrets and deliver them to the Soviet Union. The FBI called it "the crime of the Century," and the general climate of the time was one of a little less than hysteria.

It was at the height of the Cold War (March 1951), the Russians had exploded their first atomic device in 1949, and less than a year before, the Korean War had begun. The national mood was ugly, and Judge Irving Kaufman, who presided at the Rosenbergs' trial gave voice to that mood when he pronounced the death sentence: "I consider your crime," he said, "worse than murder."

Before the Rosenbergs were executed their conviction became perhaps the most appealed case in U.S. criminal history. Their appeals reached the U.S. Supreme Court several times, and both times President Dwight D. Eisenhower refused executive clemency. To the very end the Rosenbergs insisted on their innocence.

The Rosenbergs' sons, Michael and Robert, are now men of 32 and 28. They have written this book, a kind of social document, in which they included the final letters of their parents and argue for their innocence. They state their case clearly and vigorously. "We want every American to know," insists Michael, "that our parents were murdered."

The entire case is a nightmare of complex events ranging from 1950-1954; trials, appeals, the execution, and the court battles over guardianship of the two boys. The book deals primarily with the correspondence of the Rosenbergs, much of it unpublished and the lives of the two boys who were subsequently adopted by Anne and Abel Meeropol. It also deals with arguments and evidence of the Rosenbergs' innocence in an all-out attempt to reopen the case. The sons' attorneys are now working with the Constitutional Litigation Clinic at Rutgers Law School to start proceedings to exonerate the Rosenbergs.

This is not an easy book to read. The entire subject is a grim one, and reliving the agony of the trial and its said conclusion seems like an exercise in futility. Without entering upon the complexity of the case we can sympathize with the efforts of the Rosenbergs' sons.

Those who are interested in political justice may find this book dramatic, persuasive, and provocative, and perhaps still a bit inconclusive regarding the resolution of the vital matters under consideration.

The bizarre events which surrounded the Rosenbergs' trial when mirrored against recent American history are important enough to merit serious reconsideration and this perhaps is what may make this book a valuable document.

Do-it-yourself

By STEVE ELLINGSON

It has been said that necessity is the mother of invention and that certainly is true with the trash bin shown here with TV personality Bob Barker. While a garbage can may be a necessity, it doesn't necessarily have to be publicized. No matter where you place it, or how much you paint it, it still remains a garbage can. And of course, it doesn't take dogs long to learn how to tip the thing over . . . and then the flies take over.

With this container you simply lift the top to dump trash in and open the doors to pull the cans out. It's weatherproof and also discourages animals and flies. Of course, it also makes a dandy potting shed for home gardeners. It's large enough to store fertilizers, pots, small implements and the like, yet small enough to use in a limited space. It's versatile . . . perhaps you will think of many other uses for it.

Chess

By SHELBY LYMAN

Anyone who denies that chess is a fighting sport is crazy — although once in a lifetime a super grandmaster will appear on the scene and temporarily relegate the element of contest to oblivion. Heralded by a deifying public opinion, his mere presence will paralyze and demoralize his opponents.

The great Cuban world champion Jose Capablanca played exactly that role in his period of ascendancy. But then he came a cropper. He overconfidently entered into a match with the Russian emigre Alexander Alekhine, and encountered an unexpected spiritual principle.

Alekhine refused to be awed. Though he unflinchingly understood that Capablanca was the greatest natural player of all time with an infallible chess intuition, he never forgot that he was human. Alekhine relentlessly and objectively studied Capablanca's games, and ferreted out his shortcomings. He then formulated an appropriate strategy, applied it in the match, and convincingly won.

The story of Capablanca's defeat is masterfully told in Kotov's "Alexander Alekhine," available in paperback from R.H.M. Publishers.

Here is Alekhine's own analysis of his opponent: "A chess machine? The champion of all time? What absurd assertions about a player, in the overwhelming majority of whose games, there is, if not a direct mistake, the two or three slips which either put the win in doubt, or even let it slip altogether. In some cases the correct reply by the opponent would even leave his (Capablanca's) position severely compromised."

The match was played in Argentina in 1927 and won by a 6 to 3 score, with 25 draws. The legend of Capablanca's invincibility has been shattered. He now encountered a new problem, according to Kotov. "His opponents, who had formerly been overawed by the champion's reputation, began to play more boldly against him, and he found wins much harder to come by."

Is there a lesson to be learned from this gleaning of Chess history? Ask Bobby Fischer, for his potential opponent, Anatoly Karpov, speaks like a young man who has the Capablanca-Alekhine experience front stage in his thinking.

But so did all the Soviet players including Boris Spassky, before Reykjavik in 1972. (Remember who won that sporting event!) Though he will prove perhaps to be more resolute than Spassky, if Karpov ever plays Fischer.

Let us conclude with a crucial position from the decisive game of the 1927 World Championship match. Here Alekhine, who is a pawn ahead, played 1. P-KB4, and the game continued with 1 . . . R-B4; 2. R-R3, R-B2; 3. K-N7, R-Q2; 4. P-B5, PxP; 5. K-B6, P-B5; 6. PxP, R-Q4; 7. K-N7, R-KB4; 8. R-R4, K-N4; 9. R-K4, K-R3; 10. K-R6, RxRP; 11. R-K5, R-R8; 12. KxP, R-KN8; 13. R-KN5, R-KR8; 14. R-KB5, K-N3; 15. RxP, K-B3; 16. R-K7, reaching adjournment.

Hopelessly lost, Capablanca did not appear the following day. Instead there was the following note: "I resign the game and wish you a success as World Champion. My congratulations to your wife." An era was at an end.

Stars bothered by bad publicity

By STEPHEN FORD

NEW YORK — (NEA) — A moldy maxim of show biz promo has certainly worked wonders for one of Country & Western's queenbees, Loretta Lynn: Doesn't matter what kind of exposure you get so long as they spell your name right.

Her grasp on the ladies' C&W throne threatened by Dolly Parton and Donna Fargo took on a little adrenalin with the success of Robert Altman's film "Nashville", Though Ms. Lynn reacted viciously to actress Ronee Blakely's portrayal of a country queen pretty obviously based on her life, Loretta enjoyed a rush of popularity.

In and out of hospitals nine times over the past year, Loretta recuperates at her lucrative dude ranch in Hurricane Mills, Tenn. Thanks to renewed interest in her albums as a result of all this free publicity, her battered ego has been softly buffeted by a windfall of record royalties. And Loretta, as much the tycoon as a chanteuse, plans to add a zoo to her guest ranch and will convert a dilapidated mill into the Loretta Lynn Museum. Such modesty.

Hessians was the common name for German mercenaries who fought for the British during the American Revolution.
